TESTIFIES GRAFT PAID TO TRIO IN EARLE'S REGIME

Names 3 Leaders of Democrats.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 21.—[Special.] Former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti today accused three prominent Democratic leaders, among them J. David Stern, the publisher; a millionaire real estate operator and a movie concern of figuring in the sale of legislation for $100,000.

Appearing before a special legislative committee, Margiotti for the first time named names and told a detailed story of alleged graft and corruption within the administration of Gov. George H. Earle. The governor fired Margiotti from his post as Pennsylvania's chief law officer when the latter demanded a grand jury investigation of the Earle régime during the primary campaign last spring.

Refers to Graft Payments.

The ex-attorney general's testimony was filled with incidents of bribery, extortion and huge payments of graft. For example, Margiotti said a member of the legislature had told him that on one occasion the party leaders passed out one thousand dollar bills to Democratic state senators, gathered at a farm picnic, for voting right.

Margiotti also raised the question of the financing of Senator Joseph F. Guffey's new $75,000 home in Washington. Margiotti testified that one of the lines of his investigation was to determine how Senator Guffey, with a salary of $10,000 a year, had built his expensive new residence in the capital. He declared that a high official in Gov. Earle's cabinet might have some enlightening information.

The sale of legislation occurred in 1935 when a bill legalizing Sunday movies was pending, according to Margiotti. The three who participated in the $100,000 payment, the witness declared, were:

Matthew McCloskéy, the contractor who was awarded 10 million dollars' worth of public works contracts by the general state authority headed by Gov. Earle. This was after McCloskey had "lent" the governor $26,500.

Jack Kelly, Philadelphia's Democratic boss.

J. David Stern of Philadelphia, publisher and ardent supporter of President Roosevelt. Among his newspapers are Philadelphia Record and New York Post. Member of board of Philadelphia reserve bank on appointment of President Roosevelt.

"I can tell you where you can get a photostatic copy of a check for $75,000 payable to the Democratic state committee," asserted Margiotti.

Real Estate Man Named.

He told the committee that information had come to him that the $100,000 had been cleared through the account of A. M. Greenfield, wealthy real estate man and bosom companion of Stern. Warner Brothers, the movie company, also had been involved in the transaction, the witness charged.

Margiotti asked the legislators to subpena the records of the Tradesmen's National Bank and Trust company of Philadelphia where Greenfield's account was kept and also suggested that the records of the Philadelphia Record and New York Post be subpenaed.

Says He Quoted Representative.

The basis for Margiotti's story was a reputed statement which had been given to his office by State Representative Charles Melchiorre. Melchiorre, chairman of the house law and order committee in which the legislation was pending, allegedly said he had been paid $5,000 for his part in pushing the bills to a vote. The statement was unsigned.

Margiotti, who was a candidate for governor in the primary last spring, said Melchiorre had given him the information to use in his campaign.

Besides the $75,000 which was supposed to go to the state committee, Melchiorre was quoted as saying that $25,000 went to the Philadelphia Democratic committee.

Taking the stand late tonight, Melchiorre denied ever having dictated the statement or giving Margiotti any information about the sale of legislation.

At one time during the back room dealings Federal Judge Harry Kalodner, then secretary to Gov. Earle and a recent Roosevelt appointee to the federal bench, has asked that the

MANY MISSING ON LONG ISLAND; LOSS ENORMOUS

Power Lines Down; Phones Out.

Storm at a Glance

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Dead: Between 115 and 127 persons, most of whom were drowned.

Hit worst: Long Island, Boston, New Haven and New London, Conn.; Providence, R. I.

Damage: Uncounted millions in property destroyed, communities isolated and deprived of light and communication, buildings demolished or destroyed by fire, hundreds of square miles flooded; highways, bridges, and railroads washed out.

Shipping: Coast guard officials estimated that between 500 and 700 vessels were lost, sunk, or driven ashore. They were mostly small fishing, pleasure, or work craft.

The known death toll by states was: Massachusetts, 37; Connecticut, 21; Rhode Island, 32; New York, between 18 and 30; New Hampshire, 7.

New York, Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Scores of persons were believed killed tonight by a full force hurricane and tidal wave that smashed over fashionable beach colonics on Long Island.

Commander William M. Wolfe of the Coast Guard said a severe loss of life was certain at Westhampton beach, playground of the wealthy. Nearly all the homes on the beach were reported washed away. Nine bodies had been blown ashore.

With winds that reached a velocity of 100 miles an hour, the hurricane struck suddenly from the southeast. It roared up the coast from the Bahama Islands, veering northward after threatening Florida. After sweeping across Long Island it sped northeastward carrying death and destruction to New England. Reports received through meager communication lines indicate a heavy toll there, too.

Entire Island in Distress.

The hurricane apparently vented its full force on the densely populated Long Island area. The devastation exceeded anything ever before experienced there.

The entire island was in distress all the way from Montauk down to Queens and Brooklyn. In some

BEREAVED MOTHER INVITES A HIT-RUN DRIVER TO FUNERAL

New York, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Antionette Barrese of Brooklyn issued an invitation through newspapers today for the hit-and-run driver whose automobile fatally injured her son, Paul, 15 years old, to attend Paul's funeral tomorrow. "I want him to see what he did," she said today, "I want him to see my son's body."

MASTER EYE DOG TO HELP BLIND U. C. FRESHMAN

Robert Scanlon, 17 years old, who has been blind for eight years, was enrolled yesterday as a freshman at the University of Chicago. He will be accompanied on the campus and to classes by Utz, a German shepherd dog which was trained in the Master Eye school at Minneapolis.

Scanlon, who lives at 6430 South Talman avenue, will have a friend read texts to him. He is a graduate of Marshall High school, where he was a member of the gymnastics team. He is attending the university on a scholarship from the Catholic Youth organization and hopes to complete a law course.

Scanlon was one of three youths sent to the Master Eye school by the Most Rev. Bernard Sheil, auxiliary bishop of the Chicago Catholic archdiocese.

Punch Drunk Conductor Blames the Transfers

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Leonard Wolfgram surged into a restaurant without opening the door, struck the proprietor, chased the customers, and broke dishes, witnesses told Magistrate Elmer Miller today. Wolfgram is 6 feet 4 inches tall and has been a street car conductor fourteen years. "I was just on a tear," he said. "This business of riding up and down on a street car, punching transfers, gets me so I don't know whether I'm coming or going."

Firemen Find Sprinklers Watering a Cellar of Wine

Firemen who answered a call at 725 South La Salle street yesterday found the basement half filled with wine. A 1,650 gallon cask of port, owned by the Kent Distributing company, had exploded while Leo La Bosa, an employé was drawing wine from it. He was slightly injured. A sprinkler system began watering the wine.

Gen. Westover, Air Chief of Army, Killed

Burbank, Cal., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Maj. Gen. Oscar Westover, chief of the army air corps, was killed on the edge of Burbank airport here this afternoon when his army A-17 attack plane crashed into two bungalows and burned. Sergt. Sam Hynes, crew chief for Gen. Westover, also was killed.

Maj. Gen. Westover.

Witnesses said the speedy little monoplane had circled the field and approached for a landing. It skimmed low over streets and houses, and settled rapidly. The pilot apparently saw he was not going to glide into the airport and gunned the motor. There was a backfire and the engine stalled.

Two Houses Set Afire.

An instant later the ship ploughed into a bungalow court. Fire flashed through the wreckage immediately, burning both bodies beyond recognition. Two of the houses were set afire. Neither was occupied.

Gen. Westover was returning to Los Angeles to attend the American Legion convention after presenting a trophy for safe flying to the 19th bombardment squadron at March field, Riverside, Cal. Yesterday, under his direction, 200 planes in the First Wing of the G. H. Q. air force gave a demonstration over Los Angeles during the Legion parade.

Gen. Westover, whose permanent army rank was that of a colonel, was 55 years old. For fifteen years he had been flying, and he held every rating that the air corps gives its flying officer, being a balloon and airship pilot as well as an airplane pilot. He also held an observer's rating.

Just Back from Canal.

He always flew his own ship although he had been accompanied for the last three years by Sergeant Hynes, who also was rated an airplane pilot. The two men only recently returned to the United States after a visit by air to the army air corps stations in the Panama Canal zone.

Gen. Westover entered the army as a private from Bay City, Mich., in 1901. He served at Ft. Totten, N. Y., and Washington Barracks, D. C., for a year before entering West Point. He was graduated in 1906, and served in the infantry for five years.

Gen. Westover's balloon training began in 1920 at Ross Field, Cal. Completing this he attended the airship school at Langley Field, Va., being graduated in 1922. The same year he won the national elimination free balloon race by floating 866 miles from Milwaukee, Wis., deep into Quebec province, Canada. His airplane training was completed in Texas in 1923.

Four Color Maps!

Turn to the back of this paper for a page of color maps showing four changes in the map of Europe. The editorial, art, and mechanical departments of The Tribune worked together yesterday to produce these four color maps in record breaking time. The artists began drawing the maps, sixteen of which were required to produce the four color effect, shortly before noon yesterday, when it was learned that the Czechs had given in to Hitler. Readers will want to preserve this colorful page of European history.

NO PIGS IN COURT SPELLS FREEDOM FOR A DEFENDANT

Strangers who had no business there were looked upon with suspicion yesterday in Judge Samuel Trude's court—particularly those with mustaches that might be false. But none of them turned out to be Little Pig, Big Pig, or In Between Pig, the three pigs Farmer Adolph Bonczkowski saw get out of their sty on his place at 12223 Oglesby avenue the night of July 22 to go for a ride with a motorist.

Police said they'd heard something of a pig that went to a market, and another that had roast beef, but couldn't locate either of them. And so, they said, they had no pigs for evidence against Joseph Sprague of 8110 Brandon avenue, suspected of taking the pigs riding. The judge discharged him because convicting him without evidence would be like buying a pig in a poke.

LOVE AND BABIES COME TO ZOO'S TROPICAL BIRDS

Officials at the Chicago Zoölogical park in Brookfield had an idea that if given a chance love might come to the parakeets. These tropical birds seldom if ever breed in captivity.

In an isolated part of the bird yard a breeding colony was established, consisting of several caged runs, hollow boxes simulating tree trunks, and ample space for flying exercise.

Karl Plath, curator of birds, reported yesterday the success of this experiment, the first of its kind in this part of the country. There are now seven new family groups.

NAZIS DECLARE PROMISES TO CHAMBERLAIN ARE VOID

Turmoil Grows

As Hitler prepares to meet Chamberlain on the Rhine today fears spread through Europe that Hitler will not be satisfied with the Sudeten area of Czechoslovakia and will demand more concessions. Highlights of the situation elsewhere in Europe follow:

1. Sudeten Germans rip up Czech-German frontier signs, seize customs houses, police stations, and power lines in Sudetenland.

2. Poland and Hungary demand slices of Czechoslovakia. Eight hundred thousand Polish troops on Czech frontier.

3. France faces cabinet crisis. Nazis launch self-rule campaign in Alsace and Lorraine and open drive on Jews.

4. Thousands of Czechs march through streets of Prague crying: "Down with treason."

5. Moscow denounces British and French desertion of Czechs.

England Fears Plot to Devour Czech Nation

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The question of whether Czechoslovakia is to continue to exist in any form was raised tonight on the eve of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's departure for Godesberg, Germany, for a second conference with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

With Sudetenland already within his grasp, reports were that Hitler will confront Chamberlain tomorrow with a demand for separating Slovakia from the Czech areas. Apprehension was felt that Hitler might make such a demand, egged on by Premier Mussolini of Italy, Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, and Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, "strong man" of Poland.

Polish Ultimatum Reported.

Adding to the uneasiness in London was a report that a Polish ultimatum would be sent to Prague, calling for cession of Teschen and Silesia to Poland. It was said the ultimatum would demand that the areas, which contain Polish minorities, be handed over to Poland at the same time the Sudeten Germans are turned over to Germany.

Hungary likewise wants the return of Czech territory occupied by its nationals. Diplomatic representatives of both Hungary and Poland called on Foreign Secretary Halifax today to discuss these matters. Halifax told them it would be better to present their demands at a later stage, but it was understood that the Polish envoy refused to shelve Poland's claims.

The British were concerned tonight not about the Czech surrender under the browbeating which London and Paris administered to Prague last night, but whether Hitler will accept the Anglo-French terms.

Defiant Stand Expected.

The British fear he may tell Chamberlain something like this: "It is all right for you to come along with your ideas of a boundary commission which will investigate and establish a new boundary, but I do not need you. I will fix the new boundary myself with my army."

Other sources reported that Chamberlain would ask Hitler for the following:

1. Immediate demobilization of German reservists and other forces now concentrated on the Czech-German frontier.

2. An international commission for demarcating the new frontiers of Czechoslovakia and for exchanging and transferring populations.

Peace Pledge May Be Sought.

3. Cessation of the German press campaign against Czechoslovakia.

4. A joint appeal from Hitler and all other parties concerned for peace and order in the interval needed to make the agreement effective.

5. Guarantees for the maintenance and the integrity of the future Czechoslovak state, including certain economic guarantees.

It was noted in the Czechoslovak acceptance of the British-French partition plan that it was stipulated that the Czechs expect British and French

Hint at Plan to Send Troops to Prague to 'Keep Order.'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GODESBERG, Germany, Sept. 21.—The fate of tomorrow's Godesberg conference between Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain and Reichsfuehrer Hitler tonight seemed to be in jeopardy.

Arrow points to scene of parley and Rhineland feud.

German officials declared that the suggestions Hitler made to Chamberlain at Berchtesgaden last Thursday no longer counted inasmuch as Hungary and Poland are insisting on obtaining a share of Czechoslovakia.

Ready to Act Alone.

"Hitler will not stand for protracted negotiations of any kind," prominent Nazis said. "He has given Chamberlain and the democratic powers a short time in which to make up their minds on their course of action. When that period expires he will take the measures he deems necessary on Germany's eastern border, whether the other powers feel like carrying on negotiations or not."

Political experts expected that the fuehrer will issue a declaration in which he will announce that Germany will incorporate the Sudeten area of Czechoslovakia within a few days—the number of days is still a secret.

From Berlin came reports that troops were being dispatched to the Czechoslovak border.

Hitler, too, was expected to make a triumphal entry into Sudetenland like he did in Austria after its annexation by German request.

A "Two Phase" Plan.

German leaders said the plan for the "conquest of eastern regions" involves two phases:

FIRST—The conquest of the Sudeten area.

SECOND—A new conquest which will start when Poland and Hungary regain their lost territories. By that time the Nazis believe disorders in Prague will have become so great that Germany must intervene to "restore law and order."

"Chamberlain will have to do a lot of running to catch up with events," Germans said with undisguised sarcasm. "We shall see just how far we can make him go with his concessions."

Refuse to Bargain.

Though Chamberlain will be received with great courtesy and hospitality, Nazi leaders exclaimed:

"Chamberlain must not think that he can try parliamentary bartering methods on the Fuehrer of Germany. Hitler will listen to what Chamberlain has to say. If he finds the British reply satisfactory, he will outline the methods he believes should be applied to enforce the changes he has demanded in the east.

"He may have worked out part of the details of the plan, but England should not think that Hitler can be talked into doing something he does not plan to do. All his life he has set himself definite dates on which he intended to reach one of his goals. The occupation of the Sudeten area with the simultaneous crushing of Czechoslovakia, making it a state sympathetic to Germany is his goal now. He won't stand for any haggling about it."

Predict Premier's "Surrender."

The Nazis are convinced that Chamberlain will accept what virtually amounts to Hitler's dictation. More conservative Germans are slightly nervous. They feel that the representative of the British empire will not be quite as pliable as the Nazis believe.

British and French representatives in Godesberg said the British plan to demand strong guarantees for the territorial integrity of the land the Czechs are to retain. They maintained that Czechoslovakia has not been forsaken completely by her democratic allies.

Hitler left Munich for Godesberg in his special train at 10:45 o'clock tonight. The special was scheduled to reach Godesberg between 9 and 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten Germans, was expected to arrive in Godesberg in time for the conference, where quarters have been reserved for him. Nazi party officials said that if Henlein is unable to come here his deputy, Wilhelm Frank, will take part in the conversations with Chamberlain.

Tiny War Breaks Out.

A miniature war has broken out on the Rhine between the mayor of Godesberg and the mayor of Koenigswinter. Godesberg is on the left [west] bank of the Rhine and Koenigswinter on the right.. Both towns want to go down in history as the site where the great conference between England and Germany took place.

Godesberg has a strong strategic position because of the Hotel Dreesen —one of Hitler's favorite stopping places. Koenigswinter boasts having one of the most beautiful hotels in Germany on top of the Petersberg [one of the Seven Mountains]. It has a view extending from the spires of the Cologne cathedral, the Seven Mountains and the Drachenfels [Dragon's Rock], to Coblenz. It is an ideal hotel from which the British guests can see how charming life is in Germany.

It is a luxurious hotel. It was built by the multimillionaire eau de Cologne king of Germany, Herr Muehlens. It is not a profit-making scheme.

Everyone agreed that the Petersberg was perfect as a temporary headquarters of the British. But the mayor of Godesberg told the mayor of Koenigswinter he would manage the whole show on both sides of the Rhine.

The mayor of Koenigswinter protested. The mayor of Godesberg tried to handicap him by withholding the flags needed to beautify the Koenigswinter side of the Rhine.

Reach a Compromise.

This noon a compromise was reached and laurel trees, green wreaths, flags and bunting were giving a typically Nazi air to the jetty and the street of Koenigswinter.

On the Petersberg, the royal suite has been arranged for Chamberlain. His study is filled with chrysanthemums. His dining room table is covered with a huge bowl of red roses. Yellow roses cover the sideboard. The walls are adorned with Italian etchings and the portraits of the pear skinned, but occasionally bony, English princesses who played a part in the principalities of the Rhineland in the past centuries.

The dressing room tables of the British guests contain big bottles of eau de Cologne. The bathrooms are equipped with bath salts and all toilet preparations made by the hotel owner.

The Opposition

Capt. Anthony Eden (left) yesterday reminded England of the truth in his predictions when he resigned from the cabinet because of Prime Minister Chamberlain's "appeasement" policy with dictators. Chamberlain conferred with Stanley Baldwin (right), his predecessor, who had approved Eden's stand.

Winston Churchill (left), elder statesman, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, who joined the attack on Chamberlain for his capitulation to Hitler in the Czech annexation.

ENGLAND FEARS MOVE TO ERASE CZECH REPUBLIC

Chamberlain Will Confer with Fuehrer Today.

aid in the event they are attacked after the new boundaries have been established.

Later it was learned this stipulation caused a diplomatic row and that the British and French brought pressure to bear on the Czechs to eliminate it. Observers viewed this as indicative of the British and the French determination to put through the deal.

Inner Cabinet Meets.

Prime Minister Chamberlain summoned his inner cabinet this morning for consultation after it was known that the Czechs had submitted. Included in this inner cabinet are Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary; Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, and Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon there was a full cabinet meeting, at which a final agreement was reached on the agenda of Chamberlain's conference with Hitler.

By way o. effect and precaution, Chamberlain also consulted with the heads of the war making departments and with Viscount Gort, chief of the imperial general staf.

Parley Starts This Afternoon.

Chamberlain will leave Heston airdrome at 10 a. m. [4 a. m. Chicago time] tomorrow and will arrive in Godesberg shortly after noon. He and Hitler will begin their conversation at 3 p. m.

Chamberlain may remain in Germany several days this time. He will be accompanied by Sir Horace Wilson, his personal adviser; Sir William Malkin, legal adviser to the foreign office, and William Strang of the foreign office, an expert in German.

Chamberlain and his advisers went ahead full steam with their plans, but there was evidence they were disconcerted and worrying about the rising indignation against the loss of prestige which younger Tories and the parties of the left fear England is suffering when they read comment in foreign newspapers.

There certainly was thunder on the left. The Labor party and trades union executives met again today and afterward Maj. C. R. Attlee, Labor leader, went to Downing street. A labor manifesto was issued, which said: "Britain's long established traditions of democracy and justice have been dishonored."

More ominous was the return of Winston Churchill from Paris, where he flew yesterday to consult with French opinion. There were rumors tonight that Churchill is going to issue a manifesto tomorrow to rally opinion against surrender to Hitler.

Churchill feels that in this crisis there is no question of Czechoslovakia, but that the British empire is pitted full tilt against rising pan-Germanism.

Churchill tonight urged immediate recall of parliament, declaring: "It is necessary that the nation should realize the magnitude of the disaster into which we are being led.

"The partition of Czechoslovakia under Anglo-French pressure amounts to complete surrender by the western democracies to the Nazi threat of force. Such a collapse will not bring peace or safety to Great Britain or to France. On the contrary, it will bring both countries into the position of ever increasing weakness and danger."

Capt. Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary, also took the warpath.

"Each recurrent crisis brings us closer to war," Eden said addressing a meeting in Stratford-on-Avon. "We slither ever closer to the abyss. During the last weeks it must have seemed to many that we have been upon the very brink.

Firm Stand for Liberty.

"Foreign autocracies are no novelty to us. Always in the ultimate event we have been obliged to call a halt. We have stood firm for those twin conceptions of liberty and law which to Englishmen and Americans alike provide the only firm basis of true civilization.

"In the past in these periods of stress and challenge we have always in the end prevailed. I have no doubt we would prevail again. Whatever opinion we may hold of recent policies of governments upon this we are all agree, that the British people have not changed. They are as stable and resolute as ever before in their history. It is as well that foreign countries should recognize this.

"It is not yet too late for a change in their outlook; for comprehension in the words of Mr. Hull [Cordell Hull, United States secretary of state] that 'all nations have a primary interest in peace with justice, in economic well being with stability, and in conditions of order under law.'

Warns of Calamity.

"If, however, this truth continues to be derided or ignored there can be no escape from that final calamity which it is the supreme task of statesmanship to avert.

"For our own people the issue becomes clarified. They desire peace ardently and sincerely. They are ready to sacrifice in order to strengthen the foundations of peace. They see freedom of thought, or race, and of worship grow every week more restricted in Europe. The conviction is growing that continued retreat can only lead to ever widening confusion.

"The British people know that a stand must be made. They pray that it be not made too late."

Sir Archibald Sinclair, a liberal leader, declared in an address to the National Liberal club that "we have merely submitted to Herr Hitler's demands and our submission has been extorted, not by a sudden conversion to justice in his case but by a threat of war."

Chamberlain was described as looking considerably worn by the tension of the last few days. He will face a more tiring and difficult ordeal than he did last week when he sees Hitler this time. It may be significant that Chamberlain called in his predecessor, Earl Baldwin, for a consultation today, and Baldwin remained to lunch.

STUNNED CZECHS BROKEN HEARTED OVER SURRENDER

Parade Through Streets Like a Beaten Crowd.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 21.—At half past five o'clock this afternoon a strained and weary voice boomed out from radio loud speakers which were strung along Prague's main street, Vaclavske Namesti.

It was the voice of Premier Milan Hodza, exhorting the nation to be calm. The premier told the republic that about a half hour previously the Czechoslovak cabinet had dispatched a note to London and Paris saying it had accepted the British-French proposal to give up the Sudeten territory to Germany.

Hodza repeated the words of the three line official statement which had just been issued that the step was taken "under irresistible pressure of the British and the French governments."

All Trafic Stops.

At once all trafic stopped. The premier's announcement was the first news the population had received that the situation was so serious. Ironclad censorship for a day had prevented the public from having any definite knowledge of the trend of the British-French plan.

Many rumors had circulated, but official announcements had told the people to believe no rumors. Hope, therefore, had been high that the situation was not so bad as rumored, and that Czechoslovakia might somehow save all its territory.

With Hodza's words the blow fell suddenly. Silence came over the crowds which swarmed through Vaclavske Namesti, the most crowded street in Europe. It was a stunned, uncomprehending silence. An effort was made to grasp all the implications of this surrender. From somewhere far up the street a voice wailed: "It is the white mountain again."

Women Burst into Tears.

Every one understood those words. The women burst into tears. The men looked somberly straight ahead. The name of the white mountain, "Bila Hora," is to all Czechs the name of disaster. Even the most ignorant person knows what it is—the battle 318 years ago when the kingdom of Bohemia lost its independence not to recover it for 300 years.

That is how the citizens of Prague viewed today's disaster. They shed tears of rage because they had been deserted by their allies and tears of humiliation because they had surrendered without firing a shot. They saw the end of their nation only 20 years old, of which they have been so proud. They saw the mutilated limits of the province of Bohemia which have stood for almost 1,000 years.

Then parades began moving up and down the streets led by little flags, now looking pathetic. In unison the people chanted cries of "Long Live the army! Long live the red army! Down with treason!"

Cries of a Beaten Mob.

They were not loud roars of a revolutionary mob. They were the stiffled cries of a beaten mob.

For hours marched up and down. Hundreds of Prague's policemen stood in squads on street corners. They made no attempt to break up the parades in spite of the decree against them.

The processions traveled down in the very heart of old Prague to the old town square. They crossed the river by Prague's great medieval bridge—the Charles bridge—to shout in front of Kolovrat palace where the nervous cabinet ministers still were in council. They climbed the hill which overlooks Prague to shout in front of the ancient presidential palace, the Hradczany.

Benes Pleads for Calm.

At 9:20 o'clock tonight President Eduard Benes addressed the crowds again through the loudspeakers. He said what the men of the government in Prague have been saying many times for the last ten years. He told the people to keep calm and have confidence in their statesmen.

One hour previously the ministry of propaganda had been more fiery. It put on the radio Zdenek Shtiepanek, the country's foremost tragic actor, who said this:

"This catastrophe is similar to those which have often threatened our homeland before and threatens us once more today. You have heard that our so-called friends and allies have dictated to us sacrifices which are demanded only of a defeated country.

"But we are not defeated, and if our government has decided to accept these cruel terms it has done so to save the country from useless bloodshed. We make no reproaches to those who have deserted us. History will condemn them.

"Our duty is to safeguard the nation which will live on. All is not lost, and somehow we shall keep our country. We turn to the future with unbent head."

Deliberate for 17 Hours.

The decision to surrender was reached only after seventeen hours' deliberation. It began at 2 o'clock in the morning when Victor Leopold de Lacroix, French minister to Prague, and Sir Basis Cochrane-Newton, British minister, were received by President Benes. They informed him that their governments were displeased with the stalling answer to their project which had been sent out in the afternoon.

From 3 until 5 o'clock this morning Benes conferred with the inner cabinet, the so-called committee of political ministers. At 6 o'clock this meeting adjourned and was succeeded by a meeting of the entire cabinet. During the rest of the morning the cabinet tried to convince the parliamentary committee of twenty members that their decision ought to be ratified. This committee has no real power, but Premier Hodza wanted its approval to strengthen his hands in facing the country.

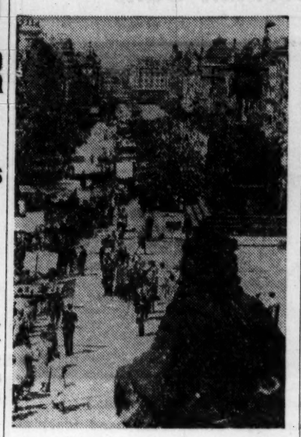
Unanimous agreement was not obtained in this committee. Finally, just before 5 o'clock in the afternoon, an announcement was made that the battle was over and that Czechoslovakia had agreed to cede its richest territory to Germany.

Premier Hodza tonight was said to be a man broken in health and spirit. For nearly six months he has fought with the utmost resources of body, brain, and heart to solve the minorities problem in Czechoslovakia and save his country from disaster.

Against him he has had the formidable pressure of Berlin, the tenacious, wasplike chicanery of the Sudeten German [Nazi] party delegation, often badly inspired advice from France and Britain—Czechoslovakia's supposed allies—and all the stupidity and malevolence of some colleagues in his own cabinet. In Prague at least he alone, among the chief actors of this drama, has earned the respect of every observer.

Czechs Hear News

(Story in adjoining column.)



The main street of Prague, Vaclavske Namesti, into which Czechs thronged yesterday evening to hear text of government statement on capitulation to Germany. The statement was broadcast over loudspeakers by Premier Milan Hodza.

'We Were Alone, Nothing Else Remained!' Is Prague's Explanation of Its Surrender

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 21.—(AP)—"Nothing else remained because we were alone."

With these seven sorrowful words, the Czechoslovak government tonight explained to its people why, after all its allies had deserted, it submitted to the demands of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler for dismemberment of the republic. The text of the government's statement follows:

"After twenty years of peace we were overtaken by a violent crisis. Dynamic political forces emanating from our neighboring states threatened our lands. We faced the necessity of meeting, with our own power, a much more powerful adversary which confronts us.

Peace by Sacrifice.

"Even previously we had to depend upon their [our friend's] help, but when we were threatened with force it became evident that the European crisis had become so serious that our friends advised us to purchase freedom and peace by sacrifices, inasmuch as they could not help us.

"Two great powers told us with the full weight of their conviction and authority that only by territorial sacrifices on our part could security and peace be assured.

"We wished to suggest a settlement of the dispute by arbitration, but the suggestion was rejected by others.

"England and France, two democracies, informed us that solution by arbitration could not solve the difficulty.

Two Nations Can't Aid.

"It was their opinion that peace and freedom could not be established by such procedure. They informed us that they could not extend aid in the event we were attacked by Germany and they were of the opinion such a conflict would have been inevitable had Czechoslovakia refused to cede the territories of the German population.

"Inasmuch as Russia was willing to come to our help only on condition that France came first and moreover only after the league of nations should have determined that Czechoslovakia was attacked and that Germany was the aggressor, we found ourselves facing a threat of war, menacing not only the state, but associated nations as a whole.

"The government is determined to maintain peace and order and independence under the new conditions which confront it. The president of the republic and the government could do nothing but accept the suggestions of the two powers and the beginning of discussions for further negotiations.

Seven Sorrowful Words.

"Nothing else remained, because we were alone.

"The government will lead the state further till we see hope that the national assembly will not oppose appropriate alterations of the law which will be presented to it.

"We will defend freedom, self-sufficiency, and independence under the new conditions, strengthened by the love of all people who belong to our state.

"At 5 p. m. [Foreign Minister Kamil] Krofta received the ministers of France and England and presented to them the government's answer to the demarche which they had presented to the president of the republic [Eduard Benes] at 2 a. m.

"In its answer the Czechoslovak government initiated negotiations for a formal solution of the nationalities problem in the manner which the ministers proposed on Sept. 19.

"These proposals were intended to give the Czechoslovak people and its vital interests freedom of development, which will be guaranteed by international agreement.

Retains Status of State.

"We emphasize that this answer of our government to the proposals of the British and French governments will in no way alter the present legal standings of the state, and that our answer merely initiates negotiations for the regulation of this problem.

"Farmers, workers, industrialists, employers, and soldiers, all remain at your old posts and do your duty. Remember that you cannot do anything to your advantage by violence or demonstrations on the streets. By such action you would merely injure our state, which needs unity, endurance, and strength to shield it against dangers.

"Authorities everywhere continue in their usual duties. Laws and decrees remain valid. Court and functionaries of the republic pursue their duties in the entire state.

"Protection of citizens is assured. Do not permit yourselves to be moved to inconsidered actions by agitators and provocateurs. Do not be depressed. Remain firm to your faith in the republic.

"German citizens of our frontier territories have nothing to fear because of what the future has in store for them, or because of their private or national interests. They need not me concerned for their security.

"Our state and administration remain responsible to the world for the protection of the interests and security of the whole population, Czech and German. This responsibility will be met, now as previously, by our authorities.

Any one who would try to impede the settlement contemplated by the great powers would merely injure the interest of the German population."

BUDAPEST CROWD DEMANDS CZECHS YIELD MAGYARS

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 21.—(AP)—A spokesman of the Hungarian foreign office said tonight that Hungary accepted Czechoslovakia's capitulation communique only as a plan for settlement of Czechoslovakia's minority problem.

Hungary cannot accept the Prague announcement, he said, as a final solution of the Czechoslovak minorities issue. Prague mentioned only the Sudeten German regions which it decided to cede to Germany. Hungary is concerned with territory in Czechoslovakia contiguous to Hungary, in which 700,000 Magyars live.

Hungarians jammed Heroes' Square tonight in a demonstration demanding the Magyar regions of Czechoslovakia. The government was asked to give an immediate order to march into Czechoslovakia if Hungarian territorial demands are not met.

LISTS ARE OPEN TO APPLICANTS FOR VOTE JOBS

The election commissioners were receiving applications yesterday for positions as registration officials at the general registration of Oct. 10. Wherever possible, the commissioners said, the regular precinct election judges will be named to the registration boards.

Three registrars are to be chosen for each of the 3,850 polling places under the board's jurisdiction, according to Alexander J. McKay, chairman. It was estimated that there would be 2,000 vacancies for persons who did not serve on the primary election boards.

POLAND SENDS ARMY TOWARD CZECH BORDER

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 21.—Poland is fully prepared for war with Czechoslovakia unless her demands are satisfied. Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, "strong man" of the Polish army, has ordered a heavy concentration of troops on the Czechoslovak border.

Railroad trafic in south and southeast Poland has been curtailed for several days because of military requirements.

Poland's armed forces were reported to number 800,000. Garrisons in Wolyn [Volhynia] and in the Vilna corridor have been reinforced, and the training of this year's recruits is proceeding rapidly.

Secret Pact Reported.

THE TRIBUNE was informed that Poland has a secret agreement with Hungary to divide Slovakia and arrange common frontiers. Poland is ambitious to revive the Polish-Hungarian alliance which once played a great rôle in European history, and Hungary is said to have welcomed the Polish plan.

Poland's ultimatum to the Prague government already has been prepared and now is in the foreign office. It was said to demand the return of Teschen and other towns captured by the Czechoslovaks in 1919 and some additional territory. The prospects of a Czechoslovak-German war evolving into a Czecho-Polish war caused panic in Warsaw, especially among the Jewish population.

Ready to Claim Slice.

WARSAW, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Poland prepared today to claim a slice of the Teschen district in northern Czechoslovakia as it appeared here the republic of the Czechs and Slovaks was about to undergo a drastic amputation of all minority districts.

A communique announced that the Polish minister in Prague, Casimir Papee, had called on Foreign Minister Kamil with a note announcing that Poland expects territory in Czechoslovakia inhabited by Poles to be treated the same way as the Sudetenland.

The note also denounced the Polish-Czechoslovak treaty of 1925 on treatment of the Polish territory of 100,000 in Czechoslovakia.

The communique said the Polish ambassadors in London and Paris had informed the British and French governments of Poland's attitude toward the London proposals for a Czechoslovak-German solution.

Map Makers Suffer from New Ailment—the Hitler Headache

These are the days that give map-makers gray hair. They revised their maps and terrestrial globes when Italy conquered Ethiopia. They revised them again when Germany annexed Austria. Now comes the plan for Germany to take Sudetenland from Czechoslovakia. Again the plates must be changed before maps already ordered are printed. And customers are hesitant about placing more orders.

William E. Johnson, chief cartographer for Rand McNally & Co., said his company's presses are scheduled to begin a three months' job of printing school atlases within thirty days. Forty world maps and fifteen other maps in the atlases alone must be changed, and changes must be made in 1,000 maps the company publishes.

C. A. Burkhart, vice president and editor of A. J. Nystrom & Co., is hoping things will be settled so that his company may begin production of new terrestrial globes. Eventually the situation will help business, but that will take about two years, he's afraid.

E. E. Rollins, editor of Compton's Pictured Encyclopædia, said the geographical situation is puzzling. But it's creating a new interest in maps. And that means more business.

German Police Admired by Happy Girls.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

EGER, Czechoslovakia [Near the German Frontier], Sept. 22 [Thursday].—The Nazi swastika entered this town of 30,000 Sudetens tonight. At midnight it was being patroled by the very Sudeten party members whose headquarters were blown up by hand grenades less than a week ago—an attack in which several were killed.

Sudeten Germans in other border areas took over power stations, customs houses, and police stations and disarmed Czech police. They tore up frontier posts marking the German-Czech border. Asch, the home of Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German leader, was completely in the hands of his followers. Roads were blocked to prevent the Czech army from moving up.

Church bells pealed forth the joyous news that Czechoslovakia had surrendered the Sudetens to Germany.

German Police on Guard.

German railway police are on patrol duty near the railway station in Eger. Their explanation is that Germany is lending its aid to local Nazis in keeping order.

But their presence is sensational. They are tall, smart, and polite. The Sudeten girls, who are joyously filling the streets in spite of orders to the contrary, admire them.

They are middle aged men, who, it is explained, have been given the Prague government's semi-official approval in helping the Czechs keep order. Incidentally, the Czechs are being shoved gently into the background. The Nazi patrols gave the Nazi salute wherever they went and expected the same from every one they met.

Youngsters Get Armbands.

In accordance with the mayor's proclamation, they asked every one politely to return home and get off the streets. The order was disobeyed by the celebrating crowds.

The officers have no armbands, but swastika armbands appeared on youngsters who were sent out on the patrols. Women were feverishly sewing these new armbands in the city hall to supply the demand.

The Sudeten war veterans wore chamois brushes in their hats and their veterans' badges. They spoke now and then to the Czech police who were generally ignored.

The Czech police were stationed about the city as usual, but they kept very much in the background and said nothing, leaving the maintenance of order in the hands of the Sudeteners.

Try to Kiss Officer.

Sudeten girls marched through the streets and the leader of a patrol was stopped by a half a dozen girls who insisted on kissing him. Other joyous citizens shook his hand vigorously by the hand.

The mayor of Eger made a speech in the market place this afternoon and he exhorted the people to be calm. He told them that the German people are people of culture and do not essentially deal in violence.

A proclamation was addressed to the German population in the Eger territory. It said: "Our homeland is going back to the German reich. In this important and exciting hour we urge the population to keep order. The keeping of order will for the present be taken care of by Czechoslovak state police and the organization of the Sudeten German war veterans.

"The citizens are ordered to obey all instructions of the war veterans no matter to what organization the citizens belong. Citizens are ordered to stay off the streets except in emergency cases."

Wreckage of Army Air Chief's Plane

Bits of the airplane in which Maj. Gen. Oscar Westover, chief of the United States army air corps, and his pilot were killed yesterday at Burbank, Cal. The plane was circling to land at the Lockheed plane factory when it crashed among cottages of a court.

Seized on Charge of Taking $11,000 by Threat of Arrest

State's attorney's police yesterday arrested Fred Kogut, 4852 Kenmore avenue, on a warant charging extortion by threat. Norman Bradish, 1008 North Dearborn street, an industrial consultant, alleged that Kogut and two other men got $11,000 from him by posing as policemen and forcing him to post a bond in a spurious morals case.

Store Sued for Injuries to Girl, 9, by Fireworks

Clarence Davis, 10 North 1st street, Highland Park, filed a $10,000 damage suit yesterday in the Lake County Circuit court in behalf of his daughter, Dolores, 9 years old. He charged that the Meierhoff Hardware company in Highland Park on July 3 sold her fireworks which exploded in her face, causing serious scars.

A HORSE CALLED RUSHAWAY SENDS TONY TO PRISON

A horse called Rushaway didn't live up to its name. Tony Wabich quarreled with his wife. These incidents brought Wabich to the Criminal court, where yesterday he was sentenced to serve one to ten years in the penitentiary for embezzling $10,300.

Wabich told Judge James S. Fardy he spent the money on horse race betting. He pinned his faith on Rushaway to help him even up his accounts at the Cougle Commission company, 1135 Randolph street. But the horse ran away with his luck.

On Aug. 17 Wabich left his bookkeeping job and went into hiding. On Sept. 10 he quarreled with his wife, Lottie, 23 years old, about which clothes their child, 4 weeks old, should wear. When police came to stop the noise she told them about Tony.

Six Pupils Are Arrested After Theft of Typewriter

Six pupils at the Roosevelt High school were under arrest at the Albany Park police station yesterday in connection with the theft of a typewriter and two microscopes from the school. They are Robert Bickel, 920 Lawrence avenue; George Ferliss, 4849 Ainslie street; Albert Petzold, 4615 Wilson avenue; Bruno Kaczerzewski, 4805 Kentucky avenue; George Sagel, 4420 Knox avenue, and William Dobrovitz, 4825 Ainslie street.

POLICEMAN IS DISCHARGED.

Policeman John Cashman of the North avenue station was discharged by the police trial board yesterday for intoxication and profanity. He was accused of annoying patrons in a tavern at 4361 Lincoln avenue on Aug. 14.

FRENCH CABINET CRISIS REPORTED OVER CZECH DEAL

Five in Minority Group Expected to Quit.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 22 [Thursday.]—In the face of reports that Reichsfuehrer Hitler will make new demands in his second meeting with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today, rumors of a cabinet crisis arose in Paris.

It was reported that a minority group in the cabinet, which opposed capitulating on the Czechoslovak Sudeten issue, still is restive. Georges Mandel, minister for colonies, is the leader of the intransigents, and it was reported he plans to resign. He is a disciple of the late Georges Clemenceau, wartime premier of France.

Five Meet in Conference.

He and four other ministers met in a secret midnight session, an unusual procedure which supported the reports of a cabinet crisis. The others were Cesar Campinchi, minister of navy; Paul Reynaud, minister of justice; Marc Rucart, minister of public health, and Jean Zay, minister of education.

Each of the five ministers declined to comment, but there were reports that all were considering resigning.

Another development of significance in Paris was the about face of the peace party adherents, who during the Czech crisis preferred anschluss [union] of the Sudeten areas with Germany to a war involving France.

Leon Bailby, whose rightist newspaper, Le Jour, has been one of the most outspoken adherents of this group, demanded in an editorial today that France and England once and for all fix a "strategic line" beyond which they will not retreat before the expanding reich.

Trials Called Unbearable.

"The time has come," the editorial said, "to put an end to blackmailing tactics." Bailby said that the "trials inflicted on the two democracies by the totalitarian régime have become unbearable."

With the Sudeten crisis apparently solved, a new danger faced Europe—the mounting clamor throughout the continent for territorial revision.

Suppressed minorities everywhere are beginning to agitate for independence or self-rule. Expansionist powers, imitating Hitler's technique, are demanding little anschlusses [unions] of their own.

The Polish and Hungarian campaign for the dismemberment of Slovakia is the greatest immediate menace to peace in French eyes, but the troubles do not end there.

Rumania Frightened.

Rumania, with its big Hungarian and German minorities, sees itself destined to share Czechoslovakia's fate and is insistently asking France where it intends to establish a line of resistance to German expansion in southeast Europe.

Jugo-Slavia, filled with undigested world war loot, temporarily is paralyzed by fear of Germany, but that very fear may spur the nation to action before it is too late.

Georges Bonnet, French foreign minister, and Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador to Paris, are agast at the mounting revisionist flood which their acceptance of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's demands for the Sudetens has unleashed.

Seek to Stem Flood.

They are trying to stem this flood without going back on the principle of self determination which was the official justification for the amputation of Czechoslovakia. Though Hitler is believed to regard the Hungarian and Polish demands with some apprehension, it is difficult to see how diplomacy can escape from the dilemma of letting Czechoslovakia be carved up still further, or create a new war crater in central Europe which is bound to explode sooner or later.

German and Italian propaganda are fanning the flames of suppressed nationalism everywhere faster than France and England can put them out and the whole post-war map of Europe seems to be about to fall to pieces like a badly fitting jigsaw puzzle.

Accurate with Gun

ALICE McCARTHY.

Policewoman Alice McCarthy scored 97 out of a possible 100 perfect shots at a distance of fifty feet yesterday. She ranked first among policewomen in their first week of pistol practice in Soldiers' field under the park district's police school program. They used the regulation police .38 caliber revolver, a part of their equipment. Chief Michael Hayes told the policewomen that they handled their revolvers expertly.

ALL FOREIGNERS IN SPANISH ARMY TO BE WITHDRAWN

Loyalists Ask League to Supervise Move.

GENEVA, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The Spanish government pledged itself unconditionally today to withdraw at once all foreign volunteers on its side in the Spanish civil war.

Premier Juan Negrin made the announcement before the league of nations assembly. He asked the assembly to send an international committee to Spain to verify that the undertaking was carried out.

Dr. Negrin told the assembly the withdrawal would include not only all foreigners, but also those who had become Spanish Nationals since the civil war began in July, 1936.

Anxious to Show Good Will.

The premier declared "the government of Spain is anxious to show its determination to remove all pretext of placing blame on it for failure to obtain an end to foreign intervention in Spain."

[The international committee for nonintervention in Spain, with headquarters in London, agreed on July 5 on a plan for evacuation of foreign volunteers from both sides in the Spanish civil war. The plan was sent to the Spanish government in Barcelona and the Spanish rebel régime for approval. The government, in accepting the plan, estimated 10,000 foreigners were on its side and 100,000, mostly Italians and Germans, with the rebels. The rebels on Aug 22 replied with an acceptance subject to so many conditions that London considered they had in effect killed the plan.]

Negrin paid tribute to the valor of the international brigade fighting with the government troops and then submitted a resolution calling for the appointment of the committee he suggested be sent to Spain.

No Strings Attached.

He made it clear to the assembly that there were no strings attached to the government's decision—that it was not subject to a withdrawal of any kind from the rebel side nor did it require any action of the league.

"Government Spain has no need of provoking a general European war to solve its own problems," the premier said. "If you bring the nonintervention policy to an end, the Spanish people themselves will decide the fate of Spain and we have no fears for the outcome."

SEIZE EX-CONVICTS AFTER CHASE.

NAZIS OPEN DRIVE FOR AUTONOMY IN FRENCH AREAS

War on Jews in Alsace and Lorraine.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STRASBOURG, France, Sept. 21.—The pro-Nazi self rule campaign in France's German language provinces of Alsace and Lorraine has been intensified enormously as a result of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's success in Czechoslovakia.

Pro-Nazi autonomists, already equipped with a local fuehrer, are carrying out propaganda in scope and nature resembling that employed by the Nazis elsewhere.

The local fuehrer, who is violently anti-Semitic, is Herr Bikler. The Strasbourg newspaper La Republique, which is not in sympathy with the autonomist move, in an article on Bikler compares his task as "similar to that performed by Konrad Henlein in Sudetenland."

Open War on Jews.

Tens of thousands of pamphlets have been distributed in the last few days by autonomists throughout the German speaking region. Motor caravans distributed the pamphlets, which were devoted to anti-Jewish propaganda of violence hitherto unheard of even in the traditionally anti-Semitic Alsatian autonomist camp.

In addition to the routine attacks, the principal charge levied against the Jews in Alsace is that during the recent period of crisis, with troop movements on both sides of the French-German border, the Jews fled with their belongings and sought to evade military service.

The pamphlets demanded that all Jews be driven out of the German speaking region. Street demonstrations against the Jewish population followed distribution of the pamphlets. The campaign grew so violent that the chief rabbi of Strasbourg felt compelled to issue a public statement denying the charges leveled against Alsatian Jews.

Honor Czech Legionnaires.

The non-autonomist majority of this region is bitter over the surrender to Hitler in the case of the Sudeten Germans, despite the fact that Alsace and Lorraine might have been the chief sufferers if France were drawn into a war to defend Czechoslovakia.

After the surrender was announced, a non-autonomist committee visited a cemetery in Bermay were are buried Czech legionnaires who fought for France during the world war. The committee placed roses on the tombs.

Its members explained that the gesture was not only in gratitude for the Czech soldiers' aid, but in remembrance of the fact that the Czechs were the only national group in Europe which protested when Alsace and Lorraine were taken from France after the Franco-Prussian war.

VERDICT IN HOLDUP SLAYING.

Murder by persons unknown was the verdict returned yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Charles Zimmerman, a junk dealer. He was shot Sept. 10 during a holdup in his shop at 1839 Lake street. Police are seeking two Negroes who fled after the shooting.

CAPITAL, SCARED BY WAR THREAT, QUITS LUXEMBURG

Company Owners Call Funds Home.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LUXEMBURG, Sept. 21.—The tiny duchy of Luxemburg, the last paradise for capital fleeing Paris, London, and other European financial centers to avoid high taxation, is in danger of becoming a paradise lost. It is all a result of the war scare which swept Europe in recent weeks.

Most of the midget countries tucked away in odd corners of Europe no longer are able, for one reason or another, to welcome capital as of old. Capitalists, therefore, are beginning to call their funds home, despite oppressive taxation.

Only a few months ago there was a big boom in this duchy, which is sandwiched in by Belgium, France, and Germany. When Reichsfuehrer Hitler annexed Austria last March alarm seized hundreds of French, English, and other holding companies, representing hundreds of millions of dollars, with legal headquarters in the principality of Liechtenstein. That tiny country, the owners of the companies thought, was in unpleasant proximity to the new greater German reich.

Wonder Where to Turn.

It was estimated that more than half the capital withdrawn from Liechtenstein came to Luxemburg. With intense French, German, and Belgian defense preparations under way, however, Luxemburg now is in almost the same situation, the capitalists feel, as Liechtenstein was last April.

Capitalists who, in the post-world war years, established hundreds of holding companies in vest pocket states to avoid heavy taxation at home, now are wondering where to turn.

The independent republic of San Marino, which is surrounded by Italy, and Andorra, valley republic in the Pyrenees, are unsuitable because they never bothered to develop banking systems. In any case, Andorra is too close to the Spanish war zone, and San Marino is dominated by Italy.

Frightened by Mexico.

The principality of Monaco, the last midget state, also is ruled out for this reason. For want of safé, low taxation countries in Europe, some capitalists considered South America.

The recent expropriation policy of the Mexican government, however, has frightened them off. There are signs, as a result, that much capital has given up the search for refuge, and is leaving this country for home countries despite high taxation. Political turmoil thus has accomplished repatriation of funds where moral, patriotic appeals failed.

Rope Trick in Reverse Is Used to Loot Tavern

This burglar reversed the rope trick and put it to practical use. Prying up a skylight, he attached his rope and slid down into Ira Clamage's tavern at 1673 Milwaukee avenue early yesterday. There he took $30, a box of cigars, and three bottles of whisky. Kicking out the front door glass, he sprang into an automobile and vanished as easily as orientals who throw a rope into the air and climb it.

RUSSIA BLASTS FRANCE, BRITAIN FOR CZECH DEAL

Newspapers and Orators Charge Betrayal.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 21.—Now that the danger of European war is fading, the soviet government suddenly has become pugnacious. At mass-meetings throughout Russia today orators following instructions from Moscow attacked Great Britain and France for betraying Czechoslovakia.

The soviet government, according to the speakers, stood ready to fulfil its treaty with the Czechs, but France abandoned them to follow Britain and surrender before the threts of an aggressor.

Poland Target For Attacks.

Orators and the soviet press also attacked Poland. The Moscow Pravda asked whether Britain and France are willing to listen to claims of the Ukranian and Ruthenian groups in Poland and whether the number of Poles in Polish White Russia and the Ukraine justify the retention of these districts under Polish control.

Pravda said that the only government ready to defend international rights and world peace is the soviet union. It again warned England and France that their colonial interests may be next on the menu of Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Premier Mussolini.

According to information in Moscow, seventy-two Czech pilots arrived in Kiev to fly soviet planes to Czechoslovakia. Other reports told of 500 planes that Moscow had agreed to deliver to Prague and of 300 heavy bombers which already had arrived in Czech airdromes from the Kharkov, Lipetsk, and Toganrog airplane factories.

Commissar Reported Wounded.

The rumor is circulating in Leningrad that Commissar M. Zhdanov of the Leningrad district was wounded while attending a massmeeting in the Kirov machine building works. The meeting was to protest the Czech peace plan.

Meanwhile in Geneva Maxim Litvinov, foreign commissar, accused France and England of ignoring a Russian offer to help defend Czechoslovakia.

Assails Deal with Hitler.

Litvinov, addressing delegates of fifty nations, said that the Anglo-French plan amounted to "satisfying the appetites of insatiable aggressors by the destruction and mutilation of sovereign states."

Litvinov said Russia's stand was made known to the Czechoslovak government two days ago and to the French government a few days before the league assembly convened Sept. 12.

He said he informed the French government "we intend to fulfil our engagements under our treaty with Czechoslovakia and, together with France, to give assistance to Czechoslovakia by means open to us."

Answer Clear, League Told.

Of the soviet union's stand in response to a formal inquiry from Czechoslovakia, Litvinov said his government "gave a clear answer in the affirmative" when asked if it would join France in fulfilling Russian and French commitments to defend Czechoslovakia.

Drastic revision of soviet foreign policy—turing its back on Europe, its eyes on Asia—was foreseen by some diplomats as a probable result of the Anglo-French pressure on Czechoslovakia.

Observers believed Moscow's influence on western European states will have dwindled almost to the vanishing point when Czechoslovakia is "neutralized" by German encroachments.

FOUND SHOT TO DEATH.

An Elopement

[Acme Photo.]

Bob Crosby, orchestra leader, and June Kuhn of Chicago, arriving in Denver by plane on way to Portland, Ore., in "elopement."

Bob Crosby, swing band leader and brother of Bing Crosby of the radio and movies, and Miss June Kuhn, 19 years old, yesterday boarded a United Airlines plane for Spokane, Wash., his home town, to be married. Crosby admitted they were eloping and planned to be married secretly in Spokane. Miss Kuhn is the daughter of Mrs. Le Roy Philip Kuhn and the late Dr. Kuhn. She lived with her mother in the Lake Shore Athletic club.

CRUISER STAYS ON IN EUROPE; AT PORTSMOUTH

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—(AP)—The navy disclosed today that the European stay of the new 10,000 ton cruiser Nashville had been prolonged indefinitly. Altered orders were made public as the Nashville and a sister ship, the Honolulu, arrived unexpectedly at Portsmouth, England.

Both vessels are on shakedown cruises prior to joining the newly created Atlantic squadron. They originally were to have met at Gravesend. The Nashville was to have sailed on her return to this country last Saturday.

The two cruisers, together with the cruiser Omaha and two destroyers forming a temporary squadron in the Mediterranean, could be called on to transport American refugees and undertake other responsibilities in the event of a European war.

Japan Spurns League Bid to Discuss Chinese War

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Sept. 21.—The Japanese cabinet today rejected an invitation from the league of nations to join in discussions at Geneva for settlement of the Chinese-Japanese war. Tatsuo Kawai, foreign office spokesman, said Tokio was not alarmed over possible invocation of sanctions [penalties] by the league. He said Tokio is convinced that most member countries will not apply sanctions, since this is no longer compulsory.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

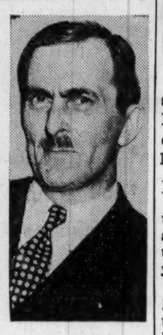
CONSERVATIVES, RADICALS FIGHT IN WASHINGTON

Party Lines Are Ignored in Pacific State.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—The November election in Washington has become a knock down and drag out fight between the conservatives and radicals, irrespective of party lines, for control of the state legislature, the law enforcement machinery in Seattle and the state's delegation in congress.



Gov. C. D. Martin.

The Democratic party is divided into two irreconcilable factions. West of the Cascades, where two-thirds of the population lives, the party has been taken over virtually lock, stock and barrel by the radical Washington commonwealth federation. East of the mountains the conservative faction dominates.

Governor Conservative.

Gov. Clarence D. Martin who has manifested his lack of sympathy with New Deal theory in no uncertain manner, is the leader of the conservative faction which is joining forces with the Republicans to defeat the radical Democrats nominated in the recent primary.

The Republicans in large numbers lined up with the conservative Democratic league to beat radical Democrats in the primary, for Washington, like Idaho, has one primary ballot bearing the names of all candidates of all parties and the voter can cross the party line without declaring himself. The conservative coalition, however, was unsuccessful in the primary. Most of the radical candidates supported by the commonwealth federation were nominated.

Radicals Win in Primary.

Whether the conservative coalition will be any more successful in the election is problematical. With less than 50 per cent of the 850,000 registered voters participating in the primary the radicals won an overwhelming victory. Republican leaders however profess confidence that the stay at home primary vote will turn the tables on the radicals in November.

Washington has been a hotbed of radicalism for years. Jim Farley, in a politically indiscreet moment, is said to have hit off the situation by reference to the "47 states and the soviet of Washington." Seattle and neighborhood were ruled with an iron hand by Dave Beck, the labor leader who was the power behind the throne of the late Mayor Johnny Dore. Farmers and business men were compelled to bend the knee and pay tribute to the teamsters and long-shoremen. Business was paralyzed for months at a time by repeated strikes attended by great disorder and violence. Labor racketeering became notorious, even raised the cost of the necessities of life.

Labor Barons Checked.

As a result of the split in labor ranks the headlong career of the labor barons was checked last spring when Arthur B. Langlie, candidate of the conservative forces, was elected mayor of Seattle. He beat Mayor Dore, who was supported by Dave Beck and the American Federation of Labor, and Vic Meyers, candidate of Harry Bridges, who is charged with being a communist, and the C. I. O. Loss of the city hall put a considerable crimp in labor racketeering.

The same struggle to control the county prosecuting machinery is now in progress. The commonwealth federation succeeded in renominating the prosecuting attorney and sherif, who are acceptable to the radical labor leaders. The conservatives are backing the Republican candidates pledged to arrest and prosecute the labor racketeers.

Labor Law Proposed.

Linked with this struggle over offices is an effort to curb labor racketeering and irresponsible strikes by legislation. Nearly 100,000 signers to an initiative petition placed on the November ballot the question of adopting a law regulating strikes. If approved by a majority of the voters this initiated law will go into effect at once and the legislature will be unable to amend or repeal it for two years.

Under the terms of the proposed law in the case of a labor dispute the demands on the employer must be made in writing by the bargaining organization. Thirty days are allowed for negotiations unless the employer refuses to negotiate. In case negotiations fail the employés vote on the question of a strike by secret ballot conducted by the county auditor to prevent intimidation. Pending the negotiations and strike vote there is to be no cessation of work and the employer is forbidden to lock out his employés.

Women Back Movement.

The movement to initiate this law, backed by the women of Washington, the associated farmers of Washington and other large organizations, has assumed formidable proportions. It is being opposed vigorously by the C. I. O., workers alliance, old age pension union and other radical groups composing the commonwealth federation.

This reaction against radicalism, which scored so great a success in the Seattle mayoralty election and is now being manifested in the fight for legislation regulating strikes, is being heavily relied upon by the Republican leaders for success in the election. Impartial observers told me that the initiated law probably will win while the Republican candidates for major offices probably will be beaten wherever they are opposed by Democratic incumbents.

Colvin Opposes Bone.

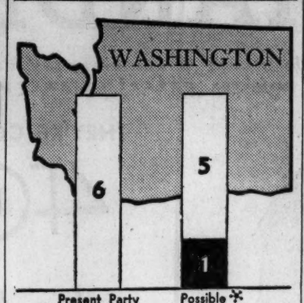
In Ewing D. Colvin the Republicans have a strong candidate for United States senator against Democratic Senator Homer T. Bone. Colvin may be expected to carry the conservative east end of the state, where the wheat farmers are holding protest meetings against 40 cent wheat, and the farming areas west of the mountains, where the fruit growers are dissatisfied with New Deal regimentation, but Bone will have the decided advantage in Seattle and other industrial communities.

The commonwealth federation has indorsed Bone and the solid Democratic delegation of congressmen. It espouses the New Deal 100 per cent, and says it aims at building the sort of liberal Democratic party Mr. Roosevelt visualizes.

The communists have joined forces with the federation in support of the New Deal candidates, having decided to nominate no candidates of their own this year.

The best chance the Republicans have to gain house seats is in the 4th district, where Knut Hill, Democratic incumbent, is opposed by the Republican candidate, Frank Miller, and in the 5th district, where the Republican candidate, Norman A. Ericson, has been indorsed by the national Townsend plan organization. His opponent, Democratic Congressman Charles H. Leavy, has lost favor with the Townsendites, who charge him with going back on his promises to aid their program.

Election Possibility



Washington state congressional setup, with the possibility that Republicans can break solid Democratic front if they win districts lost by less than 10 per cent in 1936.

FATHER KILLED IN FIRE AFTER FAMILY FIGHT

Fire officials and police early today questioned and released the family of a man whose body was found after a fire in a small cottage at 5247 South Kolmar avenue earlier in the night.

The dead man was John Kopczynski, a WPA employé. He lived in the house with his wife, Mary; a daughter, Theresa, 17 years old; a son, John, 24, and the son's wife, Lillian, and their six months old daughter.

Last night New City police were called to the home to quell a family fight. Afterward the son's family left with a friend, police were told. The mother and Theresa also went away to visit a neighbor. The fire, which was reported about five hours later, brought the elder Mrs. Kopczynski home. After some difficulty in putting out the flames firemen found Kopczynski's body.

HALT WAR GAMES TO GIVE UMPIRES A CHANCE FOR SURVEY

Fort Knox, Ky., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Five hundred officers of the regular army, National Guard and Organized Reserves here for a command post exercise halted their war on paper today to give umpires a chance to figure out what has happened since Sunday. The imaginary warfare to drive off Black invaders who threatened the nation's gold hoard here and the industrial Ohio valley will be resumed tomorrow and continue for 48 hours.

Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, of Chicago, commander of the Second United States Blue field army, told officers of the Fifth and Sixth army corps today about his world war experience when he virtually went without sleep for 47 days and counseled all to get some needed rest.

Umpires from the regular army spent the day preparing situations that the six divison commanders will be asked to solve tomorrow and Friday. The exercise will be completed Friday and all officers will attend a meeting Saturday when accomplishments of the week will be reviewed.

Confessions and Denials in Hotel Fire Given to Jury

State's Attorney Courtney yesterday referred to the grand jury for investigation the reported confessions, and subsequent repudiations, by two men in connection with a fire last April 6 in the Hotel Center, 1422 Madison street. Eight men were burned to death in the blaze. The prisoners, Emil Guerrieri, 23 years old, and Frank Kolesiak, 26, have persisted in their denials that they set fire to the hotel.

Investigate $50,000 Fire on Milwaukee Avenue

A $50,000 fire in a three story brick building at 1377-81 Milwaukee avenue early yesterday was being investigated last evening by Henry Eckhardt and Earl Downes, assistant corporation counsels. Firemen put out the blaze in two hours. Louis Herman, owner of the Empire Furniture company store in the building, estimated his loss at $10,000. Cause of the fire was unknown.

U. S. PREPARING AGAINST THREAT OF ANOTHER WAR

Defense Program Being Pushed Rapidly.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—In every American shipyard, amid the din of riveters, workmen are assembling fighting fortresses for what will be the world's greatest navy. In every munitions plant and government arsenal workmen are assembling weapons for what will be America's greatest peace time army.

At sea and on land, naval and military maneuvers are taking on grim precision. And in Washington the high commands of the army and navy are burning midnight oil with an anxious eye to the tension in Europe.

Though the present crisis may pass without war, the high commands are confident that another may bring about another world war. So that America may not again be caught unprepared, the stafs of the national defense forces are preparing for any eventuality.

Prepare Mobilization Plans.

Plans are being prepared against another "M" [mobilization] day—a day when the forces of national defense—the army, navy, and industry—will be called to work together against an enemy.

The defense heads insist that their preparation is not an admission that this country will not be able to keep out of the next war, but a sincere effort to guard against any possibility that may arise in the inevitable European conflict.

The country is now engaged in the greatest peace time arming of the army and navy in its history. In view of the war crisis, this armament takes on new importance.

What Is Being Done.

In view of this importance every American should know what is going on in the American armament program, how much is being spent, and what the expenditure will mean in ships, planes, guns, and men. Every American should also know what is going on in the mobilization of industry for the next "emergency."

This article will tell what is going on in the navy. Other articles will be devoted to the army and industry.

During the current fiscal year, which is to end next June 30, the country will spend on her first line of defense, the navy, $583,180,577. Next year more than that will be needed, and the following year even more, according to the navy department.

A committee of naval experts is now at work on recommendations to be presented to the next congress. These are to call for bulwarking of the floating fortresses by new destroyer, submarine, mine, and air bases along the country's continental and insular coasts.

Ten Year Program.

In addition to the yearly budgets, the navy will spend in the next ten years $1,156,000,000 on an expansion program which will make the United States fleet the most formidable afloat.

At present some 62 new warships are under construction. Two battleships of 35,000 tons each, head the list. They are the Washington and the North Carolina. Other vessels under construction are 5 cruisers, 40 destroyers, and 15 submarines.

On Oct. 5 the navy will open bids for three more superdreadnaughts which will carry 16 inch guns.

Air Force Expanded.

The navy's air force is being expanded. Huge bombers capable of dropping 2,000 pounds of destruction, fleet scout planes, and zipping pursuit craft are being added to the navy's air arm.

Other manifestations of preparedness in the navy are the formation of a "temporary" Atlantic squadron, increasing the navy personnel, improvement of shore bases, experimentation with new arms and vessels, notably mosquito torpedo boats. Congress authorized the addition of 241 officers, 5,285 sailors, and 1,000 marines.

The naval expansion program was motivated by the threatening moves of aggressor nations in Europe, the civil war in Spain, and Japan's attack on China.

The unsettled state of international affairs was behind congressional adoption of President Roosevelt's naval expansion program. The program authorized, but did not actually appropriate for the construction of 3 battleships, 43 lesser fighting craft, 26 auxiliary vessels, and 950 airplanes, to bring the naval air force to 3,000 planes.

Pacifists Vociferous.

The naval appropriation and expansion program brought a howl from pacifist groups. They shouted that America does not need such a large navy. Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, answered them in the following statement:

"Should war be forced upon us, the only combat ships we would have to begin war would be those that are completed when war breaks out and those under construction nearly completed.

"The first year or two of a war will have to be fought with the ships and the men we will have when the war starts."

The navy department has prepared a well defined course of action in the event of war. To aid it in following the course, drafted by experts, the navy suggested and obtained the expansion program.

The course of action is based on the theory that this nation will conduct a defensive war.

The first move of the navy, in the event of a defensive war, will be to protect a line in the Pacific which will run from Dutch Harbor in Alaska's Aleutian Islands to Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian Islands; to Pago Pago in American Samoa, and then eastward to the Panama canal.

In the Atlantic the line of defense runs from Maine to Porto Rico and thence to the Panama canal. The line may be extended to protect Central and South America if such a course becomes necessary.

As the European war scare arose the navy formed a "temporary" squadron for service in the Atlantic and Admiral Forde A. Todd was placed in command of 14 cruisers.

[The army's national defense program will be discussed in a future article.]

Miss American Beauty

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Miss Bernice Stewart, age 19, of Hollywood, was selected as "Miss American Beauty 1938" in contest held in connection with the annual convention of the American Legion.

LEGION AWARDS '39 CONVENTION TO MAYOR KELLY

Chicago Has $150,000 to Pay for Entertainment.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Accepting Mayor Edward J. Kelly's invitation by acclamation the American Legion chose Chicago today as the 1939 convention city.

Mayor Kelly disclosed that Chicago had been working for several years to get the convention.

He won it with an offer of $150,000 toward the convention expenses. Officials estimate that 250,000 will attend and that they will spend 10 million dollars in Chicago.

Low Prices Pledged.

To get the convention to his city the mayor had to convince the Legion officials that Chicago would entertain the Legionnaires and keep prices down during the convention as well as give the $150,000 toward expenses.

The campaign to win the convention for Chicago has been in charge of the Chicago Corporation of the American Legion Convention, of which Col. A. A. Sprague is president and James B. Forgan is treasurer. This organization has been working with the Chicago Association of Commerce and a citizens' committee which collected the money from hotels, business men, and industries.

$100,000 in Contributions.

Of the money promised for the convention contributions totaled $100,000. The other $50,000 was voted by the Illinois legislature.

Telling of the work that won the convention for Chicago Mayor Kelly said that Mr. Forgan and Col. Sprague accompanied him to Indianapolis last May to lay their claims before the Legion's liaison committee.

A TRAIN THAT STOPS FOR NOTHING WAITS TO LET STORK GO BY

Freight trains on the Chicago Belt Line railroad whistle and chuff loudly past the Criminal Courts building several times a day. They stop for no one, not even the judges, who have to suspend business during their passage.

Yesterday the crossing gates at California avenue halted a hurrying automobile. A man jumped out, approached a nearby policeman, pointed to two women in the car, and shouted. "I'm an obstetrician."

The policeman sprinted down the tracks and waved his coat at the engineer, who stopped the lumbering train. The gates were raised. The car sped past. Then once again the train started chuffing and whistling past the crossing.

VOTE TO INDICT RAAB IN SLAYING OF SWEETHEART

William Frank Raab, 38 years old, was reported named by the grand jury yesterday in a true bill charging him with the murder of his auburn haired sweetheart, Mrs. Marie Lamont, 27. She was found strangled Sept. 7 in his room in the Lorraine hotel, 411 South Wabash avenue.

Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan, who said Raab confessed slaying the woman because "she was tired of living," appeared before the grand jury. Other witnesses were hotel employés and Robert W. Lamont, estranged husband of the victim.

John S. Boyle, assistant state's attorney, said there was no evidence of a suicide pact.

ANCIENT SYMBOL

By CALEB

THE CHINESE, an ancient and philosophical people, have a set of symbols representing the virtues and honors of life. Those who display such qualities in outstanding degree are granted official permission to wear the appropriate sign.

One particular mark of distinction is the symbol that stands for "the ability to live in court without quarreling." The endless ceremony, intrigue and elaborate form of old Chinese courts are well known, and one with patience and fortitude sufficient to maintain poise, thoughtfulness and self-control through it all "without quarreling" richly deserved some sort of accolade. The thoughtful Chinese provided it in the shape of a symbol — but it is certain that something more tangible than that came to the possessor of this great and somewhat rare quality.

Today, under the stress and pressure of modern life, we need some similar way of recognizing or encouraging those who demonstrate the ability to maintain poise and objective kindness through every provocation to abandon them. Poets, great teachers and idealists of every age have expressed the value of the quality, coupling it most frequently with an inner satisfaction and some later reward. In both these respects it certainly is to be recommended—but on another count, more mundane and practical, it is worth studying.

Read carefully the pages of history written of such men as Julius Caesar, Charlemagne, Canute, Napoleon, Nelson, Washington and Lincoln. However else these men or their affairs differed, they had in common the ability to enlist the friendly support of associates beyond all reasonable lengths and ordinary loyalties. That gift they held in common with every other leader in battle, in philosophy and business.

The story of individual successes runs the gamut of human qualities and abilities with scarcely any two alike. But through them all there remains this single constant—the ability to get along with others and to enlist their friendly support. Almost any contemporary organization, upon careful scrutiny, will yield a striking example of a man whose ability to make and hold friends among associates has helped demonstrably in his success. Conversely, any typical group will yield an example of one whose ability is held in check by the lack of that one quality.

Through the ages this one quality has been the catalytic agent in human formulae to set great careers in motion, and the Chinese, in their wisdom, make an ageless symbol of it.

EAST BATTERED BY HURRICANE; 115 PERSONS DIE

Long Island Hardest Hit; Loss Is Enormous.

places the situation was so grave that extreme measures had to be taken to safeguard the populations of entire villages.

Almost all of Long Island was plunged into darkness in the late afternoon. Along the shores the storm drove heavy seas high over summer bungalows and highways.

Destruction was spread along the whole interior of the island. Uprooted trees were strewn over highways. Live wires threatened on all sides. Communication and transportation lines were completely disrupted. Streets and cellars were filled from an unprecedented fall of rain.

Count of Dead Impossible.

Because of the lack of communication facilities, a count of the dead was impossible.

The bodies of four women and two men were washed ashore from Westhampton Beach. Between fifty and seventy-five survivors from that stricken community made their way to Riverhead, where they were treated for injuries and exposure.

A man was drowned at Asaroken, another was blown off a sixty foot tank at Inwood, and a woman dropped dead after becoming panic stricken over the huge combers that pounded her house at Point Lookout.

Buildings Swept Away.

Many coast guard stations were washed away, Fire Island being the hardest hit of all. There the ocean broke through at Saltaire and poured across the island into Great South bay. Bungalows and coast guard buildings were swept out to sea.

Two women were reported missing at Saltaire. Rescue crews labored to evacuate that community, as well as Point o' Woods and Oak Beach. Coast guard stations at Jones Beach and along the Hamptons had to be abandoned when seas poured into them.

Six persons were reported missing from Mastic Beach, where four bungalows were toppled into the ocean. Two couples living in two of the houses were not accounted for. Also missing were two boys who had been surf casting when the storm broke.

A ferryboat with twenty passengers, which had been unreported for four hours, was sighted tonight about four miles off Port Jefferson, N. Y. The boat, Park City, which operates between Port Jefferson and Bridgeport, Conn., apparently was waiting for the storm to abate before trying to make port.

SWEEPS NEW ENGLAND

Boston, Mass., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—The toll of dead and injured mounted in New England tonight from a hurricane and tidal wave that lashed the coast line.

Broken communication facilities hid the full extent of damage and the number of dead, but there were thirty-one known dead including sixteen killed in floods which preceeded the wind. Property damage was enormous.

A gale that attained a velocity of 100 miles an hour swept all before it. Rushing in from the sea, it carried raging waters high into the streets of coastal cities.

Most of the victims were killed by falling trees or buried in the débris of crumbling buildings. Thousands were made homeless. Other thousands were marooned by high water or the litter of vegetation and buildings.

Four States Stricken.

Appeals for help were sent from dozens of stricken communities in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, and Connecticut. The center of the storm drove directly at Providence, R. I., and Fall River, Mass.

All electric power and communication lines were blotted out in Providence. Meager reports indicated that downtown streets were covered with four feet of water.

Roofs were torn from buildings, and small houses were smashed. Thousands of persons were marooned in the city. Throngs fled from theaters and scurried about seeking shelter.

Fire Sweeps New London.

Six fires raged out of control for a time in New London, Conn., which also was one of the cities hit hard by the hurricane. Shortly before the advance of the flames were halted with help from neighboring communities, it had been estimated almost half the city was ablaze.

Havoc wrought by the storm impeded fire fighting efforts. Streets were choked with débris, which included many large trees and plate glass fragments from store windows.

Nowhere in New London was there any power. The break of communication lines extended to hospitals, making it impossible to determine the number injured or if any were dead.

Many towns in the storm area were without light, telephone, power and gas service. Water and wind made inoperative everything in their path.

1,000 Driven from Homes.

At Bristol, R. I., waters swept in from the sea nearly a quarter of a mile, driving hundreds from their homes. More than 1,000 persons were made homeless at Warren, R. I. Police there asked the governor to declare a state of emergency.

Gov. Wilbur L. Cross of Connecticut ordered National Guardsmen mobilized in New London, New Haven, New Britain, West Haven, and other communities.

Connecticut virtually was cut off from the outside world as flood waters swirled over main highways, washed out dams and bridges and tore up huge blocks of pavements. The New Haven railroad reported its service practically at a standstill.

Sweeps Into Canada.

GRANBY, Que., Sept. 21.—[Canadian Press.]—Sweeping in from the Atlantic seaboard, a strong gale accompanied by heavy rain littered streets in this eastern township town tonight and caused failure of all power facilities in the district. Theaters were forced to close.

At Montreal one man was electrocuted when he came in contact with a broken power line.

SIX FEET OF WATER IN A CITY

WOMAN ANSWERS KNOCK; SEES MAN DIE AT HER DOOR

Mrs. Arlene Miller was awakened early yesterday by a knock at the door of her apartment at 228 East Huron street. She opened the door and a man collapsed at her feet.

Mrs. Miller recognized him as Earl Bowers, an acquaintance. She called Dr. T. G. Douglas of Passavant hospital, who said Bowers apparently had died of poisoning. Bowers was 36 years old and lived at 1863 North Halsted street. In a note addressed to his father, Morris, Bowers indicated he was going to commit suicide.

Mrs. Miller, a widow, said she had known Bowers three weeks, but did not learn until Sunday night that he was married and the father of four children. She said she met him Tuesday night and told him to keep away from her. An inquest into Bowers' death was continued to Oct. 4.

STYLISTS WILL TRY TO NAME CHICAGO'S BEST DRESSED MAN

Are your trousers creased correctly? Do you wear tweeds for business? Is the cut of your lapel the latest thing, or a quaint touch of 1912? In fact, do you know what the well dressed man will wear this season?

This afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Palmer House Chicago's fashion experts will make their decision. The occasion is the fall opening on State street. Stylists in men's clothing will cast a critical eye over an assemblage of radio stars, night club entertainers, and orchestra leaders, and try to select the best dressed man in town.

His wardrobe, say the stylists, should include at least five suits: one in conservative tone, for business; one dress up outfit in dark color; a loose fitting suit for leisure; one sports outfit, and evening clothes. White tie and tails are becoming more popular, say the experts.

DIABETES?

It is the skimpy meals the diabetic's condition often requires, the hunger pangs he suffers . . . that make life hard. Plain, unflavored Knox Gelatine, allowed by his physician, can help a lot.

Between meals (hourly or at least every 2 hours), half an envelope of Knox Gelatine in a cup of fruit juice, milk or water helps relieve fatigue and hunger, yet is low in calories.

At meals, Knox Gelatine in attractive salads and desserts gives bulk without adding carbohydrates.

LOWLANDERS ON MISSISSIPPI FLEE BEFORE FLOODS

U.S. Launches Are Ready to Rescue Victims.

Davenport, Ia., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—The rain swollen Mississippi river approached flood stage of 15 feet here tonight. A crest of two feet more is expected by Friday.

Although the flood situation in the Tri-City area appeared to be under control, numerous lowland residents were exacuated here and at Rock Island.

The factory district in the west end of Rock Island was flooded, causing plants of the Rock Island Bridge and Iron Works and of the Blake Specialty company to suspend operations. Other factories were endangered as water seeped into their first floors.

Deny Dams at Fault.

Army engineers denied that the recent floods are in any way connected with the government system of dams in the upper Mississippi. They said the excess water is due entirely to heavy rains and the most of the flood water is coming down from Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Many of the dams are so constructed that virtually the entire face of the structure can be lowered to permit water to run over. Engineers at Rock Island also pointed out that heads of water have not been maintained back of the various locks in the stream, locks and dams having been designed for navigation purposes and not for flood control.

Upstream Crest Falling.

The big stream, which has been swollen by days of steady rain in its watershed, was receding up river. After remaining stationary for 24 hours at a flood crest of 20.5 feet at Dubuque, Ia., it began to fall. The river was expected to return to normal by Sunday or Monday.

Backwater from the Mississippi forced the Galena river out of its banks at Galena, Ill. Several streets in the business section are under water. Tension was relieved by the Mississippi's recession at Dubuque.

Eight families were moved from their homes at Savanna, Ill.

United States engineers have distributed their entire fleet of launches at strategic points up and down the Mississippi from Rock Island and have stationed representatives at Dubuque, Sabula, and Clinton, Ia.

Practice for Canoe Trip Brings Swimming Practice

William Morrall, 21 years old, and Russell Duball, 18, plan next summer to take a 6,000 mile canoe trip down the Mississippi river and along the Gulf of Mexico. Yesterday they decided to get in some practice on Lake Michigan. A mile off 71st street two big waves overturned their craft. The boys clung to the side of the boat, and propelled it ashore by swimming. Morrall lives at 8513 Sangamon street, and Duball at 8525 Sangamon street.

Hundred Mile an Hour Wind Hits Boston

Love Birds Fly to Keep Buffalo Date (on Plane)

Nothing like a little record breaking flight to put a love bird in tip top shape. Last night 161 love birds flew from Chicago to Buffalo, N. Y.—469 miles—in 2 hours and 55 minutes. And they weren't even tired when they arrived. As a matter of fact, they got a ride—by air express on the American Airlines. A novelty chain store sent them to Buffalo for sale today.

COMMERCIAL TAX COLLECTIONS DIP IN JULY, AUGUST

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—The big drop in government revenues from commercial taxes reflecting business conditions earlier in the year was continued through July and August. Decreases of $3,433,966 appeared in liquor taxes, $2,181,769 in tobacco taxes; $1,150,349 in documentary and stamp taxes; $20,893,702 in capital stock taxes, and $6,417,652 in manufacturers' excise taxes, compared with the same two months last year, the bureau of internal revenue announced today.

Although they declined by $6,417,652 for the two months, manufacturers' excise taxes showed a $1,609,531 gain for August.

Total internal revenue in the first two months of the current fiscal year was $712,712,098, compared with $712,198,434 in the corresponding period last year. This is a gain of $513,664. In August total collections were $362,286,331, compared with $336,124,858 for the same month last year. The federal gasoline tax revenue of $19,369,069 last month was $5,647,203 more than in August, 1937.

JOE HOLDS 4 ACES, BUT HE LOSES TO 3 QUICK TALKERS

Joseph Salvo is a little, mild mannered, middle aged man with gray hair and glasses. In the summer his voice can be heard in the country lanes of Wisconsin lifted in the cry: "Any scissors to grind?"

Now that it's cold Salvo has come to Chicago, which he considers a friendly town. Yesterday he met three men near the Pioneer Bank and Trust company, where he had a $304 account. In the course of a lot of fast talking Salvo found he had drawn out the money and entered a poker game with his new friends in a northwest side hotel room.

Came the big hand. Salvo looked at four aces and bet all he had. It wasn't enough to call. He left to borrow more money, taking his four aces with him. Then fearing trickery, he rushed back to the hotel room. Salvo's friends were gone. So was his money. But in his pocket were four aces.

AGREE ON THREE DAY TRUCE IN NEW YORK'S TRUCK DRIVER STRIKE

New York, Sept. 21.—(AP)—A three day truce in the unsanctioned strike of truck drivers which has paralyzed trucking since last Thursday was approved by more than a thousand striking workers at a meeting tonight.

The truce was accepted by the men with the assurance that if by Saturday midnight an agreement is not reached between accredited union officials and the employés a legal strike vote will be taken next Sunday and last Thursday's walkout repeated next Monday morning.

The outlaw strike was started by a runaway group in local 807 to force acceptance by the employers of a reduction in the work week from 47 to 40 hours with the same weekly wage scale. Members of locals 282 and 816 joined 807 in the walkout.

BURNED IN STOVE BLAST; DIES.

Phillip Arbiter, 29 years old, who was burned Tuesday when a stove exploded in his laundry at 1447 East 60th street, died last night in Billings hospital.

NEW RADIANT ROAST MAXWELL HOUSE
BRINGS A NEW THRILL TO COFFEE LOVERS

MARVELOUS NEW RICHNESS

JOAN, I'VE BEEN USING MAXWELL HOUSE FOR YEARS. BUT NOW IT'S EVEN BETTER — SO MUCH RICHER THAN EVER BEFORE
I KNOW, EL. THEY'VE IMPROVED IT TREMENDOUSLY! THEY CALL IT THE NEW RADIANT ROAST MAXWELL HOUSE. BOB SAYS THERE'S NO OTHER COFFEE LIKE IT!

NEW IMPROVED BLEND

YES, THE NEW RADIANT ROAST MAXWELL HOUSE IS A FAR BETTER COFFEE ... IN TWO IMPORTANT WAYS. IT'S A NEW, IMPROVED BLEND—WITH A NEW EXTRA RICHNESS AND SMOOTHNESS, A NEW EXTRA FULL-BODIED GOODNESS. YOU'LL TASTE IT RIGHT AWAY. AND...

NOW—RADIANT ROAST
brings out, more completely, the rich flavor of this new, improved blend.

Yes, madam, you'll discover that the New Maxwell House brings you a richness and fullness of flavor you may never have known in coffee before.

For this new, improved blend is now roasted by a new and different method called Radiant Roast.

This remarkable new method uses radiant, penetrating heat to roast each bean evenly all the way through. No chance of parching outside . . . or under-roasting inside. Radiant Roast brings out more completely the rich, tempting flavor . . . the true full-bodied goodness of the new, improved Maxwell House blend.

movie legislation be held up, Margiotti said. Then after McCloskey and the others received the $100,000 the bills were passed, he declared.

During the day Margiotti prodded the committee into issuing a subpena for the bank records in Philadelphia in order to ascertain whether the $75,000 check had been photostated.

Accused of Graft

J. David Stern. Matthew McCloskey.

The committee, composed of five Democrats and two Republicans, did not appear overanxious to carry out the request.

Margiotti was asked what he said to Representative Melchiorre when he first learned of the peddling of the legislation.

"I told him it was a serious matter," replied the former attorney general, "especially the fact that he himself admitted receiving $5,000.

"Melchiorre then said to me, 'Well, I thought everybody else was getting it so I thought I'd get mine.'"

On a brief cross-examination by Melchiorre's attorney, James Masterson, Margiotti revealed that he had also discussed the pay off of thousand dollar bills to the senators. He said McCloskey and Kelly distributed the cash to the deserving statesmen and that State Senator Tony Di Silvestro of Philadelphia had told him about the episode.

After Margiotti left the stand his secretary, Mary Jane Peach, testified that Melchiorre had made the statement in Margiotti's office on March 16 and that she had typed it.

SABATH IN LINE FOR CHAIRMAN OF RULES GROUP

Yes-Men, However, Still to Be in Minority.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—The defeat of Representative John J. O'Connor [D., N. Y.] in yesterday's primary puts Representative Adolph J. Sabath [D., Ill.], a 100 per cent yes man, in line for the chairmanship of the powerful house rules committee. O'Connor's defeat, however, does not give the Roosevelt administration a rubber stamp majority on the rules committee.

Assuming that Republican representation on the rules committee is not increased by gains in the November elections, the elimination of Chairman O'Connor would give the administration six yes men on the rules committee. On controversial measures, however, their votes would not be enough, for there would be four nonrubber stamp Democrats and four Republican members of the committee.

Marked for Purge.

Representative O'Connor, defeated by James H. Fay, was marked for the purge by President Roosevelt in what was generally regarded as an effort by the administration to dominate the house rules committee. This committee exercises the power of life and death over legislation. It determines whether proposed legislation shall have the right of way on the floor of the house. If the rules committee were gagged, the house of representatives would be gagged.

O'Connor's defeat gave President Roosevelt his first and only victory in his undertaking to purge the Democratic party of all except yes-men. Nine Democratic senators were marked for the purge and three of them were denounced by President Roosevelt personally, but all nine were renominated.

O'Connor, a veteran of sixteen years' service, lost the Democratic nomination but was nominated on the Republican ticket, defeating erudite Allen W. Dulles, a former career diplomat.

Radicals Also Nominate Fay.

Besides winning the Democratic nomination by 553 votes, Fay also was nominated by the radical American Labor party.

The President had denounced O'Connor as a "betrayer" of the Roosevelt cause and "one of the most effective obstructionists in the lower house."

Supporters of Representative O'Connor attributed his defeat to the issue of absenteeism rather than President Roosevelt's interference in Fay's behalf. As evidence of this contention, they pointed out that there was no great outpourings of voters to register approval of the President's policies. The total Democratic vote was only 16,151, as compared with more than 20,000 in previous primaries.

Absentee Issue Raised.

The issue of absenteeism concerned O'Connor's big house at Bayport, Long Island, more than 50 miles from his east side Manhattan district, the 16th. Fay made much of the charge that O'Connor never lived in the district, where he maintained only a small apartment as a legal residence.

O'Connor's brother, Basil, is a close personal friend and former law partner of the President.

Besides Chairman O'Connor, one other Democratic member of the rules committee who was opposed by the administration failed to be renominated. He was Representative William J. Driver of Arkansas. Two members whom the administration sought to purge—Representative Howard W. Smith [D., Va.] and Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.] were renominated.

Representative Sabath, of Chicago, who is scheduled to succeed O'Connor as chairman of the rules committee, is 72 years old and the dean of the house, having served continuously since March 4, 1907. He was born in Zabori, Bohemia, then a part of the Austrian empire, now a part of Czechoslovakia.

Former Pupils Will Salute Oldest Teacher, Now 90

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Rebecca Jane Vickers, oldest "schoolmarm" in Adams county, will receive the good wishes of hundreds of former students tomorrow when she observes her ninetieth birthday. She taught in rural schools for 32 years.

SEIZE 2 VANDALIA FUGITIVES AFTER ROBBERY BATTLE

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Two fugitives from the Vandalia state penal farm were captured today on an Illinois Central freight train near Seward after a man hunt by fifty state and city police.

The two are Hugh McKay, 23 years old, of Polo, and Eugene Cox, 18, of Mill Shoals. Sheriff Paul F. Johnson said they confessed robbing Walter Buchanan, Rockton service station attendant, of $22 late last night. They escaped after a gun battle with Buchanan's uncle, Fred Buchanan, and Peter Jecklin of Rockton, who followed their car. Abandoning the car in a forest preserve near Seward, the bandits tried to flee on the train.

They escaped from Vandalia Sept. 9, where McKay was serving ninety days on a worthless check charge and Cox was serving nine months for chicken stealing. McKay fought a gun battle with a Polo policeman last week-end when he stopped there to see his wife.

GETS A TEN YEAR JOB—PAYING OFF DEBT TO EX-WIFE

Jes Selvig will be ten years paying off his debt to Mrs. Lillian Selvig of 6733 Emerald avenue, under an order issued yesterday by Judge Robert C. O'Connell.

Mrs. Selvig, who is 36 years old, told the judge that Selvig is $2,400 behind in his $10 a week payments for support of their daughter, Lillian, 18. Selvig contended that he should be excused from paying because his daughter is now of age. But Mrs. Selvig's attorney, Irving Eisenman, argued that the arrearage must nevertheless be paid.

The judge ordered Selvig to pay $20 a month from his $55 a month WPA salary until the debt is settled. The Selvigs were divorced in 1932. He is a former city locksmith.

Good News! Thanksgiving Turkeys Will Be Plentiful

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—(AP)—A promise of plenty of turkeys for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners came today from the department of agriculture. Experts said the 1938 turkey crop is about 3.7 per cent larger than last year.

ROOSEVELT COAT TAIL A TOBOGGAN, DECLARES GLENN

Economic Folly Insures Defeat, He Says.

Otis F. Glenn, former United States senator from Illinois, told an enthusiastic audience at the weekly Republican luncheon at the Hotel Sherman yesterday that Rooseveltism has about run its course.

"The early end of the New Deal is in sight," he said. "Just when its complete collapse will occur may yet be uncertain, but that it will wholly collapse is and always has been inevitable.

"Built upon the shifting sands of economic folly—of free promising, free spending, and free taxing—it could not endure. Only in a country so rich in money, in materials, and in natural wealth could it have lasted this long."

Traces Loss of Strength.

The former senator traced the gradual loss of strength of the present Democratic régime through its campaigns against the Supreme court, the federal reorganization bill, and the failure of the plan to purge "the ablest members of the Democratic party, whose only offenses were that they voted according to their judgment rather than according to his demands."

"The fight against the New Deal and Roosevelt domination," he continued, "has been led by courageous, patriotic, genuine Democrats. To them belongs the greatest credit for saving the country. Republican opposition, with rare exceptions, has been timid and ineffective.

"Once hailed as the invincible master politician of all time, Roosevelt is not now invincible, but a disabled and disconsolate leader covered with wounds, disheartened by defeats, with his generals leaving him and his army rapidly disintegrating.

A New Chant Heard.

"No longer does the erstwhile 'gallant leader' hear the legions chanting 'Happy Days Are Here Again.' Instead he hears the chant of 'Marching Through Georgia' and 'Maryland, My Maryland.' Talk of a third term now brings ridicule instead of fear, and, unhappily for their riders, the famous coat tails have turned into toboggans."

Glenn said that the cause of the change has been the fact that the New Deal was basically unsound, economically absurd, wild, rioutous, extravagant, and profligate.

"What is the lesson?" he asked. "That no program and no party can long succeed if it proceeds along similar lines and endeavors to secure the support of the people through unsound platforms, specious pledges, promises, profligate, pensions, subsidies, extravagance, huge pay rolls, and enormous taxes."

He urged that the lesson be taken to heart by all Republicans.

MAIL CARRIER FOUND WOUNDED.

William Martin, colored mail carrier living at 113 East 57th street, was found shot and seriously wounded yesterday on the lake front at 47th street. He said he shot himself because of financial worries.

AIRPLANE TO SHOUT A FEW GOOD WORDS FOR CANDIDATE LYONS

Republican state headquarters announced yesterday that broadcasting from an airplane has been added to the activities of the campaign behind Richard J. Lyons, nominee for United States senator, and his associates on the state ticket.

With "Vote Republican" signs on the wings and the fuselage, the plane precedes the Republican caravan on its downstate itinerary this week. A powerful public address system carries announcements of impending meetings suitably adorned with party slogans, and it is said that from an altitude between 500 and 1,500 feet they can be heard for a radius of several miles.

The pilots, Jack Van Buren, mayor of Lake Villa, and Capt. W. M. Solberg, a member of the navy air force for years, donate their services because of their interest in Lyons, a Lake county neighbor.

CRICKETS WIN RIGHT TO CHIRP IN WAUKEGAN

Waukegan crickets have a legal right to chirp, Corporation Counsel George S. McGaughey said yesterday. But to the residents who complained of the cricket racket to the city council he held out hope of an early and extra-curricular solution.

Edwin L. Clinkofstine, 1369 Hyde Park boulevard, a student at the Hyde Park High school, sent McGaughey a letter asking for some of the Waukegan crickets. The young man explained that his class in zoölogy is studying the cricket, but has only a few poor Chicago specimens.

Mr. McGaughey replied with a jar of lively Waukegan gryllus domestici. Furthermore, the city official urged Clinkofstine and all of the class to descend on Waukegan, where they would be directed gladly to the best habitat of their quarry.

When the City Editor Says

"It's NEWS!"

City editors getting news from a woman's magazine? Yes, indeed! 55 out of 96 editors of great metropolitan papers, independently interviewed, said they found MOST OF THIS NEWS INTEREST in one—the Ladies' Home Journal! 91% more women's page editors than chose any other woman's publication preferred the Journal! Are these professional news seekers right? The women of America are confirming their judgment every month . . . at the rate of 400 new buyers a day for the last 1000 days! And 60% of these new readers are buying their copies at newsstands. Why? Because the vitality and depth of this new type of JOURNALism is attracting a new type of woman's readership. A readership vitally interested in what's new—what's important to them—in the market place, home, nation and world.

THE CZECHS SUBMIT.

At this distance, the decision of the men in the Czech government to submit to Hitler without resort to arms seemed inevitable, but that fact only emphasizes the tragedy of their situation.

The cards were stacked against them. When Hitler stood by Mussolini in the Ethiopian crisis experienced observers suspected that some sort of deal had been made, but its terms were not known. We now know, at least in part, what Hitler got for his help. It was a free hand in Czechoslovakia and probably in Austria as well. There is little reason to suppose that Mussolini welcomed the presence of the German army on the other side of the Brenner pass from his German minority, but in the absence of clear evidence to the contrary it may be assumed that even that was part of the bargain which Hitler exacted. About Czechoslovakia there can be no doubt at all.

The Czechs foresaw their danger, but thought they were protected by ironclad alliances. When the crisis came they were deserted and, as if to add the final humiliation, were ordered by their betrayers to waste no time in accepting the fate which had been prepared for them.

The alternative was a war, single handed against an immensely more powerful enemy and his allies, a war in which the chances of defeat were overwhelming. If the Czechs fought and were beaten they could expect to lose even more than Hitler had exacted.

Even so it was a hard decision to reach. The Czech army is a good one and is perhaps the best equipped in the world. The frontier is strongly fortified. There was an outside chance that the invader could be resisted long enough to break him, for the German economic position is far from strong. Wishful thinking is always easy and the Czechs might readily have yielded to the idea that if they held out for a few months their former allies would have been shamed into supporting them.

More than that, the present leaders of Czechoslovakia must have recognized that by refusing to go to war they would undermine their own political fortunes. Men who lead their country into humiliation, however helpless they may be to avert it, cannot expect to retain their hold on public opinion now or in the future. History glorifies the national heroes who risked war against overwhelming force; it remembers the names of such men as Leonidas, the Maccabees, and Arnold von Winkelried because they fought bravely against heavy odds; it even glorifies those who miscalculated their chances against a stronger enemy and were defeated. The names of those who refused to plunge their countries into hopeless war are forgotten.

Mr. Benes and his associates deserve a better fate though it is not likely they will enjoy it. They might have condemned tens of thousands of their countrymen to suffering and death and their cities to destruction in a war the outcome of which was almost certain to be defeat and disaster. Probably they sacrificed their own careers in doing so, but they did not allow their disappointment and indignation at their betrayal to overcome their judgment. There should be a special place in history for such men.

MORE HELP FOR HINES.

The services of Ferdinand Pecora, the Roosevelt-Tammany judge, to Jimmy Hines, the Roosevelt-Tammany boss, were not ended when Pecora declared a mistrial on a technicality in Hines' trial for gambling conspiracy.

Pecora on Tuesday granted Prosecutor Dewey's petition that retrial of the Hines case be shifted to another court. But he retained jurisdiction in the cases of Dixie Davis, the gang lawyer, and Schoenhaus and Weinberg, the two gangsters who pleaded guilty and testified against Hines.

Under the law the three state's witnesses are liable to a maximum sentence of twenty-five years on their pleas of guilty. It has long been a practice, thoroughly sanctioned by public opinion, that the criminal who admits guilt and assists the prosecution of his confederates has a claim to lenience when he appears for sentence.

The law of evidence recognizes the practice in holding that confessions of accomplices are to be taken with reservation unless supported by other testimony. This is a proper precaution on behalf of the defendant against perjury by accomplices to save their own skins.

But what interpretation can be placed on the action of Justice Pecora in retaining the right to punish the co-defendants on whose testimony the case against Hines depends? Can there be any other than that it is an effort to intimidate prosecution witnesses? The threat is present and inescapable. It could not be more clear if the justice had called Davis, Schoenhaus, and Weinberg before him and said:

"Don't forget, you'll be back here."

This outrage against orderly processes of justice sheds the light of example on the untenable theories of the Los Angeles Bar association. In seeking to have the Los Angeles Times punished for contempt of court the lawyers of that town contend that any newspaper comment on a case must be withheld until the case is closed, the last petition for rehearing disposed of.

Of what value would such comment be after trial of the Hines case? If the witnesses bowed to the implied threat, garbled or refused their stories, the defendant would then be free. Any miscarriage of justice would be complete and irrevocable. The time for comment is when error can still be remedied.

O'CONNOR LOSES AND WINS.

The defeat in the Democratic primary of John J. O'Connor, running for renomination to congress in the 16th New York district, was not unexpected. At that, the vote was close. Mr. O'Connor seems to have lost by fewer than 600 in a Democratic total of 16,000. He won the Republican nomination with a thousand votes to spare.

The result was not unexpected because the country has come to realize that New York is anything but a typical American city. The percentage of foreign born in its population is higher than in most American communities but in other cities the foreign born think like Americans. In New York they, and the native born as well, tend to think like foreigners. That accounts for the communist victory in New York over O'Connor.

The communists of New York are determined to dominate the Democratic party not only in their own community but everywhere else in the country. With Mr. Roosevelt's help they managed to defeat Mr. O'Connor but in the other states in which they attempted to purge the Democratic party they failed.

Mr. O'Connor's defeat as a Democrat will remove him from his position of power as chairman of the rules committee even if he is elected as a Republican in November. But the committee, even with a return to power of the Democrats, will not be a rubber stamp for Mr. Roosevelt. Seven of the ten Democratic members refused to accept the President's dictation in the last session. Of the seven, Driver of Arkansas and O'Connor have been defeated. The other five have been renominated despite the President's opposition, openly expressed in some instances and evident in all. Smith of Virginia beat young Dodd in Virginia. Cox of Georgia, Clark of North Carolina, Dies of Texas, and Lewis of Colorado have all been renominated. They have been confirmed in their independence of Mr. Roosevelt and it is to be expected that the Republicans on the committee will join with them when they oppose him. O'Connor was defeated but the rules committee remains anti-Roosevelt.

FIXED BRIDGES.

Chicago is again petitioning the war department for permission to replace outmoded spans with fixed bridges over little used portions of the Chicago river. The bridges involved in the latest move are those carrying Fullerton and Diversey avenues over the north branch of the river.

The city contends that the war department has not considered the north branch navigable above North avenue for nearly twenty years. The last channel dredging above that point was done in 1919, and the river is no longer open to large cargo carriers. Trafic is confined to sand boats and pleasure craft, both of which can be designed to pass under fixed bridges. Even they use the upper reaches of the north branch less than once in three days.

The saving to the city will be considerable if it is allowed to substitute fixed bridges for the worn out bridges which have to be replaced. Engineers place this at $1,635,000 in construction costs plus an annual saving of $46,800 in operating costs on the two new bridges alone. There would be a still further saving due to elimination of bridgetenders on the bridges farther north.

There was a day, before the railroad, the paved highway, and the motor truck, when water was the paramount channel of trade. Its importance has been decreasing for three-quarters of a century, and in the instance presented to the war department is negligible.

The burocratic mind, however, is slow to change. Because water transportation once held the right of way it often is held still to possess it, long after justifying circumstances have vanished. It is to be hoped that in the pending case the war department engineers will bring their thinking up to date, relieving the city of an unnecessary burden of expense and its citizens of unjustified interruption of highway trafic.

AMERICAN WOMEN TALLER.

[Boston Herald.]

German and Italian propagandists delight in talking about the "degeneracy of the American race." While avoiding the difficult question of whether there is any such thing as the American race, it is possible to cite simple scientific data showing there is no such thing as "degeneracy." Americans may have fewer children than their German and Italian contemporaries, but the children they do have are likely to be taller and stronger than themselves.

Because most educational institutions keep comprehensive files on their students, comparison between several generations of college students has been fairly easy to make. A study made recently at four women's colleges—Vassar, Wellesley, Smith, and Mount Holyoke—showed that daughters of former students were about one and one-eighth inches taller than their mothers. The 1935 graduating class at Barnard averaged half an inch taller than the class of 1925.

A more comprehensive study has shown that American-born descendants of immigrants are usually larger than their parents. The Metropolitan Life Insurance company's statistical bulletin, while conceding that its records do not indicate any perceptible increase in the height of its women policy holders, believes that its figures are influenced by the large immigration of short people from eastern and southern Europe in the pre-war period, and, "all considered, it is likely that in the course of a generation the average height of women in the population as a whole will show a substantial increase."

This trend in the size of American women is, of course, paralleled by a similar development among men. Although the reasons are admittedly conjectural, the principal ones undoubtedly are better food and care in infancy and childhood, greater protection against disease, and more healthful exercise. Whatever the Jeremiahs may think or say, all available evidence indicates that Americans of 1988 will be taller, stronger, and generally more vigorous than Americans of 1938.

PORTRAIT OF ANY PURGER.

The numerous reformers, purgers, New Dealers, economic planners, and Utopian crackpots who are abroad in the world have been neatly sketched in the following excerpt from the fiction of John Buchan, written in 1928:

> They are the rootless stuff in the world today, in revolt against everything and everybody with any ancestry. They have a kind of innocent self-righteousness, wanting to be the people with whom wisdom begins and ends. They are mostly sensitive and tender hearted, but they wear themselves out in an eternal dissidence. . . . To tackle the future, you must have a firm grasp of the past, and for them the past is only a pathological curiosity. They're up to their necks in the mud of the present.

This quotation comes from "The Runagates Club." John Buchan has a deft and scholarly hand at tall tales of adventure, which we find quite refreshing when weary of Linemastering. He is also known among our neighbors across the northern border as Lord Tweedsmuir, governor general of Canada.

CRY OF THE UNEMPLOYED.

Let me walk proudly with a step like those
Who earn their daily bread, nor name as mine
The fault of this privation; though who knows
Enough to place the blaming? Fate's design
Some call it, while the smaller jackals whine
About the heels of greatness. Labor throws
The blame at Progress. I alone decline
To curse or comment, though rebellion grows
Within me. Prithee keep its fire down
And grant me grateful for the smallest crumbs
That I receive. My head may wear a crown
Of thorns, but let me march as though to drums.
I shall have need of this when hope has fled
And my small faith in you, O Lord, is dead.

Great Cornbread Controversy.

A contributor's recent request for "cornbread without sugar" reminds me of a vacation incident:

We halted for a day to visit at a friend's summer home. The hostess asked me to stir up some cornbread, handing me a homemade selected recipe book. I remarked: "This is the recipe I've been looking for—no sugar." To which she replied, "Why, I got that from your mother!"

In sun and rain and sleet,
Stands faithfully before a shop

And dingy is the store,

They all need paint and more.

Stoical, stern, forbidding,
Eyes distant as the stars;
Can he be ashamed at holding,
Not peace pipe but cigars?

Does he think of ancient glory
Before the white men's laws?
Of antelope, wide prairies,
Of tepees and fat squaws?

By a different, prideful shine

Eugene Field and the Filliloo Bird.

Respecting the origin of the Filliloo bird, I offer the following: In 1881 I was a reporter on the old Kansas City Journal. The boys on the paper often spoke of a benefit given by the newspaper folk the winter before, proceeds to go to the distressed of the city. This was managed by Eugene Field and took the form of a circus menagerie.

A series of cages was constructed and in each one was a newspaper man representing a wild animal or bird. Mr. Field gave a description of each in his inimitable way while an attendant prodded them with a pole and they responded with imitations, howls and screams, etc.

Among these was a Filliloo bird, and Mr. Field's description of its life and habits was excruciatingly funny. I am wondering whether this was not a product of the noted humorist's brain, and that this was the origin of the fantastic Filliloo bird. Arthur A. Hargrave.

VITAMIN D FOR ACNE.

OUR old nuisance, acne, pops up every little while and demands attention because, in the first place, so many are afflicted; and, second, because its lesions are so unsightly. It is one of our commonest skin disorders and scores of persons have occasion to remember the period when they were beset as some scars remain. Essentially a disease of youth, it may become a handicap to earning a livelihood. Almost any one can recognize the ailment at sight—the greasy, oily skin, studded with reddish pimples, some with tiny yellow caps containing pus.

Despite efforts which have been made to conquer the malady, there is no specific cure. A plan which may be beneficial with one individual will fail utterly with another. Dieting alone has not occasioned many recoveries, although some cases of food sensitivity have been helped through the elimination of certain foodstuffs. Regardless of whether starches and sugars are reduced or not, pimples usually continue to appear.

Since the outbreak comes on about the time of puberty, much study has been given to the possibility of glandular disturbances, and pituitary extract has been resorted to with some success, but without permanent effects.

Because pus is present, a bacterial infection of the cuticle is thought to be a factor, but here again the value of vaccine therapy is transitory and uncertain. More good has come from local treatment—ointments or lotions—or the injection of some particular chemical. For example, sulphur has been found to be of assistance while colloidal manganese has given excellent results. Ultraviolet light and X-rays have been employed but, unfortunately, progress may not last long and a relapse is likely to occur. Furthermore, there is always the danger that the dose may be great enough to injure the healthy epidermis. Should X-ray be given it must be at the hands of an expert.

Some time ago the suggestion was made that vitamin D [viosterol] would be useful. Many patients subjected to this régime have given substantial evidence of enhanced nutrition and well being. Perhaps the advantage may be ascribed to its reaction upon the metabolism of calcium and phosphorus. At any rate, a high percentage of those with acne—under a diet supplemented with viosterol—will improve and some will recover completely.

In a recent report on this type of management, M. T. R. Maynard cites 132 cases, 75 per cent of which were either relieved entirely or aided markedly within three months. One of his patients, a young lady 18 years old, had suffered from acne for two years and complained of being tired constantly. A daily dose of twenty drops of viosterol was ordered. Within three weeks she had gained three pounds in weight, with some amelioration of the skin condition. Two months later the blemishes were practically healed and by the end of another three months all symptoms had vanished.

Sometimes the viosterol was combined with X-ray or certain soothing coatings to the surface of the body. Maynard's dose varied from twenty to forty drops a day and, as far as could be determined, no untoward consequences ensued. The only word of caution comes relative to taking an excess of the vitamin, but there is slight danger of this with the relatively small amounts recommended. It is believed that 200 drops in each twenty-four hours may be imbibed safely by young adults. Should nausea, dizziness, or tingling sensations in the extremities become manifest, the quantity may be decreased somewhat.

The general physical improvement brought on by the viosterol is no doubt responsible for the disappearance of the blemishes. Almost without exception there followed an increase in appetite, added absorption of food, and a greater sense of alertness. In other words, we are presented with another instance of raising the level of resistance, thus overcoming disease.

OVERWEIGHT CHILD.

M. E. writes: Should the overweight child reduce?

REPLY.

Much depends on the number of the surplus pounds. Five per cent, possibly 10, above the average may be disregarded, but 25 per cent calls for some dietary and exercise regulation. Occasionally the endocrine gland output should be studied, as some instances are known in which the thyroid gland has failed to produce its proper quota of internal secretion.

PROBABLY NOT PYORRHEA.

J. B. writes: My gums are soft, swollen, and bleed easily. I am 16 years old. Do you think I have pyorrhea?

REPLY.

I doubt it. The chances are that you have either a mouth infection or a vitamin deficiency. Use a balanced diet, with an excess quantity of vitamin C or B or both—tomatoes, lemonade, orange and grapefruit juice, brewer's yeast, etc.

NO EFFECT ON HEART.

W. B. writes: Does the rhythm of the intestinal contractions have any effect on the rate of the heart beat?

REPLY.

No.

ANCIENT ESTATES.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Would you be kind enough to advise me if there is a possibility of a supposed will, made between Astors and Black, fur traders in Alaska about ninety-nine years ago, which created a trust expiring in ninety-nine years, being of value at this time. Where could we go to find out about the will? My husband passed away over a year ago and kept telling me all the time to keep my ears open as I was entitled to a share of whatever was coming to him from this estate. V. C.

It is almost the invariable rule that where organized efforts are made to induce the supposed heirs of ancient estates to contribute to litigation to establish the dormant claims that the only persons benefitting by such contributions are the organizers and attorneys. We have no specific information as to the estate mentioned in your letter, but we strongly advise you not to contribute money merely on the basis of assurance made by the organizers and attorneys.

We suggest that you test their sincerity and confidence of success by asking them to buy your interest.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Attention, world! Bow your heads in shame, for justice is dead! It must be dead—for Czechoslovakia, the supreme land of democracy and the most progressive European nation, is being offered upon the sacrificial altar to the modern Moloch.

And world, listen! Have you no conscience? Can we stand aside for a theatrical puppet who has no education, no honorable ideals? Is there no one with that unquenchable spirit of bravery except Czechoslovaks to help her in her just cause?

HANDS OFF SLOVAKIA!

Chicago, Sept. 18.—It's interesting to see how Hungary is trying to create a lot of world sympathy for supposed grievances caused by the peace treaties. THE TRIBUNE recently published a long article about Hungary which sounded much like a lot of propaganda.

It is really the loss of Slovakia which grieves Hungary most, and it is the return of fertile Slovakia principally which Hungary wants to gain by revision of the treaties. Yet Hungary never had a right to possess Slovakia. It was the cruel treatment of the Slovaks by the Hungarians which led the Slovaks to rise and break away from Hungary and its unjust régime when the first opportunity presented itself. There still are several thousand Slovaks in present day Hungary who are subjected to the same mistreatment more or less as were all the Slovaks under Hungarian rule. This, plus the memories of past insults, removes all possibilities that Hungary would ever gain the love of the Slovaks.

WORKERS AT SEWING PROJECT.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Replying to your article on the sewing project at 510 East 51st street. There are no women ever there who were so ignorant as to not know how to thread a needle. They all may not have known how to run power machines, but they really have learned and are efficient. The kindly superintendent and her assistants have all worked hard to build a record there. The garments are nice and well made—not fine, but useful ones. The workers know they are serving humanity on a large scale. They are not loafing; they take pride in and do their work well. That is, the majority. Fifty-first street has made a good record. Visitors, white and colored, have been there and shown all over the building and have given words of encouragement and praise.

MORE ABOUT PENNSYLVANIA DUTCH.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—A correspondent asks about the origin of the Pennsylvania Dutch!

They are German and Swiss. The first group, consisting of thirteen families, arrived on Oct. 6, 1683. They settled in what was then the remote wilderness, but on land which is now the twenty-second ward of the city of Philadelphia; it still bears the name Germantown.

The next group came to New York in 1710 from England, whither they had been driven by the repeated devastation of their lands during the war of the Spanish succession. Dissatisfied in New York, where they had settled in the vale of the Schoharie, they left their homes there, floated down the Susquehanna and settled in what now is Dauphin county.

The third group was the Mennonites from Berne. Because they would not enlist in the army they were asked to move to some other land. They came to Pennsylvania in 1711 and thereafter.

The fourth group was known as redemptioners. They were young men and women without money. They entered into contracts with ships' masters, binding themselves to work for whoever bought their contracts until they had redeemed themselves. The usual term was three years.

The Hessian soldiers captured at Trenton were "imprisoned" in the Dutchland. But they were permitted to work for the farmers. Many of them married local girls and merged with the population. There were, of course, many others.

The name "Dutch" came to them from the English corruption of "Deutsch," the name by which they distinguished themselves.

WHERE IS THE MELTING POT?

Chicago, Sept. 18.—In critical times such as these it seems to me that, in the interests of public safety, it would be an excellent move to abolish at once and for all time all foreign language broadcasts and all foreign language newspapers in this country. By this I do not mean we should impose a censorship or rob any one of the right of free speech. Such a state of affairs would be unthinkable.

The great variety of imported languages we permit to flourish—Czech, German, Polish, Italian, Yiddish, French, to name a few—are used by these groups in preference to the official language of their adopted country, the United States. How are we to know what propaganda is being disseminated among our so-called hyphenated Americans? What fuel is being heaped upon the burning hatreds imported from the old world? We, the majority, do not know.

The melting pot is a misnomer. We still go in heavily for individual casseroles. WALTER BARTKY.

THE CASE FOR THE NEGROES.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—I have just read your article entitled "Green Pastures of the W. P. A. Entice Negroes to City." Obviously, some of the facts you have related are not only true, but offer a sad commentary on those who are responsible largely for the plight of this lower scale Negro to whom you have referred. There is a reason for this shift on the part of the Negro, but please get this: the Negro, at least in mind and aspiration, is no different from any other element here. He feels he has earned his niche in America and is entitled to all the privileges under the constitution; that his race by many thousands has lifted itself up from the mire and crucible of trouble by its philosophy and wit.

Negroes, like other Americans, have learned to "play the game." Often they do things now for the sake of political expediency. Deep down in their hearts they are still Republicans. But how can they help but cringe and duck when even big business is smiling and "taking it" on the chin from the New Deal?

The shortage of domestic help in the south caused by Negro migration is due essentially to unfair wages, social and civic injustices.

The press and the pulpit can go a long way in helping to blot out these conditions. There is much to be done and the problem is not "Colored."

WILLIAM A. BOOKER.

WHERE THE TRAFIC JAMS ARE.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—After reading Congress street highway publicity for months it was gratifying to see an article in THE TRIBUNE favoring the northwest superhighway. I drive to the loop every day from a point near Foster and Milwaukee avenues, and I have tried every available route, but the best time I can make is about 35 minutes down Foster avenue and the outer drive. If the Congress street sponsors wish to see a real trafic jam, let them try to get to the loop some morning from my home. Elston, Milwaukee, Foster, Irving Park, Cicero, Pulaski, etc., all are jammed by northwest siders trying to get to the loop. It is my kind who cause the trafic jams that occur on the north and west sides; take the northwest trafic away from west side and north side streets and there will be no necessity for any superhighways there.

The saving in life and limb alone would make the northwest superhighway a worthy project.

BEG YOUR PARDON.

Several letters have been received correcting and supplementing statements in the recent editorial, "Memorial on Mud Creek," which dealt with the Chicago portage. Stanley K. Faye of Aurora points out that it was Joliet, not La Salle, who first proposed the "little ditch" linking Great Lakes to Gulf. Henry Raymond Hamilton of Oak Park reminds us that Marquette and Joliet first traversed the portage eastward, having made their trip west to the Mississippi through Wisconsin, and that the Black Partridge monument formerly marking the site of the Fort Dearborn massacre has been moved to the Chicago Historical society.

G.O.P. ONLY HOPE FOR U. S. LABOR, WOMEN ARE TOLD

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

The American labor movement, split open by the Roosevelt administration, can look only to the Republican party to meet its future needs.

Mrs. Zereita Peace, a member of the Woman's Trade Union league, so declared yesterday before the Republican women of Cook county in conference at the La Salle hotel. She warned of the scheme to amalgamate the Socialist party, the state and county labor groups, and the Non-Partisan league into one large labor party.

"Labor has received a dirty deal from politics," she said. "It needs a political party. The Roosevelt administration will lose its vote in the next election. This new party, labor's Non-Partisan league, is John Lewis' plan to retain votes which would never go to any party he was openly dominating. Investigate for yourselves. You will find labor's Non-Partisan league officiated by C. I. O. evangelists, if not their paid organizers."

"The Republican party came into being to emancipate labor. We are the stumbling block in the path of the isms now so apparently in control of the other party."

Lauds Party Unity.

Mrs. Mabel Krutchoff, chairman woman's division of the county central committee, presided at two sessions yesterday. She appealed to the women to forget petty jealousies and work together.

Her plea was repeated by Edward F. Moore, Cook county chairman, who declared that there was more unity in the Republican party in the state today than ever in the party's history.

Miss B. Fain Tucker, attorney, was the afternoon's other speaker. Her subject was "Women and the Probate Court."

The morning's principal speaker was Attorney Patrick B. Prescott Jr., a former assistant corporation counsel, whose topic was "The New Frontiers." Declaring that the totalitarian states which seek to engulf the world hold no menace for America while the constitution lives, he asserted:

"It is for the women of America to preserve this liberty no less than it is for the men. They are the idealists of the world . . . the mothers of men.

Their task and their challenge is for the preservation of the heritage of liberty which was left by our forefathers. Their task is on the new frontier of freedom. They cannot fail."

Nixon to Speak Today.

The study conference will be continued at 10 o'clock today, when George F. Nixon, Republican candidate for the county board, will speak on housing and taxes. He will share the platform with Mrs. Arthur Rice, who will discuss the place women hold in other countries, and Beryl Krutckoff, whose topic will be "Propaganda and the Theater."

Wiley B. Garvin, candidate for superintendent of public instruction, and Miss Kathryn M. Ford, past co-chairman of the Young Republican National federation, will be afternoon speakers. A dinner tonight for men and women will conclude the program.

IOWA OFFICIAL KILLS SELF.

Humboldt, Ia., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—R. L. Whitman, 40 years old, Humboldt county recorder, was found dead in his auto near here last night. He had shot himself in the heart, Coroner J. K. Coddington said today.

Held by Police

LEO MILLER.

Leo Miller, 26 years old, a WPA worker, was held yesterday for the alleged rape of a young woman crippled by infantile paralysis. A charge will be placed against him today and he will be arraigned in the Felony court tomorrow.

The woman said she was on her way home from church Tuesday night when Miller drove alongside in his car and offered her a ride. She refused, she said, but was dragged into the car. Miller threw her crutches on the back seat and drove to 1315 South Peoria street, she said.

There he carried her up to a friend's flat and assaulted her twice, she charged. Miller was found by police asleep in his car in front of his home at 2915 West Adams street. He is married. He admitted taking her to the Peoria street flat, but denied that he had forced his attentions upon her.

Lyons Will Be Speaker at De Kalb G. O. P. Rally

De Kalb, Ill., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Richard J. Lyons, Republican senatorial nominee, and others on the state ticket will speak at a 12th district Republican rally here next Wednesday. The meeting was planned originally for only organization workers in the district, but because of the insistent demands of people in the community to hear Lyons, the county executive committee today made plans for the public rally.

HUNT TWO MORE WHO PLOTTED PRIGNANO DEATH

A vigorous search was being conducted yesterday for two of the four men who plotted and carried out the murder of State Representative Albert J. Prignano on Dec. 29, 1935. Prignano was shot down in front of his home at 722 Bunker [now Grenshaw] street.

Two of the plotters, Michael Novak and Henry Zelanowski, have confessed their parts in the killing. They blamed two men known as Mike and Jimmy as the actual plotters. Mike, they declared, fired the shots that caused the political leader's death.

Among the investigators the belief grew that the motive for the slaying was not robbery. Novak and Zelanowski asserted they were asked only to help in a holdup, and that they were surprised when the man called Mike killed Prignano. The police guess is that political enemies erased Prignano, who was Democratic committeeman of the 20th ward.

WOMEN VICTIMS SEND HANDSOME INVENTOR TO JAIL

Women who might have enjoyed the runless stockings Charles A. Body planned to make from cocoanut husks sent him to jail yesterday. They still thought the runless stockings would be nice. But they had the handsome gray haired inventor arrested because they got no profits from the certificates he sold them in his company.

Body pleaded guilty to a charge of selling unregistered stock subscriptions in violation of the blue sky law. Judge Albert E. Isley of Newton, sitting in the County court, imposed a six month sentence. The prosecution was based on the complaint of Mrs. Hulda Finlayson of 5739 Roosevelt road that Body sold her $4,630 worth of certificates.

Evanston Votes Saturday on Bonds for High School

The Evanston township high school board announced last night that an election will be held Saturday on a proposed $300,000 bond issue for a new auditorium. The $300,000 represents 55 per cent of the cost. The balance is expected to be granted by the Public Works administration, which has tentatively approved the project.

HIGHWAY EXPERT TELLS NEED FOR ELEVATED ROADS

Advantages Are Cited by Van Wagoner.

BY HAL FOUST.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, Michigan highway commissioner, came to Chicago yesterday in his capacity as a promoter. As president of the American Road Builders' association it is his job to seek to crystalize public opinion in favor of safer and more efficient streets and highways.

"For metropolitan construction," he said, "elevated highways are a certain eventuality. Society cannot continue to tolerate the heavy loss of life from heavy streams of automobile trafic over grade streets. New York has demonstrated the value of the elevated design.

Suggests German Type.

"Between large centers of population, such as between Detroit and Chicago, we need superhighways of the German autobahn type, free of cross roads and with opposing trafic movements separated physically. Our delays and accidents on the present pavements are more costly than the expense of modernization."

Van Wagoner was interviewed as he was completing an address to be delivered this noon before the National Association of Motor Bus Operators, in convention in the Congress hotel.

"Terminal facilities," reads his manuscript, "must be developed where superhighways approach the business districts of our larger cities. This has created a serious problem in such cities as Detroit and Chicago.

Sees But One Solution.

"Several different solutions have been proposed for this problem. It is probable that the one finally adopted will be the constructed of elevated highways in the congested areas of our metropolitan centers.

"Elevated highways can be built so that they will not shut off the light on the street below, and they will not damage abutting property. They automatically eliminate all intersections, automatically eliminate collisions between automobiles and between pedestrians and automobiles."

At the bus operators' convention yesterday Marcus Dow of Cleveland reported that fatal accidents involving bus lines have been reduced 56 per cent in the last ten years, while fatal accidents involving private automobiles have increased 47 per cent. For this improvement by the mass carriers, he credited the companies' close supervision over their employés. The association reëlected A. M. Hill of Charleston, W. Va., president.

ILLINOIS POLICE OFFICIALS HEAR FEDERAL AGENTS

Federal, state, and county law enforcement officials yesterday addressed the annual convention of the Illinois Police association which met in Chicago Heights. More than 250 cities, towns, and villages were represented.

The speakers included Warden Joseph E. Ragen of Stateville penitentiary at Joliet; P. G. Drautzburg of the United States secret service; D. M. Ladd, special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley.

Arrangements for the meeting were handled by Police Commissioner John M. Gansen and Sergt. Paul Kasdorf.

BUS DRIVER HELD TO GRAND JURY ON BIGAMY CHARGE

George Tanrath, an interstate bus driver, was ordered held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of bigamy after Mrs. Alice Turkiss Tanrath declared his fifth marriage, to her, never was dissolved. Wilma Phillips, 19 years old, his sixth wife, whom he married July 30, was released on her own bond pending a hearing Oct. 27 on a disorderly conduct charge placed against her to hold her as a witness. She was arrested with Tanrath at 4329 Madison street after Mrs. Alice Tanrath told police that George had five wives. His first divorced him. Tanrath, whose bond was set at $5,000, said he had been married only five times.

Charles E. Carey Dies at 82; Court Clerk Seven Times

Manitowoc, Wis., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Charles E. Carey, 82 years old, former court clerk here, died last night of heart disease at his home in Mariaette. He first was elected clerk in 1905 and served two years. In 1910 he was appointed by the governor to serve an unexpired term as sherif. In 1920 he again was elected court clerk and served six terms, retiring in December, 1932. He left here almost three years ago.

Railway Surgeons Elect Three Chicago Officials

Three Chicagoans were elected officials of the American Association of Railway Surgeons at the close of the annual convention here yesterday. They are Dr. L. Hansen, treasurer; Dr. D. B. Moss, secretary, and Dr. Onis H. Horrall, assistant secretary. Dr. M. A. Tinley of Council Bluffs, Ia., was elected president.

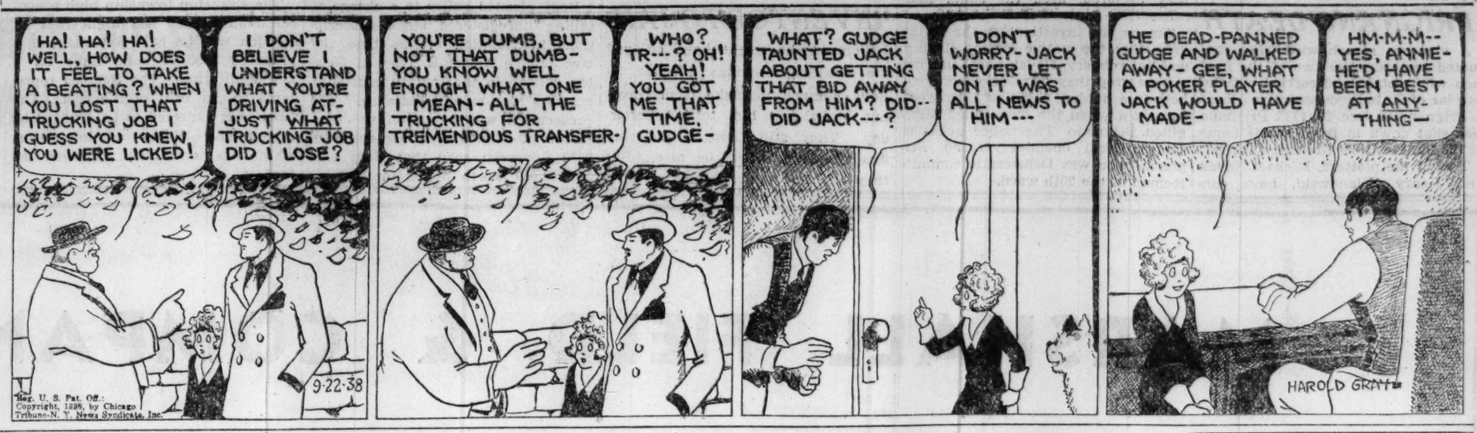
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: From the Dead-Pan Into the Liar?



Four Lane Highway

Route of the new four lane highway which Indiana will build.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—A super-highway costing $1,000,000 will be built from South Bend to a point east of Michigan City next summer, T. A. Dicus, chairman of the state highway commission, said today.

The four lane highway will be constructed in two sections. The first will follow state route 2 from South Bend to the intersection of U. S. 20 north of La Porte and consist of twenty-two foot strips separated by a parkway. From that point a forty-two foot roadway with center lane dividers will follow U. S. 20 to the Clover Leaf intersection at state route 212, east of Michigan City.

Earlier plans to build the highway on a direct route north of the existing right-of-way were abandoned because of mucky soil and the cost of filling, Dicus said. The type of material—concrete, brick or asphalt—will be determined by contractors' bids, a mandatory procedure.

VOLIVA WINS SUIT TO KEEP NAME OF RELIGIOUS PAPER

Judge Ralph J. Dady of the Lake County Circuit court yesterday issued an injunction restraining the Rev. Guy K. Neal, pastor of the Zion Gospel tabernacle, from publishing a religious newspaper under the title, Leaves of Healing.

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic church, sought the injunction. Voliva formerly published the paper, which was founded by the late John Alexander Dowie in 1888, but suspended publication in 1934. Now Voliva wants to resume publication.

Neal, formerly a leader in Voliva's church, won a partial victory. Voliva wanted him enjoined from using three Biblical quotations which appear on the masthead of the paper. Judge Dady held that Neal or any one else could properly use passages from the Bible.

BOWL OF CEREAL LEADS TO A SPAT, THEN A DIVORCE

Because her first marriage had been unhappy, Mrs. Pearl Rice wanted her second to be doubly happy. But a few months after she and Clyde Rice were married at Crown Point, he struck her, she told Judge Robert C. O'Connell yesterday. He did it, she said, because she protested when Rice took a bowl of cereal away from her child by her first marriage. Mrs. Rice's attorney, Victor Frohlich, said it wasn't the only time Rice struck her. Judge O'Connell gave her a divorce. Mrs. Rice, 27 years old, lives at 5459 South Marshfield avenue.

Commerce Commission Grants Bus Line Delay

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday extended the date for beginning of feeder bus service in Halsted street between 87th and 123d streets from Oct. 1 to Oct. 23. The Chicago Surface Lines asked for the delay because the new buses will not be delivered by the manufacturer before Oct. 15.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rogan Dies; Rockford Editor's Mother

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Elizabeth Rogan, 84 years old, of 604 College avenue, died today at St. Anthony hospital after an illness of several months. She was the daughter of pioneer settlers. A son, Robert F. Rogan, is managing editor of the Register-Republic here.

Light Up in Courthouse to Honor Campbell Heir

Cigar smoke was thick yesterday in the United States courthouse. This was because E. Riley Campbell, attorney for the internal revenue department, followed tradition and passed out cigars announcing the birth on Monday of James Sargent Campbell in the Evanston hospital.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

CROSSING GATES TRAP AUTO; TWO KILLED BY TRAIN

East Chicago Man and Wife Are Victims.

A man and his wife were killed yesterday when their automobile was hit by an eastbound Pennsylvania railroad train at the Watling street crossing in East Chicago. They were Lester Surber, 34 years old, and his wife Violet, 30. Their home was at 4214 Euclid avenue, East Chicago. The gatekeeper told police the car was trapped between the gates when he lowered them.

Two Marquette university students were seriously injured yesterday when their automobile left Skokie highway, near Old Elm road in Lake Forest, and tore down through the small trees in the center parkway before it stopped. They are Ogden Frazier, 19 years old, and Kenneth A. Hatteberg, 22, both of Iowa City, Ia. They were bound for Milwaukee. Frazier was driving. He suffered possible internal injuries. Hatteberg may have a fractured skull. Both are in Alice Home hospital, Lake Forest.

Car Overturns; Driver Escapes.

Hymen Rubenstein, 35, of 624 Independence boulevard, escaped injury when he failed to notice a parkway, blocked off by wooden posts, at Ogden avenue and Fry street. His car bounced off a light standard, ricocheted from an electric light pole to a telephone pole, then ripped down thirty feet of fence and tipped over in a front yard at 1062 Fry street, five feet below the Ogden avenue sidewalk.

In a freak accident on the North Halsted street bridge, Louis S. Bressler, 51, of 3638 Lake Shore drive, suffered a fractured jaw and internal injuries. Bressler, president of the Boysen Bakery company, 1001 Chicago avenue, told police that he was driving south across the bridge when the south half began to rise and his automobile ran into it. Maurice Johnson, bridgetender, stopped the bridge from rising further. He said he had received the "all clear" signal before starting the mechanism.

Hit-Run Victim Identified.

A pedestrian fatally injured Saturday night when struck by a hit-run driver at Elizabeth and Madison streets was identified yesterday as Gustave Gabrielson, 40, of 1744 North Hermitage avenue.

Harry Feldman, 52 years old, 3125 Douglas boulevard, died last night in the Mount Sinai hospital of injuries suffered Sunday when he was struck by an automobile at Spaulding avenue and Roosevelt road. John Knitter, 1229 South Spaulding avenue, was the driver.

Jacob Hemminger, 67 years old, 3307 Cuyler avenue, died last night of injuries received last Saturday at Irving Park road and Spaulding avenue when he was struck by an automobile driven by Thomas Kelly, 3050 North Cicero avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 578 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 443 were killed in Chicago, where 14,165 were injured in the same period.

Leaves Hospital, Killed by Train in 'L' Yards

Fred Kold, 58 years old, 1124 Wilson avenue, was killed last night by an elevated train in the Linden avenue yards at Wilmette. Railroad employés said he was lying on the tracks. According to the police Kold left the Alexian Brothers hospital at 3 p. m.

REVEAL RACINE WEDDING USHER KILLED HIMSELF

Racine, Wis., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Wallace Forrest MacGregor, 28 years old, whose death Sept. 9 was reported as accidental, in reality committed suicide by shooting himself through the head. This was revealed today when the death certificate was filed with the board of health.

MacGregor, the night before his death, had served as an usher at the wedding of his cousin, John Hand, and Margaret Modine. He was found unconscious on his bed the next morning, still fully clothed.

Coroner E. B. Yanny at that time said he evidently had slipped on a rug, struck his head on the steel bed, and fractured his skull. Yanny said the family had attempted to keep news of the suicide quiet in order to spare the feelings of his mother, who is ill. But the coroner said he could not falsify official records.

MacGregor was head of the Rajo Auto company. His father is a director of the J. I. Case company. The family is socially prominent.

ELMER HUCKINS, IMPRISONED AS SWINDLER, DEAD

Necedah, Wis., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Elmer S. Huckins, convicted by the federal government of swindling residents of many states out of $2,000,000 or more in a get-rich-quick scheme, is dead. He was buried secretly at his boyhood home here Sunday, it was learned today.

Huckins died in the federal hospital at Springfield, Mo., last Wednesday. He had been serving a 15 year sentence on the swindle charge. Death was due to heart disease and cancer. Prosecutors declared at his Milwaukee trial several years ago that Huckins promised profits of 26 to 52 per cent to investors in his "throwout" cigar business but paid dividends out of funds send to him by other investors.

N. U. Student Pays $5; Speeding Charge Dropped

Russell Crosthwait, a junior at Northwestern university, was discharged by Judge John Gutknecht yesterday in Trafic court after he promised to donate $5 to a fund to aid trafic victims and to visit persons in County hospital injured by reckless drivers. Crosthwait, who is 21 years old, was arrested Aug. 31, for speeding on the Outer drive near 15th street. He lives at the Sigma Chi fraternity house in Evanston.

SUBWAY PLANS TO BE CHANGED IF U. S. REQUESTS

Ald. Quinn Defends City Proposals.

The city is ready to make any practical changes in its subway plans if that is necessary to get a federal grant for part of the cost. Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the city council's committee on local transportation, made this clear yesterday at a meeting of the Chicago Real Estate board.

Quinn defended the city plans for three downtown subways. They were drafted by able engineers and meet a vital transportation need of the city, he asserted.

Await Report This Week.

The city's application for a $14,328,000 federal grant is pending before the Public Works administration. A PWA engineering committee is to complete a report this week on its study of the plans.

"The people of Chicago," Quinn declared, "are entitled to a grant of federal funds for the building of subways. They would greatly benefit the car riding public and the city in general. The initial two track subways we propose can be made an integral part of a great future transportation system.

Two Tracks Held Adequate.

"We do not know what the opinion of the PWA engineering board will be on the matter of two track subways in preference to four track, but our city engineers believe that two track subways are adequate to meet Chicago's needs for many years. I believe I can safely say that other engineers who are familiar with Chicago's transportation problems are of the same opinion.

"Under our plan, all sections of the city would be benefited by improved transit facilities in the central district. Any improvement which provides a freer and faster flow of trafic through the loop area will tend to benefit other sections."

WPA SEEKS WAY TO KEEP 30,000 ON JOBS IN CHICAGO

Officials of the Works Progress administration will confer today in an effort to find jobs for about 30,000 WPA laborers threatened with layoffs because the city lacks money. Funds of the department of public works for payment of skilled workers necessary on some WPA projects were exhausted Monday night. A spokesman for H. K. Seltzer, Chicago WPA head, said the WPA would try to find a way to reopen projects that had been shut down.

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, said he saw no immediate means by which the city could get funds to pay the necessary skilled workmen. The city has asked the Reconstruction Finance corporation for a loan of $3,000,000 to be used for the operation of WPA projects.

MINISTER MAKES GUILTY PLEA TO FORGERY CHARGE

Plymouth, Ind., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—The Rev. Miles Freeman, 31 years old, of Spring Lake, Mich., pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery today before Judge John Kitch in Marshall Circuit court. He admitted forging fictitious names to checks drawn on an Ypsilanti, Mich., bank, which he deposited in a bank at Bremen, Ind.

Freeman's wife and three members of the pastoral committee of his Presbyterian church told Judge Kitch that Freeman had never been in trouble before and that he returned $700 to cover the bank losses. Judge Kitch indicated the clergyman would be given a suspended two year prison sentence and probation unless other crimes were uncovered.

OBITUARIES

James Jones.

Funeral services for James Jones, 95 years old, colored, a civil war veteran, were held yesterday in the chapel at 5845 South State street. His body was taken to Jefferson Barracks, Mo., for a military burial. Mr. Jones died Monday in his home at 6040 May street. For four years of the war he served as a second class fireman in the navy aboard the Ozark. He was a member of a St. Louis G. A. R. post. Hid widow, Lulu, survives.

Robert A. Meier.

Robert A. Meier, father of Judge Robert A. Meier Jr. of Chicago Heights, died yesterday at the age of 85. He had lived for the last five years with the judge at 1417 Campbell avenue in the suburb. He had practiced law in Philadelphia for forty-four years before coming west on his retirement. One other son and a daughter survive. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in Chicago Heights.

Mrs. Mary Reichert Rech.

Mrs. Mary Reichert Rech, 71 years old, died yesterday in her home, 4943 North Hamilton avenue. She had been connected with the headquarters of the Woman's Catholic Order of Foresters for twenty years, and was formerly chief ranger of St. Jeanette court. Surviving are four daughters. The funeral will be held at 9:30 a. m. Saturday from the home to St. Mathias church.

Daniel P. McCartney.

Funeral services for Daniel P. McCartney, 1421 East 75th street, will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow in St. Cyril church, 6426 Dante avenue. Mr. McCartney, who was 70 years old, died Tuesday in the Chicago Home for Incurables. He joined the 149th field artillery in 1916 and served in Mexico and France. Surviving are his widow, Mary; three sons and two daughters.

William P. Rickett.

New York, Sept. 21.—[Special.]—William P. Rickett, certified public accountant, a member of Haskins & Sells for twenty years, died yesterday at Blowing Rock, N. C. In 1901 he joined the Haskins & Sells organization in Chicago, where he was in charge of the office.

SUPREME COURT KNOCKS OUT TAX PREJUDGING LAW

Revised Measure Sought to Meet Objections.

An attempt will be made to draft a new tax law overcoming objections announced by the Illinois Supreme court yesterday when it threw out the 1937 act providing for court confirmation of tax levies in Chicago before tax bills are sent out.

Tax experts said the court decision will be studied with a view to revising the invalidated statute. They were unanimous in saying that the objective of the act—to assure equal treatment to all taxpayers by eliminating illegal levies before billing taxes—was highly desirable and that a substitute measure should be enacted.

Ruling on Test Case.

The court ruled in Springfield on a test case brought by Cook county tax officials. It held the law was unconstitutional because it did not provide for serving adequate notice to taxpayers to enable them to file objections. Every citizen, the court held, is guaranteed notice and hearing under the state constitution.

The preadjudication act, as the measure was called, required the publication of one general notice that a local government was filing its levy with the County court and asking that it be confirmed. The measure applied only to the six major governments in Cook county—city, school board, sanitary district, park district, county and forest preserve districts.

Tax attorneys said that the court's objections might be overcome by fixing in the law the date for filing of the levies with taxpayers given a definite period for filing objections.

With the preadjudication act knocked out, the county taxing machinery will function in the same unsatisfactory manner that it has for many years, the tax experts said. Objections to illegal levies will not be heard until after the bills are payable. The small taxpayer, unable to afford the cost of rate litigations, will have no alternative except to pay the illegal portion of his bill. The large taxpayer who fights the illegal taxes does not have to pay them.

Eliminates Problem for City.

The ruling of the court automatically throws out all 1938 tax levy proceedings conducted this year by County Judge Jarecki. The judge said yesterday that hearing on objections to the 1938 levies will not be held until late in 1939—after the second penalty date on the 1938 bills.

The high court action eliminates the problem which the city government was facing as a result of Judge Jarecki's informal ruling several weeks ago that the 1938 budget was invalid. His ruling was issued under the invalidated law.

If the preadjudication act had been upheld and Judge Jarecki's finding sustained by the Supreme court the city government under state law would have been required to revert to its 1937 budget. The city would have been precluded from spending more than the $53,681,494 appropriated for 1937, or $4,149,483 less than it had appropriated for expenditure this year.

The city, Judge Jarecki held, had erred in making its 1938 budget by illegally including two items of revenue in its estimate of income for the year. These items were $1,000,000 from the contested handbook ordinance and $2,550,000 which the city claimed is due from the county government on a judgment.

Judge Frees Woman with $3,400 Sewed in Her Dress

Miss Angeline Korkec, who had her $3,400 savings sewn in her dress when she was arrested last week, was discharged yesterday by Judge Joseph McGarry when arraigned on a petit larceny charge. She is 40 years old and lives at 3745 South Hermitage avenue. Miss Katherine Kolby, 39, of the same address, was found guilty of taking carpenter tools, trousers and various other articles from John Shotek, 8205 Baltimore avenue, for whom she worked as a housekeeper. She was placed on probation.

MOLESTS BOY; GETS 90 DAYS.

Judge Joseph Graber of the Municipal court yesterday sentenced Erick Daniels, 2525 East 72d street, to ninety days in the Bridewell for molesting a boy, 13 years old, in a theater.

Freighter Sinks When Pulled Off Rocks

evidence to convict handbook operators was started yesterday before Judge Eugene J. Holland. Meanwhile State's Attorney Courtney's ax squads wrecked twelve more gambling joints, raising their total to 218.

The defendants in the test case are Michael Lowe and Arthur Dalfo, arrested Sept. 9 by police of the morals squad in a resort at 4437 Madison street. The arrests were made after the police, seeking to avoid leaving any loophole in the procedure, visited the place the previous day and made bets, took out warants, returned with them, and placed bets again.

Lowe and Dalfo were granted a jury trial, to be held next Tuesday, after Attorney Abe Kretske argued that their constitutional rights had been violated.

Clash Over Statements.

"While this case was pending," he said, "State's Attorney Courtney's ax men seized the defendants and coerced them into making statements against themselves. I want more time to look up the law."

Assistant State's Attorney Clement Dernbach informed the court there had been no coercion.

"I took those statements," he said.

Policeman Patrick J. Clark was in court to testify to the extreme care taken to follow a legal method in gathering evidence against the two men.

Makes Bet, Gets Warant.

"I went into the room at 4437 Madison," he said, "and placed a bet on a horse. I reported to Capt. Martin Mullen of the morals squad and on his order obtained a warant to make an arrest for gambling on the premises. The next day I went back with the warant. I placed another bet and then arrested Lowe and Dalfo."

The police had been advised by legal experts to follow this procedure. Heretofore the state's attorney and the police have been unable to convict alleged gamblers before jurors. So called test cases failed twice.

Another case similar to that of Lowe and Dalfo will be tried before a jury on Sept. 30. Defendants are Hayden Maybaum and William Hanton, arrested at 5718 South Halsted street. Judge Holland freed thirty-two other defendants taken in gambling raids by the city police. In only one instance had the police obtained search warants.

Ax Raids to Continue.

First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley said that the pending test cases would not halt the work of the prosecutor's ax men. Many gambling places have closed, it was said. The ax squads are finding fewer and fewer joints operating as they make their daily crusades.

Five of the handbooks were downtown—at 184 West Washington street, room 502; 204 West Lake street, first floor; 18 South Wells street, second floor; 306 West Madison street, third floor, and at 230 South Wells street. The others were at 7536½ North Clark street, 1108 East 63d street, 3549 North Clark street, 3 North 1st avenue, Maywood; 114 East Garfield boulevard, second floor; 5508 South Michigan avenue, and at Narragansett and Montrose avenues, in a well known place called the Wagon Wheel. The Wagon Wheel's furnishings were wrecked only a week ago, but business was going on as usual, with 125 men and 40 women as patrons.

Captain Weeps

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—The freighter Wintermote, which ran aground on Fish rock during a heavy fog on Saturday, was pulled off today by the coast guard. But the ship sank immediately after it reached deep water. Capt. O. J. Olson left it only two minutes before it went down. He wept when he rejoined his crew of twenty-seven here.

SON OF BANKER FACES PERJURY CHARGE TODAY

Pekin, Ill., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—James Crabb, 21 years old, son of a wealthy Delavan, Ill., banker, was scheduled to appear tomorrow in the Tazewell county Circuit court here on a charge of perjury growing out of the gunshot death of his bride last March.

Crabb was tried in June on a charge of manslaughter but the jury disagreed. Crabb did not testify at the trial, but the state introduced an unsigned statement in which the defendant was quoted as having said his bride was shot when they struggled for a pistol.

The perjury indictment grew out of the information in the statement and discrepancies in Crabb's testimony at an inquest. He swore in that hearing that his wife, the former Betty Collison of Champaign, Ill., shot herself when he was out of the room.

Rain Falls 16th Day in Row; Canada Swelters

Yesterday was a fine day in Chicago. The sun shone. The temperature was mildly pleasant. There was no rain until nearly midnight. Then it began to rain, making the sixteenth consecutive day with at least one shower. Things were different on the Canadian plains. Residents of Winnipeg and Medicine Hat sweltered as the mercury climbed to 90. At Minot, N. D., 96 was the high. Forecaster C. A. Donnel said that today would be unsettled and warmer and that tomorrow probably would be fair and still warmer.

BLAME PASTRY GERM IN FOOD POISON DEATH

Water Found to Be Free of Danger.

Germ-laden pastry, probably chocolate eclairs, caused the death of Earl Bennison, the first victim of the Elmwood Park food poisoning outbreak. This was the consensus last night of physicians, bacteriologists, and health officials investigating the outbreak.

Coroner Frank J. Walsh's office has been investigating the death of Bennison and the illness of some 150 others. Walsh held the pastry was the vehicle of the intestinal infection that killed Bennison. All agreed that the water had nothing to do with the attacks. It was established that the chlorinating process as Chicago handles it would have killed all such bacteria as are capable of causing such an illness.

Miss C. I. Woolsey, bacteriologist at the Cook county hospital, reported last night that she had found staphylococcus bacteria in Bennison's spleen. Staphylococci are the most common cause of poisonings from such foods as eclairs, many authorities pointed out. The custard-corn starch filling of eclairs is almost a perfect culture medium for the staphylococcus germ.

Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of the Northwestern university medical school, explained that staphylococcus germs are most apt to get into the eclairs from the hands of the bakers in filling the shells.

Dr. Howard Shaughnessy, chief bacteriologist for the state health department, said he was "reasonably sure" that paratyphoid germs got into the systems of some of the victims. He made examinations also of pastry from the same batch as that eaten by the victims. He blamed the pastry as the vehicle of infection.

Paratyphoid is a member of the Salmonella group of aerobic [requiring oxygen] bacteria and causes an acute intestinal inflammation that resembles typhoid in many of its symptoms. Miss Woolsey said she had definitly ruled out typhoid and dysentery in her investigations.

Paratyphoid germs belong to the same family causing epidemic meat poisoning and parrot fever.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Offending with Perspiration Is Inexcusable

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It is not often that one see a dress ruined under the arms by perspiration, so that when it is seen it appears doubly shocking. Occasionally such shock is experienced as the other day in a street car with the offender's arm raised to hang onto a strap.

Women are concerned mostly with means of avoiding the slightest odor, rather than saving their frocks. They wouldn't be caught dead with such perspiration evidence as noted in said street car passenger. There has been so much preaching on this theme that if one is unaware of preventive measures, it is because one is indifferent.

Recently a business woman held us up to inform us that if ever again we spoke in our column about perspiration taints without including men in our counsel, she'd be forced to see that we were burned at the stake. However, we feel that it is woman's job to tip the man off to his offense. Our threatener added that in her office days are made unbearable, not by women workers, but by the men. Which tip we pass on for what it is worth.

Dry underarms are required of both sexes if they would be lined up among the popular companions and co-workers. Goodness knows there are means enough available in the market today. The products are not a bit expensive. There are products with aluminum chloride bases which contract pores and reduce the amount of perspiration. Applied under the arms every other day for a week, say, the trouble is already reduced. Usually after three such treatments, the armpits will be dry. If not, three more applications may be made, after which an application a week is usually sufficient.

There are home remedies, such as alum and weak vinegar which, sponged under the arms, control perspiration. Witch hazel often is used.

There are deodorant creams without which no dressing table or bath room cabinet is complete. In this event of personal niceness, no available means of correction should be ignored.

"That raises Mozart in my estimation if Benny will play him," retorted her husband.

Attention, booklenders. The "Book Detective" now is out. It's a simulated book that opens to disclose sets of book size markers for your shelves with space for the title and the name of the borrower; a set of book marks to put in borrowed books before they go out, each carrying a printed warning that the volume is protected by the "Book Detective"; a missing book register; form letters to various types of book borrowers to facilitate the return of books, a pencil and instructions for the use of the "Book Detective." We wish we had had it earlier. . . . Who, by the way, has our Four Faces of Siva with an autograph from Robert J. Casey, the author? Our Chicago, a History of Its Reputation? Our Anatomy of Melancholy? Our Newman's life of Wagner?

Warning! Child Story! A little girl came in from play crying and told her mother a litle playmate had slapped her. "Why didn't you slap her back?" asked the mother, obviously a militant lady. "I slapped her back first," answered her offspring.

Museum Scientists Find Ancient Village Under Colorado Forest

Beneath a Colorado forest, Field museum scientists were excavating a 1,300 year old village of the Basket Makers yesterday. The forest had grown up on the village site after the prehistoric Indians moved away, but had not destroyed the pit houses and other structures which had been built beneath the surface.

Dr. Paul Martin, head of the expedition, said a layman could have wandered through the forest without ever discovering anything to indicate the village had been there. An archæological survey by Carl Lloyd, staf assistant of the expedition, resulted in the discovery.

Let One Adult Correct Child; One's Enough!

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

One of the hardest things for a household full of grown people to do is to keep their hands off when a child needs correcting. Really, young people are long suffering. Think how often everybody will jump on a child for some offense—or even for a slight mistake or awkwardness.

I can't imagine many of us standing for a calling down from everybody in sight whenever we dripped an umbrella on the rug or knocked over a cup of coffee, or interrupted some one who was talking.

Now, I don't believe much in mottoes or slogans, but sometimes I think half the troubles of mothers and the irritability and misbehavior of children would be saved if parents would keep at least one motto in an easily seen place, or adopt one slogan, namely, "One at a time." And this applies to relatives and friends of the family, too.

If a child has to be corrected, let one person do it, and the others keep still. If a child of any age has to be reminded, let one person do it.

If a child, be he little or big, has to be directed in his work or play, let one person do it. And not only let that one person start it, but let him or her carry it through.

Instead, the little girl at the table, for instance, is corrected by first this person and then that about her budding table manners. All eyes are turned upon her. It isn't wise and it isn't fair. Children have so much to learn that it's hard for them at best. Everybody in the family shouldn't take a hand at teaching them, yet they do.

We shouldn't dream of acting that way with other grownups. If any one at the table spills something on the cloth or knocks over a glass of water we don't notice it, or we pass it over casually. We don't band together to criticize or correct in this or in other ways, either.

Monograms for Initialing Bear Modernism Stamp

BY NANCY CABOT.

With the advent of streamlining, our monograms changed their form and became as modern as trans-Atlantic flying. Every one is so monogram conscious that initials are used on every form of dress as well as for innumerable household items. The hot iron transfer monograms serve as a basis for embroidery or appliqué work.

There seem to be two kinds of dumplings, those cooked by steaming in a stew and those baked in the oven. The latter kind are the dessert dumplings, apple or another fruit, and may be made from a biscuit dough in true dumpling fashion, or from pie pastry. Stew-cooked dumplings, which really are dumplings, not dessert, are the kind I'm thinking about just now. They're very simple to make.

Dumplings for stew may be made from flour, baking powder, salt, and milk, without the addition of any shortening, but a tablespoon of butter or some other fat makes them more tender.

Plain Dumplings for Stew.

1 cup flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon shortening
½ cup milk

Sift flour, baking powder and salt, and cut in shortening. Add milk, stirring quickly to make a soft dough. Drop from the end of a spoon into boiling stew, making sure the dough rests upon meat or vegetables. It may become soggy if it cooks in the soup alone. Cover the kettle tightly and let the dumplings steam for 12 minutes. Serve at once with the stew.

Liver Dumplings.

1 pound liver, ground
2 slices bread
2 eggs
¼ cup butter
2 teaspoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour

Use calves liver or chicken livers. Remove fiber before grinding. Soak the white bread slices in water a few minutes, then squeeze out the water. Combine beaten egg yolks, the softened butter, bread, and liver. Add other ingredients, folding in stiffly beaten egg whites last. Shape the mixture into 1½ inch balls and drop into boiling soup stock or water. Cook uncovered about six minutes. Serve with soup or with onions fried in butter.

Vegetable Dumplings.

1 cup chopped cooked spinach, carrots, or other vegetables
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon minced parsley.
1 cup soft bread crums
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 egg

Mix ingredients and chill. Shape into small balls and drop into boiling soup stock. Cook uncovered about five minutes.

Clergy Report New Basis for Church Unions

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Ten Episcopal clergymen and an equal number of Congregational ministers of the city have completed three years of study which looked toward a basis of unity. The two communions are described in the study as having more apparent differences than any churches not owning allegiance to the see of Rome.

The report was published jointly by the Chicago Theological seminary, Congregational institution on the Midway, and Seabury Western seminary, Episcopal institution, in Evanston.

The Episcopal deleation was appointed by Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago. The Congregational delegation was appointed by the Congregational Association of Chicao.

A foreword states that the official conversations are presented as a theory of church union.

"It is believed," the foreward reads, "that the principles elucidated provide a basis for reunion over a large part of Christendom, for principles which are operable for systems as diverse as the Congregational and Episcopalian must undoubtedly have value for polities like the Presbyterian which occupy a middle ground between them." [Polity is a technical word describing the machinery of church control.]

Dr. Albert W. Palmer, president of Chicago Theological seminary and head of the Chicago Church federation, a former member of the Congregational delegation, praised the formula as being both new and a ground for hope of ultimate union. Writing in the official Chicago Church Federation bulletin for October, Dr. Palmer summarized the formula.

"The new formula," said Dr. Palmer, "is based on the old motto: 'In essentials, unity; in nonessentials, liberty; in all things, charity.' With a stroke of genius this ministerial group has transformed this old slogan which sounded good but really is unworkable into a formula which really can be put to work: 'In all things where we agree, unity; in things where we do not agree, liberty; in all things, the will to be one.'"

Brewsters to Spend Winter on World Tour

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALMOST every one is busy just now getting settled at home after a trip. But the Walter S. Brewsters are doing just the reverse. They are planning what gives promise of being a most interesting trip. The Brewsters have traveled widely in the eastern and southern parts of this country and in Europe, but neither of them ever has been in the west of our country and the far east, so they are looking forward with keen anticipation to the winter they have planned.

They hope to sail from California early in November for Honolulu. How long they will stay there will not be decided until they arrive. They will have to tear themselves away from Hawaiian beauty and hospitality before too long a time has elapsed if they are to carry out their further plans. They expect to go on to the orient and then on around the world, perhaps not reaching home until time to open their Lake Forest home for the spring and summer. They are not moving to town this fall, by the way, but will remain in Lake Forest until they leave on their trip.

The Brewsters' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Hodges, who are with the Brewsters now, are leaving in several weeks to spend the winter in Winter Park, Fla. Edward Brewster is the only one of the family not planning a trip; he is busy in Baltimore drawing plans for ships, which both is his vocation and avocation.

Atherton Richards to Visit Chicago.

Next week Mr. and Mrs. Brewster will be among those welcoming a popular couple from Honolulu, Mr. and Mrs. Atherton Richards, who are coming to Chicago for a brief visit. The return of the former Mrs. Helen Hughes Dulany always occasions many parties, and now that she has a handsome and attractive husband, her friends will be more anxious than ever to entertain for her. The The Richardses will be at the Drake hotel while they are here.

A visitor from Honolulu who is being widely entertained is George H. Angus, father of Mrs. Ferre C. Watkins. He is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Watkins in Lake Forest until about Oct. 7, when he will start back to Honolulu.

It was last April that Mr. and Mrs. Angus left their island home for Europe. Mrs. Angus still is in England, staying in London with their son, Donald Angus, who is engaged in business there. At Christmas time Mrs. Angus will be here to have the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Watkins, who will be in an apartment in the city by that time. Most of the people who are entertaining for Mr. Angus have been entertained by him in Honolulu.

Guests of Lord Weir in Scotland.

Mr. Angus, a loyal Scot, and Mrs. Angus were guests of Lord Weir while in Scotland. The day they left Lord Weir's castle their places were taken by the Aga Khan and a retinue of twenty servants. To make sure the servants faced in the proper direction for their prayers it was necessary to paint a compass on the floors of the rooms they occupied.

Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick sailed in the Normandie from France yesterday so she will be back in Chicago before long. She is bringing with her for a visit Miss Gillian Hansard, the charming young woman who visited Mrs. Chadwick here about two years ago.

Miss Hansard is a niece of Jan Juta, the distinguished artist who painted the murals depicting the travels of Marco Polo that adorn the walls of one of the rooms in Mrs. Chadwick's apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive.

Peter Prindiville to Live in City.

An attractive addition to the stag lines of the debutante parties is Peter Prindiville, who lived here as a small child and now has returned from the east to enter business in Chicago. He is the son of Thomas J. Prindiville of New York. Young Mr. Prindiville is living at the Racquet club.

One of Lake Forest's popular bachelors, Clarence H. Ross, will be an "extra man" at his own party tonight. He is entertaining at cocktails in his Westminster avenue home, and taking his guests afterwards to the regular Thursday night dinner-

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

[Tribune Studio Photo.]

The professional face treatment assumes a new importance this year, when the clarity of your complexion is just as important as the cut of your clothes. If you want the pearly skin that is fashionable and beautiful by all means have facials that make the skin satin soft and snowy white.

One of the things you should ask for in your daily prayers this season is a frosty complexion, unblemished and radiant. You must look a little pale [but not haggard] and tremendously interesting.

If yours isn't naturally a clear complexion give providence and nature a hand. Start your face treatments early. This year the professional face treatment that cleanses, lubricates, stimulates AND bleaches your skin is not a luxury. It's practically a necessity if you're to wear the new clothes and the new makeup to the best advantage. Have you tried on any clothes in the wine shades, or the putty greens? They cry to heaven for the complexion that is lily white!

In the lean years [don't look now, maybe they're gone] the regular facial was lopped off many a woman's budget. But this year, unless we miss our guess, facials will be resumed. You will be glad to know that they are less expensive now than they used to be. And they're as luxurious as ever, and as effective.

At least one salon we're familiar with has worked out a beautiful treatment for neck, face, shoulders, and arms. It's one of those rather long sessions that beautifies you wonderfully. Grand to have before the big occasion at which you want to look your best.

But it is more than an immediate glamorizer. During it you have massage that is awfully good for the slipping contour, oiling that makes a perfect monkey out of skin dryness and careful bleaching that makes inroads on that end-of-summer look a tan hangover gives you.

The only thing better than one of these treatments is two of them; and the only thing better than two is a course of them. They'll keep your complexion at the pearly, radiant stage, and they'll keep the contour younger looking.

These aren't nearly as expensive as you might think, and you can take it from us that this year the clarity of your complexion is every bit as important as the cut of your clothes. Remember that face treatments are a form of complexion beauty insurance, so invest in some if you possibly can.

Two P.-T. A. Districts Adopt Platform for City's Public Schools

More than 1,000 women, officers and delegates of two Chicago districts of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, yesterday adopted an educational platform for Chicago. The delegates representing the southeast and northwest regions met in joint conference in the Hotel Sherman.

Planks in the platform call for a superintendent free from all political influence or pressure, and principals and teachers free to carry on their work without fear of dismissal or transfer for any cause other than incompetence.

Restoration of basic salaries for all employés is asked in a finance plank, and an increase in the state school distributive fund to include high schools. A vocational education program is supported.

Another curriculum plank reads: "Restoration of four majors as the normal program in high school, with special provision for the few who cannot carry four majors."

Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson recently announced that pupils could enroll for four majors this semester on the written request of their parents.

The Housewife

There seems to be a duster for every task, nowadays. There is even one for cleaning bed springs, and with fall cleansing facing the housewife, she will want to invest in this gadget. It is shaped to slip in between the coils. It has a long handle, and the duster itself is made of lamb's wool which will absorb the dust instead of scattering it.

Of course, you can use this duster for other objects: lamp shades, bric-a-brac and furniture, too. It's not expensive and it will give long service.

Good Morning!

Once upon a time, this story tells you, there was a BIG, HANDSOME AUTHOR, and his BIG, NOT so HANDSOME PUBLISHER, who occupied adjoining apartments in a big, handsome New York apartment building. . . .

And the B. H. A. and the B. N. s. H. P. lost their BIG, WARM HEARTS to a SMALL ALLURING SOUTHERN GIRL, who was LONG on naivete and SHORT on sophistication, but a MATCH for anybody who needed to be matched.

Through a series of STRANGE CIRCUMSTANCES Nancy Briggs finds herself installed as cook in the apartment of Publisher Hansen, and saves from the greedy and conniving maws of a fortune hunting daughter and her mamma Author Niles.

COMPETITION for the privilege of calling the so to speak little brown wren wife is soon waging betwixt Hansen and Niles, and — well, you should JUST SEE WHAT HAPPENS!

Really you should. For events as depicted in the Roosevelt's current feature film provide a grand show for the laughter loving.

Locales of "Three Loves Has Nancy" [Her third? I'll let the picture tell you] are New York and, for a brief time, a small southern town. Situations are droll and mirth provoking, packing also suspense of an airy variety.

Miss Gaynor, who made such a magnificent comeback in the dramatic "A Star Is Born," proves that she's no slouch at comedy. Robert Montgomery gives a grand performance. One loves his pantomine and his "Strange Interlude"—ing. Mr. Tone is also on his giddy toes. [You'd never suspect from his obvious enjoyment of this rôle that he has, as reported, found Hollywood and all pertaining to it a beastly boah, don't you know, so full of care and trouble, don't you know, that he plans to reinstate himself permanently on Broadway. Providing, one supposes, that Broadway is willin'.]

Other players are what the piece required. Direction was smart and dialog is as clever as can be.

Six authors worked on the story, disproving the assertion relative to "too many cooks."

COMMENT: Not wishing to brag too much about a member of the family [TRIBUNE], but Ed Sullivan really has something in his stage show over at the Chicago. I dropped in there again yesterday to see his "Famous First" — a reel showing one time favorites in scenes from pictures of long ago—and to enjoy Ed's fast, pat commentaries. He's as natural as an old shoe, and an amazingly facile showman. His patter with Benny Rubin et all is clever, clean, and easy; his introductions friendly and amusing. [And he does look awful purty in that there white coat.]

Lawrence College Gets Pictures from Ryerson Collection

Appleton, Wis., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—A gift of seven pictures from the personal collection of Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson was announced by President Thomas N. Barrows at the opening exercises of Lawrence college today.

Mr. Ryerson, honorary president of the Art institute at the time of his death in 1932, and Mrs. Ryerson provided that duplications of art objects in charge of the institute be placed where they would be most appreciated. Lawrence college was selected as such an institution. The three paintings, three water colors, and a pastel will be added to the permanent collection of the college.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Gulliver's Travels, No. 4.

[Written in Chicago.]

At night we came to a colossal city—giant buildings limned against a light blue sky that seemed as if about to burst from stars. A steel blue light at intervals swept the sky and we learned from the native guides that this was called the Lindbergh beacon that blazes through the night to guide airplanes to their landing and so named in honor of a very brave American who hurled a challenge at the Atlantic and passed across it, though waves tried to engulf him when he was forced low to seek protection from the jagged thunderbolts that split the sky.

This city, squatting on the shores of a lake which the Indians called Michigan, is named Chicago, and here reside three and one-half millions of people, descendants of those who came from Europe years ago.

They have a great field here that seats 100,000 people. It is a very unusual coliseum in this age. No dictator built it as a sounding board for his hatred or ambition. The men they honor here are men who have contributed something wholesome to the city, who have put people to gainful work, or enriched the city's culture.

It is a city of great vitality, this western giant. A fire wiped it out, and before the ruins had resolved into smoldering embers a new and greater city was rising from the ashes. What, indeed, was a fire to these people! Their forefathers had seen their villages ravaged by Attila the Hun or fought shoulder to shoulder with Erik the Red. Ireland, England, Scotland, Norway, Sweden, and an older German had sent sturdy men here, and all of them had braved destruction to reach this fertile land, so the destruction of their new city was heart breaking but not final. The fire lighted a new flame in their hearts and out of that crucible was born Chicago as we know it today.

They are fine people, these Chicagoans—decent people. Not so sophisticated, perhaps, as those of New York, but wise in the fundamentals. They prefer sincerity to flippancy; they are more intense in their political beliefs, and they think that this country is a pretty nice sort of place in which to live. Having experienced the oppressions of Europe from which their grandparents escaped, they know what they know and want no swapping.

It is a great newspaper town, possibly because people here take their newspapers so seriously and honor newspaper men to a degree that is positively startling. It is a great town for radio enthusiasms and there are more radio sets here per square block than any place else. Because of the college campuses that border the city, it is a great football town, and the majority of people you meet have a college background.

It is a great town for entertainers, although the legitimate theaters have faded. It is a rabid movie town, and it was the votes of this city that swept Myrna Loy and Clark Gable into the 1937 king and queen title. It supports two big league baseball teams and race tracks galore.

Because this is the heart of the great mail order industry, and because most of the residents have had a great deal of schooling, Chicago is the greatest letter writing community in the nation. Newspaper men will tell you that they get more mail from Chicagoans and the four surrounding states than from any other quarter of the country.

When Tex Rickard came here to stage the Dempsey-Tunney fight, he was flabbergasted to learn that the fight was a sellout on MAIL ORDERS alone. "Never seed anything like it," gasped Rickard. They make themselves articulate through their letters. If they enjoy something you have written in a column, they sit right down and send you a letter. If they disagree with something you've written, they sit right down and express their opinion of that, too.

Slow to form affections or attachments, they hold on to them resolutely. Actors will tell you that if they once score a hit in Chicago, they can play here for the balance of their careers. It is more like London or Paris in that respect, because the continent never relinquishes that original warmth. If an actor once scores solidly in Chicago, he'll find his audience waiting for him year after year. I think that is the finest description I can give you of the solid sincerity of the people. Friendships are not shaken off, but are enriched by a snowball process.

Chicago is a great city, with tall buildings, vast wealth, wide interests that reach to every corner of the world—and yet it has the traditions and the homespun qualities of Main street. Every one seems to know every one else. The handclasp seems a little firmer. When they ask you how you feel, they actually are interested in the answer. If they invite you out to dinner, they really want you to break bread at their tables. Chicago is more than a great city; it's a great experience to visit it.

Urge Susan B. Anthony Face for Rushmore

BY BETTY BROWNING.

Susan B. Anthony will take her place among the immortals on the Mount Rushmore memorial in the Black Hills of South Dakota if the organized women of America have their way.

Susan B. Anthony.

The board of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers has enlisted its millions of members in the movement to place the figure of the pioneer suffrage leader beside those of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt on Mount Rushmore.

It is planned to petition President Roosevelt, congress, and Gutzon Borglum, sculptor of the memorial, to include Miss Anthony's figure in the national monument. An act of congress would be required to make the addition.

Congressmen will have to consider not only the wishes of the millions of parent-teacher members throughout the country, but those of the two million members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs who are supporting the movement. The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs likewise formally has indorsed the proposal.

"This period of American history cannot be properly recorded without taking woman's share in thought and action into account," said Miss Charl O. Williams, chairman of the special committee which recommended that the National Congress take this stand. Miss Elizabeth Wells Robertson, director of art of the Chicago public schools, was one of the committee of three.

Opposition to the addition of Miss Anthony's figure was expressed by Fred W. Sargent, until three months ago chairman of the Mount Rushmore memorial commission.

"The conception of the monument is not to perpetuate an individual but an era of American history," Mr. Sargent, president of the Chicago and North Western railway, explained. "Washington stands for the founding of the republic; Jefferson, for the era of expansion; Lincoln, for the inseparability of the states; Theodore Roosevelt, for the expansion of American trade and influence beyond the seas."

"You should include Booker T. Washington if you include Miss Anthony. He represented the emancipated Negro as she represents emancipated woman."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Richardson of 9833 Longwood drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Reynold Lawrence Caleen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Caleen of Minneapolis, Minn. Miss Richardson attended De Pauw university. Mr. Caleen was graduated from the University of Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cohen of 8352 Maryland avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Elaine Marion, to Sidney R. Langsam II., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Langsam of St. Louis, Mo. Both Miss Cohen and Mr. Langsam were graduated from the University of Illinois.

New Manners Are Required in Hoop Skirt Era

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Any one with even a small amount of imagination will wonder if the designers have taken all of today's clothes out of Godey's Lady's Book of fashions. As you saunter about the shops and stores you hear the young set ask most casually, "Where can I find crinoline to use for a petticoat?", or even more startling, "Where do I find petticoats with hoops?"

Such necessary items are plentiful. All the most exciting of new ball gowns must have hoops or some sort of stiffening if they are to swirl in the required manner. Some are hooped with crinoline, some are extended with the 1938 version of hoops, flat, thin, featherweight affairs sewed into the silk petticoats.

You can find pure white models with the hoops, a strapless bodice top that fits and, wonder of wonders, there's lace around the lower edge, a nice bit of provocative guile to peep out under a velvet gown as you descend the stairs or dance about the floor.

Wonder if manners and habits will change much with the new skirts? One thing sure, you can't crowd. Stowing yourself and escort in a taxi or car is something that could back a political issue right off the boards. Stopping off for a companionable midnight hot dog or sandwich will become an expedition that will require planning. Ten to one your pet will be safe from your partner's shoes.

Back to what you can find: Grand colored petticoats in cerise red and flame color are going like forest fires. Lovely white and ivory affairs are neatly fashioned. They are smoothly fitted around the waist and the bodice tops have almost the same smoothness as the bodices in your pet ball gowns.

All you need is a few new dress manners . . . how to behave in a hoop skirt. Cultivate your grandmother this fall. From such experienced hoop skirters you'll undoubtedly cull the best of the low down on hoops.

SABLES

Can you think of any words soft and silky enough for the feel of these rare little skins against your throat? Can you imagine any one thing that will give you such a sense of quiet distinction? Oblivious to whim, sables are always fashion-right.

We have a beautiful collection to show you—Hudson Bay Sables and the wild, scarce Russians—natural and blended. Dusky, long haired, incredibly soft and silky. Perhaps you'll be surprised at how little you need spend for an exquisite scarf. You may choose one already mounted, of 2, 3, 4 or 5 skins, or we'll mount and arrange according to your wishes.

A Door Closed Softly

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright, 1938, By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, accompanies his cousin, Alison, to a party at Lady Wibbe's. David's thoughts are mostly concerned about Betsy, his former love, now living in England, though he knows not where. By accident the two stumble into the wrong house. While they are talking to the spinsterish woman, who receives them, they hear a woman scream and a body fall. The spinster explains it is a parrot. But at the party next door young Penelope Wibbe says their strange neighbors next door have no parrot. In the house next door an invalid woman, roused by the voices of the strangers, sounding like Americans, had left her sickbed to investigate. Caught by her husband, she had screamed in terror and fallen in a faint.

INSTALMENT IV.

THE INVALID PRISONER.

Instantly she had been seized. Back she was borne, to be dumped, like a sack of coals, on to her bed—and here she had cowered, Geoffrey breathing hard while words like vitriol burst from him.

"You blasted fool! What were you up to?" he panted.

It must have been her blank amazement which had checked him. For a second he had poised battening down his wrath, presently to continue in labored, unnatural fashion: "Have you gone mad? Excitement, exertion . . . ruinous, in your state! It's too much, when I'm straining every nerve to stop you from committing suicide."

"Suicide!" She had repeated it curiously. "Is it that you're afraid of? I wonder why. . . ."

The retort had startled herself—just as though dim notions germinating in darkness had all at once burst to the surface. It was Geoffrey's reaction, though, which had chained her. Into the alien eyes blazing down on her had come an odd, anxious look. The lips which once—O, for how brief a period!—had seemed sensitive and beautiful grew harder, scarcely moving as they muttered:

"That's too stupid to answer. Why do you suppose I'm spending all I've got on this illness of yours? Pigging it in a filthy barn just to get you near the right medical attention? Think I enjoyed closing down my place, selling my hunters?"

"You couldn't afford to mend the roof," she reminded him with sudden clear-sightedness, "or feed the horses. I'm a drag on you, certainly, but as for giving things up . . . Geoffrey! Who were those people?"

He had flung away from her. Over his shoulder he hurled, "How the blazes should I know? Blundering asses!"

"They were Americans."

"O? I'd have said Australians. Outsiders, anyhow, by their putrid accents. Nothing to do with you, that's certain, so pipe down, and if there's a setback don't hold me responsible!"

With this he had left her, banging the door violently, then a grating sound. Could it be? Slipping across the patched carpet she tried the knob. Locked!

Indignation and alarm turned her dizzy again. Then seeing the ludicrousness of it all, she began helplessly to laugh.

How silly! Why, during her boldest insistence, she had known to a nick certainty her legs wouldn't carry her far. Simply and without warning they gave way.

She would have gone on believing it due to her accident and the long lying abed but for the book left by chance in this room some fortnight ago. A medical book—and with a marker between the pages. Geoffrey had soon retrieved it, but not before she had absorbed the first print which, understandably, had interested him. Thus, despite technical jargon, she had learned what they had carefully kept from her.

At 21—her birthday was just past—she knew her death warrant to be signed as surely as that of a criminal awaiting execution. All the hateful treatment she was undergoing could at most only postpone the inevitable—and of this her husband was aware.

Barely 28 himself, he was tied to a dead log of a girl from whom he had no possible means of getting free, but whom, at the cost of traditional pleasures, he must struggle to keep alive. No wonder he was bitter. Self-denial was never his strong suit. Poor Geoffrey!

Exhausted, she crept back into bed.

Under the covers she asked herself what he would do when she was out of the way. Marry some one else?

"No! That is, I can't quite imagine it. Funny, that, but I've often wondered at his marrying at all." Always she had sensed in him a proud, almost disdainful withdrawal from another's approach—and the last thing he wanted, seemingly, was what she could give. It might have hurt her far more if, for a single instant after marriage, she had ever really let herself go. She had not had the chance—and a good thing, as it had turned out!

Queer, though, when she thought back to that first star-glittering night when Geoffrey had raced her at seventy along the hard sea front, with the wind ripping her hair and the smoke-blue Esterelles, all mystery, charming her eyes! She had been ready enough then to merge her own being with his—let it fuse in his white-hot flame.

Only the flame had so quickly died down, and gray ashes were not much good. That sudden black-out, too, was strange. She had long since given up trying to understand it, sinking back into dull dreams of a girlhood rudely curtailed and of lovers who might have been.

Lovers? There was no plural. Only one face had come back to haunt her. It was a face she would certainly never see again, for all it had flashed so vividly on her mental vision a thousand times over—this very evening, in fact, seeming all at once more real than her husband's.

How blind Fanny had been about Geoffrey! "You can do a lot for him," she had declared on the morning of the wedding. "Under that brilliant independence of his the boy needs mothering." Mothering! What a joke! He got it, of course, in a warm, wet deluge from Evie, who had worshiped and spoiled him from the days of her own cheated youth. And how did he respond? With jibes, cruel silences, doors banged in contemptuous rage.

There! Evie was catching it again. Out in the hall the furious voice was lashing out at the woman who bore all and, one might say, crawled back for more.

"O, God, here she is now, fumbling at my door! Through a foot wide space sidled her husband's half-sister.

"Well, Evie, what is it?"

"So stupid of Parsons!" began the spinster with a gulp. "Two people—colonials, I think—were let in here by misunderstanding. I do try so hard to keep things quiet for you. Geoff's so wild. You weren't upset?"

"No, why should I be?"

"I didn't know. From what Geoff was saying"—Evie stopped, fixing her eyes anxiously on her sister-in-law's face. Diffidently she continued, "Can I do anything for you? Tidy your bed, brush your hair?"

"No! Thanks awfully, but I've fixed my hair for the night. Evie!" with one of her generous impulses the invalid said, "you know my green Henri coat and frock? Still quite new, but they'll be old style before I can wear them again. Won't you have them? All they need is lengthening."

Awed, almost gasping, Evie backed from the bed. "Me, Elizabeth?" she stammered. "O, never! Fancy me in your smart, Parisian clothes! I . . . shouldn't know myself."

"Why ever not? You'll look nice. The color . . . here, we'll soon see," and out of bed now she made a shaky plunge across the room and into what courtesy called the dressing room. "O, Evie, do leave go!" she snapped impatiently, as frantic hands clutched at her thin nightgown.

She pulled free to tug at the huge, lumbering wardrobe. In it had been placed all her wearing apparel, none newly purchased, but lovely things, which Fanny had given her—hardly worn, going to waste——

The door swung ponderously outward.

"Why—where are they?"

From behind came a whispering incoherence. "The—the damp was ruining them. All going mouldy. Elizabeth! You do understand?"

Understand? Fictitious energy ebbed away. Steadying herself by the heavy doors, she rubbed her eyes. She peered closer—and saw, in the cavern of darkness, a bare iron rod.

Empty! So her clothes, all but night-things, had been taken. . . .

Indian Day to Honor First Americans to Be Observed Tomorrow

Indians in feathered headdress and Indians in belted suits will gather tomorrow evening at 32 West Randolph street to take part in the Indian Council Fire's observance of Indian day. This memorial day to the first Americans was established in Illinois nineteen years ago.

The modern Indian will be symbolized by Mark L. Burns, a Chippewa from Minnesota, who will receive the Indian Achievement medal for 1938. From the lumber and logging camps of his state, Burns became superintendent of the consolidated Chippewa agencies and coördinator of Indian activities for the Great Lakes region.

dance at the Onwentsia. Mr. Ross is a year around Lake Forester.

Holmes-Nugent Nuptials Today.

The Samuel S. Holmes family and several of their Highland Park friends have gone to Dowagiac, Mich., for the wedding this afternoon of Kenneth Holmes and Miss Ann Gray Nugent, daughter of Mrs. John F. Nugent, and the late Mr. Nugent. The wedding will take place at 4 o'clock in the Nugent home. After a wedding trip to New York Mr. Holmes and his bride will return to Dowagiac to make their home.

The bridegroom's brother, Samuel S. Holmes Jr., will be best man, and Miss Alice Holmes will attend the bride. Richard Nugent will give his sister away. Other members of the Holmes family who will be present are Mrs. A. Minty Waldron [Jane Holmes] of Boston, who is visiting her parents until Oct. 1, and David Holmes. Mrs. William F. Peter, Mrs. Frederick A. Preston, Mrs. Roger S. Vail, and Mrs. Edmund H. Eitel are some of the few friends who will witness the ceremony.

John Russell Holmes, who is working in Santa Barbara, and Miss Jean Bullard, daughter of the Sellar Bullards of Santa Barbara, tentatively are planning to be married in January. Miss Holmes will join her brother in California soon. She is going west to continue her piano studies under Guy Maier. Mrs. Waldron's husband, who has finished his internship at the Massachusetts General hospital, now is connected with the Phillips Memorial hospital, a division of the Massachussetts General.

Children to Model at Benefit Show.

Miss Dorothy Wilder is to be the bride in the fashion show the Winnetka board of Northwestern University settlement is giving on Sept. 28, so she really will be the star of the show. But crowding her for honors will be five youngsters.

Children are "naturals" when it comes to modeling; if a youngster has poise and is not self-conscious every one asks "isn't she darling?" and if she is shy and promenades with downcast eyes, every one asks the same.

The children who will take part in the show, to be given at 2:30 o'clock in the Leslie F. Gates gymnasium of the New Trier High school in Winnetka, are George and Dodie Booth, the George Booths' children; Mary, the John Hookers' daughter; and Odell and Kay, two of the Roy Bards' children.

Miss Helen Shoemaker is to be the maid of honor in the bridal procession that will climax the show. Miss Frances Price and Miss Peggy Sargent will be the bridesmaids and Mrs. Walter Stuckslager will have the important rôle of the bride's mother.

Tickets to the show may be purchased from Mrs. Richard Aishton or at the door the day of the performance. Tea will be served following the showing.

Select Models for St. Luke's Show.

Miss Mary Ryerson, Miss Margaret Hutchins, Miss Mary Hale, and Miss Elizabeth Crawford are four comely debutantes who already have been requested as models in St. Luke's fashion show. The show will be given on the afternoon and evening of Oct. 18 in the ballroom of the Stevens hotel. Some of the "old" models who will appear are Mrs. Charles S. Dewey Jr., and her sister, Miss Kay Goodman, Mrs. Eugene du Pont III., Mrs. George S. Chappell Jr., Mrs. Nathaniel Owings, Mrs. C. Daggett Harvey, Mrs. W. Irving Osborne Jr., Mrs. William K. Meyers, Miss Anne Winston, Mrs. Wilbur C. Smith, Mrs. Franklin G. Clement, Miss Mardi Burnham, and Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr.

A daughter was born on Sept. 16 at St. Luke's hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Cohrs of Glencoe. She has been named Nancy. Mrs. Cohrs is the former Elizabeth Scholle, daughter of Charles H. Scholle.

For Daytime or Evening

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

The one pattern illustrated today fashions either a street length dress or a formal gown. Both are styled essentially the same, except for the skirt. It's a girlish model that is flattering to all figure types.

The blouse, of chiffon or other sheer material, is a much beruffled topper with shirtwaist collar and closing and full puffed sleeves that retain their fulness all the way to the wrists, or they may be short and puffed, if you like.

Around the waist is a wide and crushed sash to top the paneled skirt that has plenty of flare. You can achieve many interesting color combinations, and it is wise to remember that current fashion is sponsoring the idea of vivid sashes on neutral or dark backgrounds. May we suggest a white blouse, purple sash and black skirt? It's a smart combination and one that is not too garish.

By the way, the skirt of this costume should be of crêpe or woolen. If you make it for evening, try velvet. You'll like its sheen and softness.

Style No. 2808 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, and 38 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material for the skirt, and 2½ yards of 39 inch fabric for the blouse.

Old Triangle Story Still Is Sad Narrative

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I know what I write is an old story, but let me have your verdict anyway.

"For two and a half years, since the death of my husband, I have been going out with his former employer who is married and the father of an 18 year old boy in college. I have a boy, 9. My age is 29. This man's wife and I had been good friends for five years. He told her he is in love with me and now we are not on friendly terms. He asked her for a divorce to which she would not consent. She says that it is because I am younger than she is that he has fallen for me, and that he will get over it.

"In their twenty years of married life she has been away traveling a lot and having a good time. His job does not give him time for travel. When she is home she is always on the go attending luncheons, bridge games, etc. When evening comes and he suggests going out, she is tired because she already has had her good time during the day.

"The man has been most successful in his work, but she has knocked him to my own face, never giving him the credit due him. He has given her everything, even supported her family. She has admitted that he is a good meal ticket.

"It is plain she does not care for the man, but somehow the boy has held them together. Understand, Miss Blake, that I have told him to try to patch things up with his wife, blaming myself for a lot of things.

"Now he says I am letting him down when he needs me. He had a lawyer talk to her about a settlement, but she would not agree. At first, with him, it was just good friendship. Now it has become a tragedy for all of us. What is your advice?"

"INQUIRER."

It wasn't good friendship toward the wife to start running around with the man, Inquirer. You must have deliberately put yourself in the position that results in your present status.

You say the wife traveled a lot and spent her time when home playing bridge and going to luncheons. But don't you know plenty of excellent wives who do the same thing? Some of them even speak of their men as good meal tickets without that reflecting the least on their deep emotional feeling for the man.

How, in her position, would you feel were a younger woman trying to usurp your place? How much may your influence have changed that woman from the woman the man was living happily enough with before you entered the scene?

Water Colors Catch Beauties of Lake Louise

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Two delightful exhibitions have opened. Water colors of the Canadian Rockies by Walter J. Phillips are on view in the Anderson galleries, 530 South Michigan avenue, and paintings of southern France by W. Lee Hankey are hung in the Findlay galleries one block north.

The Canadian Rockies have not been painted often enough to make these stunning water colors of Mr. Phillips an old story. He shows us Lake Louise in all her glory of blue water and reflected mountains and his interpretation can arouse an instant enthusiasm.

Mr. Phillips is a Canadian, which, perhaps, is one reason for the fresh, rich point of view in which he holds this magnificent stretch of country. He paints broadly and warmly. Lake Louise at dawn is as impressive as at dusk; broad sunlight steals a little subtlety from the coloring, but enhances the contrast of green pine and snow blanketed peak.

There are other glimpses of mountains besides those which encircle the lake. Some of the most effective are the Japanese-like compositions of flowers against a mountain ridge. One of the finest of the water colors is "Lake Winnipeg," reminding us a little on the score of its purity of drawing of a Rockwell Kent austere and simplified sea sketch.

The paintings of W. Lee-Hankey are oils, a few little exquisite sketches and a larger number of larger canvases. The most intriguing are those compositions in which boats figure. The market places are well done, hot with sunshine and vibrant in color, but the more romantic paintings, the more glamorous ones, are those in which sailing boats stand close to shore or lie along a wharf, their colored sails great splashes of color against the intense blue of the sky.

These are sympathetic pictures, having an instant appeal. They are decorative and charming. It would be very difficult to tire quickly of "Les Quais—La Rochelle," "Le Port St. Tropez," or of the "Palais du Papes, Avignon" with its line of birch trees. These little paintings have enduring quality and infinite charm.

"I was North. My partner opened with three hearts and our opponents did not bid at all. I am only a novice at contract bridge, but I knew she must have a powerful hand. I was hesitant about mentioning my clubs or spades as I was afraid she might count on me for an ace in whichever suit I mentioned. I therefore bid three no trump and she then jumped to five hearts. The ace of spades was led and that was the only trick lost.

"One of our opponents claimed she should have opened with two hearts and that I should have mentioned my clubs or spades, so if you will be kind enough to publish the correct bidding in your column, it will be appreciated by all of us.

"J. McC.—Philadelphia."

Your opponent was quite right in his opinion that South should have opened with two hearts instead of with three hearts. I am afraid that there still are players scattered about who feel that the "biggest" bid consistent with safety is also the strongest bid. This, of course, is a serious error. The strongest opening bid that can be made is a two-bid in a suit. A three-bid, though it contracts for one more trick, is not nearly so strong, and higher bids [four or five] are not in the same class at all, since they are really preëmptive, or shut-out, efforts. It is unfortunate, perhaps, that we should have to use any bids at contract that have a somewhat artificial meaning, but the fact remains that partnership understanding and coöperation depend on these very conventions. Thus, the opening two-bid in the suit is artificial in the sense that it carries one certain message to partner: The bidding must be held open until game is reached. That is the only artificial feature of the bid. The logic of it speaks for itself. If a player can afford to direct that the bidding be held open until game is reached, it follows as the night the day that he must hold an enormous hand. In this particular case the opening three-bid did not begin to describe South's tremendous strength. South had one loser in spades and at most two losers in clubs. Thus he had a sure game in his own hand. A three heart bid is not forcing and therefore South took a terrible risk that the bidding would die short of game. The correct bidding was:

South	West	North	East
2 hearts	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 clubs	Pass	6 clubs	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

North's six club bid would be a shade aggressive, but quite proper under the circumstances. Even if he bid merely five clubs, however, South could go on to a slam with a feeling of reasonable security.

There are Hundreds of Gasolines but only one D-X

D-X LUBRICATES Upper-Cylinder Parts

D-X is different from all ordinary gasolines because it contains an exclusive high heat-resisting lubricant which is carried into the combustion chamber of the engine with the gasoline vapor. This lubricant provides needed protection to upper-cylinder parts from the very instant of starting—whereas oil from the crankcase does not reach them until the engine has turned over thousands of times. D-X Lubricating Motor Fuel protects the engine against "dry starts"... provides protection against friction at the period when most engine wear occurs. For better performance, more mileage, quicker starting and greater economy, try a tankful of D-X or D-X Ethyl. Sold on a genuine money-back guarantee by all Diamond D-X dealers.

SOX BEAT YANKS, 5-2; 6TH STRAIGHT DEFEAT

CHAMPION GOES INTO U. S. GOLF QUARTER-FINAL

Mrs. Page Defeats Two Opponents.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The battle of the brackets continued yesterday at the Westmoreland Country club as the field in the Forty-second National Women's Golf tournament was reduced to eight semifinalists — two from the south, three from the Pacific coast, two from the southwest, and one from the middle west.

Striding through the upper bracket with golf capable of rising to any dangerous situation was Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., defending the championship she won last year at Memphis. The titleholder won her second round match in the morning from Helen Waterhouse of Warwick, R. I., 2 and 1, and then returned in the afternoon for a 4 and 2 victory over young Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex.

Patty Berg Advances.

Meanwhile the gallery choice of the lower bracket was working considerably harder than she had to in winning ten straight holes for her first round score on Tuesday. She was Patty Berg, the Minneapolis redhead who finished runnerup to Mrs. Edwin H. Vare in the 1935 final and lost last year's final to Mrs. Page. After gaining the third round with a 4 and 3 conquest of Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., Patty encountered a slender blonde named Eva Shorb, from out of Canton, O. Patty had reason to remember Eva. In the first round two years ago the Ohio girl had carried the Minnesotan even through seventeen holes and then three putted the eighteenth to lose the match. Yesterday afternoon, she was four up at the ninth. Miss Berg came through with a typical Berg rally, shooting a magnificent thirty-eight, two under par on the back nine, for a one up victory.

Miss Graham vs. Mrs. Hury.

The second match of the quarter finals today brings together two strangers to this section of the tournament. They are Peggy Graham of Hollywood, Cal., champion of her home state and Mrs. E. R. Hury of Dallas, Tex., making her national debut. Miss Graham was eliminated in a nineteen hole first round match last year while Mrs. Hury's best efforts to date have been quarterfinal rôles in a couple of trans-Mississippi events.

Yesterday Miss Graham put out Jessie Anderson of Scotland, 1937 British champion, 2 and 1, and then won her third round match from Mrs. Harry McNaughton of Forest Hills, N. Y. [the former Marion Turpiel, by the same count. Mrs. Hury took a second round argument from Harriet Randall of Indianapolis, 5 and 3, and then eliminated the last of the British Curtis cup team, the plump and jolly Clarrie Tiernan of Ireland, 2 up.

Mrs. Goldthwaite Wins.

In the first quarter-final duel Mrs. Page meets Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, Tex., who was quite some pumpkins a few years back as Aniela Gorcyzca. The latter gained the final eight by a 4 and 3 defeat of Helen Detweiller of Washington, D. C., and then went two under par in defeating Ellamae Williams of Chicago's Medinah club, 7 and 5.

Miss Berg's opponent will be no stranger to the quarter-final cast. She is Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, who reached the 1934 title match. Yesterday Dorothy was forced to nineteen holes before winning from Mrs. A. C. Critchley of Surrey, England, and had to go seventeen holes for a 3 and 1 afternoon win over Mrs. Charles Newbold of Wichita, Kas.

The last match of the day involves Marion Miley, Curtis cup player and 1936 semi-finalist from Lexington, Ky., and Marian McDougall of Portland, Ore., 1934 western open winner. Miss Miley had a time of it in taking a nineteen hole argument from young Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., then breezed through a 5 and 3 triumph over Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., a semi-finalist last year.

Hilda Livengood Loses.

Miss McDougall reached the quarter-finals by putting out the last of the Chicago district delegation, Hilda Livengood of Danville, former state champion. The girl from the northwest holed a 3 iron shot for an eagle 2 at the 361 yard fourth hole.

In the other morning matches Mrs. McNaughton was out in 38 for an eventual 3 and 2 defeat of Beatrice Barrett, Minneapolis' western open champion. Miss Jameson earned her chance against Mrs. Page by putting out Mrs. J. B. Walker, Irish Curtis cup player. Miss Williams defeated Hope Seignious of Detroit, 2 and 1, and Hilda Livengood moved into the third round with a 2 up conquest of Maureen Orcutt of Haworth, N. J., Curtis cup member and 1936 runnerup. Mrs. Newbold won her second round battle from Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Tex., 4 and 3. Miss Shorb defeated Rena Nelson of Exmoor, Chicago, 4 and 3. Miss Hemphill advanced by eliminating her Curtis cup

RAY KEMP TO DO DOUBLE DUTY AGAINST BEARS

Coach of Negro All-Stars Will Play Tackle.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Shortly after the kickoff on Soldiers' field tomorrow night, there is very apt to be a time out for the Negro All-Stars during which the Chicago Bears will see a muscular, fleet young giant dash out from the bench and take his place at tackle.

This will be Ray Kemp, once of Duquesne university, who has come to the front in the last three years as one of the outstanding young coaches in the country and certainly the leading coach of his race. Kemp admitted yesterday as he drove his squad of thirty-seven men through a long drill on blocking, tackling and signal practice that he planned on doing much of his coaching tomorrow night from the line of scrimmage.

Slater to Help.

Another hard workout is scheduled for the All-Stars this afternoon. Tomorrow the squad will wind up its preparation for the first Negro all-star game in history with a lecture in which Duke Slater, former Chicago Cardinal and Iowa star, who with Inky Williams, once a nationally known end at Brown university, and also a former star with Hammond, Akron, and Canton in the pro league, has been assisting Kemp, will tell the boys what it is possible to know in advance about the Bears' attack.

The All-Stars will use the Notre Dame system. This is the style of play Kemp learned under Elmer Layden, former Notre Dame full back, at Duquesne. He knows it well. Kemp received his instruction in line play under the late John Weibel, guard, and Joe Bach, tackle, who were members of the Four Horsemen team with Layden at Notre Dame. In 1935 he began his coaching career by teaching the Notre Dame system at Bluefields college and going through the season undefeated. Last season and the year before he was successful with the system at Lincoln in Jefferson City, Mo.

They Have Rhythm.

"Our boys have rhythm," Kemp said yesterday. "We can make that Notre Dame system work. We got some heft on this squad, too. We will match the Bears in size at the tackles and center and may have an advantage in speed in the backfield.

"We have a number of players on this squad who would be outstanding players in the leading colleges in the country. In fact some have been. Joe Kendall of Kentucky State, for example, is as good a passer as you will find anywhere in football, barring Sammy Baugh. We have excellent receivers in Dwight Reed of Minnesota, and Doc Kelker, of Western Reserve. Reed, of course, was one of the outstanding ends in football last fall. Kelker was named on the Little All-American team. Our passing may bother the Bears."

Simms to Start.

Reed is one of five former Big Ten players on the squad. The others are Oze and Don Simmons and Wilbur Wallace of Iowa, and William Exum of Wisconsin. Oze Simmons will start at left half in a back field built around Tank Conrad, 260 pound full back from Morgan college. Two Xavier [New Orleans] boys, Andy Miles, right half back, and Madison Doran, quarter back, complete the starting backfield.

The Bears will complete their work at Soldiers' field this morning. Undefeated and the only National league team to win two games, the Bears start on an exhibition schedule tomorrow night which takes them from Soldiers' field to Cincinnati, and Charleston, W. Va., before they resume their National league play a week from Sunday at Philadelphia.

Rochester and Newark Playoff Game Postponed

Newark, N. J., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Rain today forced the postponement of the International league playoff game between the Newark Bears and the Rochester Redwings scheduled for tonight. The game will be played tomorrow night.

Wisconsin Is Improved, but Coach Wonders How Much

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Sept. 21.—Wisconsin's second and third teams scrimmaged for an hour today. Yesterday the first eleven scrimmaged. Tomorrow all the boys will have another scrimmage and then, on Saturday, the varsity will meet the freshmen.

This rigorous program, according to Coach Harry Stuhldreher, must be followed because "we are worse today than when we started practice Sept. 10."

"Continual rain—we have had rain practically every day until yesterday—has handicapped the development of the squad," Stuhldreher continued. "We held our first scrimmage in the rain last Saturday. Yesterday was the first sunny afternoon. Sloshing around on a muddy field, many of our boys have received pulled muscles.

They're Still Overweight.

"No one can guard against this type of injury. While no player has been seriously injured, the boys haven't been able to get their work done. For one thing, they're not taking off weight and hardening up.

"At least twenty of the players have been on the hospital list in the last ten days. We certainly are glad we don't have to open the season this week.

"Saturday's scrimmage was fairly good, although it was held in a rainstorm. Yesterday the varsity played sloppy football and on the basis of today's scrimmage, we may make a lot of changes. Of course, yesterday was our last day for double drill and the so-called varsity men may have been tired. But some of them also are entirely too satisfied. Because they are listed on top now is no reason they can't be moved."

Stuhldreher leaned back in his chair. As he mentally prepared for another offensive, we popped the question all the conference coaches have been asking.

How About Sophomores?

"How about your sophomores? If there is one rumor that has reached all the Big Ten campuses, it is 'Wisconsin has splendid sophomore talent this year.'"

Stuhldreher grinned. Then he admitted, "I've heard the same story. It must be our year to be the goat in the coaches' guessing contests. But I'm telling you now I'll think the boys have done mighty well if they equal last year's record of four victories and one tied game.

"Wisconsin should play better. The veterans have more experience. Their blocking is better and it is more like second nature instead of a constant thought. They should be able to adjust themselves to conditions more quickly. But as far as sophomores are concerned, show me any coach who can predict just what a sophomore will do in his first game.

Coach Admits Improvement.

Stuhldreher admits Wisconsin will have an improved squad. Better blocking and experience are obvious reasons. It also is apparent that sophomores may hold the key to Wisconsin's improvement. Fifteen of the first thirty-three players are sophomores and Stuhldreher admits that Wisconsin will have better reserves. If this is true, many of these newcomers must supply that reserve talent.

When Stuhldreher talks of possibilities, he can't get far from the subject of his senior full back, Howie Weiss. He calls Weiss one of the "greatest players in the Big Ten." And he adds, "Minnesota knows all about Weiss. He was outstanding in our battle last fall with the Gophers, which Minnesota won, 13 to 6."

Weiss is expected to have a fine season. He is a natural leader and in the Wisconsin monitor system, where the veterans instruct the new players, Weiss is invaluable. But in all of this there is the ever present thought that since Wisconsin's schedule this year is much more difficult, the improvement may not be sufficient to better last season's results.

Marquette Is First.

Wisconsin opens with Marquette. Last year the Badgers had South Dakota State. Pittsburgh, which Stuhldreher believes again will be a national championship contender, and California at Los Angeles are nonconference opponents.

Incidentally, the trip to Los Angeles precedes the Minnesota game by a week. In addition to Minnesota, Wisconsin will play Iowa, Purdue, Indiana, and Northwestern.

"With the possible exception of Purdue," Stuhldreher says, "all of these Big Ten squads now are rated higher than a year ago, and Purdue, by its own admission, expects to improve rapidly. We meet the Boiler-

CUBS MOAN AND RAIN ANSWERS, 'PITTER-PATTER'

Another Double-Header Is Washed Away.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 21.—Every day, along about noon Traveling Secretary Robert C. Lewis of the Chicago Cubs calls our bed chamber.

"No games today," Robby says in a brave effort to be cheerful and personable. "Two tomorrow."

Two tomorrow! What dank mockery! What blind optimism! What singing in the fog! What—what—what the hell!

Pennant race, indeed. Drive down the stretch. Har, har. Indian summer, with Chief Noah in the driver's seat. Ducks! ducks! ducks! are swimming everywhere. Two drunken herons and a flamingo just flew by the window, laughing hysterically. Get Gabby off that portico, no telling what might happen. Everybody's crazy, except Doc Lotshaw, who won $2 in a rhummy game and bought a pair of water wings and a pair of hip boots for the shallower going. Unstrap this straitjacket, we must get to that regatta.

Things Are Complicated.

Now we feel better after that sedative, nurse. Perhaps we can tell the folks the news. The Cub-Philly double-header scheduled for this afternoon was called off even more emphatically than was yesterday's scheduled double-header and the one in Brooklyn the day before. And with today's postponement came complications. The Cubs, even if they play the double-header scheduled for tomorrow, will stay over to try to play a double-header Friday, a travel date on the schedule.

The problem of playing a double-header here on Friday and getting the Cubs home in time to unpack their satchels and get to Wrigley field for a 2 o'clock game with the Cards Saturday afternoon involved some fancy maneuvering by Secretary Lewis. His first though was to have the three Cub coaches hooked on the end of a train entitled the Broadway, one of the most luxurious streamliners.

Mr. Lewis took steps toward attaching his three slightly road worn Pullmans to the elegant streamliner. But not many steps. When the proud man in charge of the Broadway heard Mr. Lewis' proposal he nearly swooned.

Perish the Thought!.

"Do you realize what you are asking?" the man screamed. "You can't really be serious when you suggest that we hitch your antique hyena cars on to our beautiful streamliner. Mr. Lewis, the idea is simply preposterous and strictly OUT."

Mr. Lewis blushed quite a little, and said he guessed he didn't want to attach his rolling stock to the streamliner in the first place.

"So sorry," puffed Mr. Lewis.

But the Cub secretary is ingenious and was not to be stuck in the east with a team scheduled to play in the west. He now arranged to be dragged to Harrisburg by a milk train, where a friendly brakeman will hook him on to a train due to reach Chicago Saturday morning.

Promises Fair Weather.

Despite the unabating rain today the weather man says it may be fair tomorrow. It will have to be plenty fair. The Phillies did not put a tarpaulin on the field at the end of Sunday's game with the Pirates. The pitcher's mound and the plate are covered. Imagine the rest of the joint.

Bill Lee will go after his twentieth victory and Clay Bryant will seek his eighteenth, if and when.

Mondrala Wins Decision in A. A. U. Wrestling Bout

Ben Mondrala won a 15 minute decision over Nick Ramsneider in an A. A. U. wrestling match in Madison-Cicero arena last night. Other results:

Peter Gadrin threw Bill Moran, 6 minutes, 5 seconds; George Snekutis threw Harold Nelson, 9 minutes, 10 seconds; Eugene Cominski threw Gene Grandy, 5 minutes, 50 seconds; Norman Anthonison threw Bill Filipo, 15 minutes; Eugene Schulte threw Vernon Krause, 5 minutes, 10 seconds; James Amos threw Franco Donato, 10 minutes, 10 seconds.

CHAMPIONS AID THORNTON LEE WITH 3 ERRORS

Gehrig Hits His 28th Homer of Year.

BY HOWARD MARTIN.

The roasting Yankees—or is it the jittery champions?—took it on the chin again yesterday to stretch their record losing streak under the eignt year Joe McCarthy régime to six games. The champions, who were handcuffed by the pitching of Thornton [Lefty] Lee, contributed some comical fielding that helped the White Sox make it two in a row over the New Yorkers, 5 to 2.

Vernon [Lefty] Gomez would have given Lee a worth while argument if his mates, particularly the usually steady Frank Crosetti and Flash Gordon, had not erred. The lean left hander yielded only five hits to the seven given up by Lee, but fielding misplays in the first and fourth innings did untold damage.

It was Lee's third triumph of the year over the champions.

Sox Don't Need Hits.

Only three of the Sox hits were mixed up in the scoring. The Chicagoans picked up a pair of unearned tallies in the first on two walks, a double, and Gordon's error on a simple grounder, which should have contributed the third out. Another error by Gordon, a bobble by Crosetti, a two bagger, and a single brought three more runs for the Sox in the fourth.

Lou Gehrig and Joe Glenn were the only Yankees to bother Lee. Glenn hit two singles and a double. Gehrig knocked a single and a home run.

The Yankees handed the Sox two runs in the first inning. After Berger had grounded out, Gomez walked Owen. Kreevich slashed a double down the third base line and Connors was passed, filling the bases. Appling fanned and Walker tapped to Gordon, who let the ball roll between his legs, Owen and Kreevich scoring. Radcliff could not prolong the merriment.

Gehrig's single to right, an infield out and Glenn's single to left brought the Yankees a run in the second. Berger let Radcliff's throw get through him, Glenn continuing to second, but Gomez fanned for the third out.

One Way to Win.

Some fuzzy work by Crosetti and Gordon made an opening for the Sox in the fourth and they profited to the extent of three runs. Sewell singled to right and advanced on Lee's sacrifice. Crosetti fumbled Berger's grounder, Sewell taking third. Owen grounded to Gordon, who, after dallying about making a force at second, hit Berger on the shoulder with the ball, Sewell scoring and the other runners stopping at third and second. Kreevich's single to center sent Berger and Owen over the plate. The next two batters were easy for Gomez.

Gehrig opened the seventh with his twenty-eighth home run of the season. It just cleared the scoreboard in right.

John Rigney, the west side right hander, will pitch for the White Sox in the final of the series with the Yankees today. He will be opposed by Monte Pearson. Rigney has a record of eight victories and eight defeats.

Today will be a special ladies' day in Comiskey park. No tickets necessary, girls, just step up and pay ten cents tax.

Manager Jimmy Dykes juggled the White Sox lineup yesterday. Merv Connors, at first in place of Joe Kuhel, was the only rookie named.

Manager Dykes will leave tonight for Philadelphia to attend the funeral of an uncle. He will rejoin the team in Cleveland next week. Coach Billy Webb will be in charge of the Sox for the Saturday and Sunday games in St. Louis.

makers Oct. 22. Wisconsin must be better if it can face any of these conference games with thought of victory."

Gage at Quarter Back.

Vincent Gavre, varsity quarter back from Port Edwards, Wis., was field general for the second team this afternoon. Although listed on the first team, Gavre did not scrimmage yesterday because Stuhldreher wanted to see how Fred Gage, sophomore quarter back from Green Bay, would work with the regulars. Today's lineup follows:

All the regular backs are fair passers. Bellin probably is the best kicker although Weiss and Schmitz can be used.

"Our motto is 'play 'em one at a time,'" Stuhldreher concluded. "Marquette is our complete schedule right now. And we sure wish we were safely past that one."

CANCEL IRISH SCRIMMAGE.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Rain forced postponement of today's scrimmage at Notre Dame and Coach Elmer Layden took advantage of the lull to welcome back several members of the hospital group.

Capt. Jim McGoldrick, left guard, who received a leg injury in Saturday's scrimmage, was the only man not present. Mick Corgan, second string half back, was in uniform, but was kept out of heavy work.

Earl Brown Jr., Johnny O'Brien, Tom Brennan, Johnny Kelly, and George Rassas, all of whom play end, have recovered from minor injuries and will be available for tomorrow's scrimmage.

HOOSIERS BUILD DEFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Better defensive coördination of the line and back field was sought by Coach Bo McMillin today as he sent the Indiana university football squad through maneuvers designed to check the Ohio State attack when the Hoosiers invade Columbus Oct. 1.

In defensive scrimmage against a reserve team using Ohio's running plays, it was apparent that Corby Davis, Indiana's great full back of last season, will be missed in his rôle of backing up the line as well as plunging with the ball. Another aerial defense drill also was held.

GOPHER BACK FIELD SET.

The back field includes George Faust at quarter back, Harold Van Every at left half back, Wilbur Moore at right half back, and Larry Buhler at full back. All are veterans. In the line Butch Nash and John Mariucci, reserve lettermen, are fixtures at the ends. Dan Elmer, another letterman, is the center.

Capt. Francis Twedell is certain to be at one guard at the kickoff, but Bob Johnson may supplant Horace Bell at the other. Win Pedersen will start at one tackle. At the other Allan Rork is given preference over last year's starter, Charlie Schultz.

DEPAUL FEARS INJURIES.

Fearful of injuries, Coach Ben Connor has called off all contact work for the DePaul university football squad while preparing for the Ripon game on De Paul field Saturday. He plans to send the squad through dummy scrimmage. For the first time since practice opened, the varsity and freshman squads were pitted against each other in yesterday's drill. The freshmen used Ripon plays against the regulars.

Harry Postaer, De Paul back field man for three years, has been named head freshman coach and scout. Paul Mattei and Joe Gagliardo, also members of last year's squad, have been named assistant coaches.

PLUNKETT MAKES GOOD.

It is now the consensus in the Maroon training camp that Jack Plunkett, 6 feet 2 inch sophomore, will be Chicago's varsity center before the season is much older. This will probably mean that the Chicago line will consist of six sophomores and one veteran.

Plunkett, whose home is in Red Lodge, Mont., weighs only 185 pounds, but he has developed rapidly in recent scrimmages, backs up the line well, defends, and passes well from center. Plunkett's competition for the job comes from Jim Assels, who was on the squad two years ago, and Bob Greenbaum, a senior who has been hadicapped by injuries.

New Wildcats to Get Chance Against Frosh

In order to provide more even competition and at the same time get a line on new players, Coach Lynn Waldorf said yesterday that he contemplates starting a team composed almost entirely of sophomores in Northwestern's varsity-freshman game in Dyche stadium Saturday.

Waldorf desires to give the sophomores game experience and feels that the clash with the freshmen will provide it. The back field will consist of Red Hahnenstein and Al Butherus, half backs; Francis Purtell, full back, and Dick Richards, quarter back. The line will include Jim Smith and Ace Horton, ends; Joe Lokanc and Art Niedbalski, guards; Corne Aarts and Joe Vavrus, tackles; and Paul Heimenz, center. All are sophomores except Vavrus.

PETERSON REJOINS ILLINI.

The Illini relaxed with a light session of dummy scrimmage.

Coach Bob Zuppke was pleased by the showing of Bob O'Neill, sophomore end, and Chuck Stotz, veteran guard who has been shifted to tackle.

PASS DEFENSE AT MICHIGAN.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Michigan's football team occupied itself with pass defense, kicking, and a forty-five minute scrimmage this afternoon. Dave Strong, recovered from a muscle strain, and Norm Purucker handled the kicking, as Coach Fritz Crisler announced the reassignment of Purucker to a left half back post. He had been shifted to the blocking back position. Walter Kitti was returned to blocking back after a week at quarter back.

TICKETS ON SALE FOR MARQUETTE, S. M. U. CONTEST

Tickets will be placed on sale today for the Southern Methodist-Marquette football game to be played in Soldiers' field, Friday night, Oct. 7, for the benefit of St. Vincent's Orphanage.

Tickets may be bought in the office of the football committee, Room 457, Stevens hotel, and in the Morrison, Sherman, Congress, and Blackstone hotels, the Fair store and Lake Shore Athletic club.

FINE FOR KIDNEY AND BLADDER WEAKNESS

STOP GETTING UP NIGHTS LOOK AND FEEL YOUNGER

Keep your kidneys free from waste matter, poisons and acid, and put healthy activity into kidneys and bladder and you'll live a healthier, happier and longer life.

One most efficient and harmless way to do this is to get from your druggist a 35-cent box of Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsuels and take them as directed—the swift results will surprise you.

Besides getting up nights, some symptoms of kidney trouble are backache, moist palms, leg cramp, and puffy eyes. If you want real results, be sure to get GOLD MEDAL—the original and genuine—a grand kidney stimulant and diuretic—right from Haarlem in Holland. Give your kidneys a good cleaning once in a while.

Purdue Prepares to Face Detroit's Tricky Defense

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Preparing to meet a shifting defense in view of Detroit's announced intention of abandoning the huddle on offensive and adopting the huddle on defense, Coach Mal Elward emphasized the necessity for clean blocking as he brushed up play details in Purdue's final scrimmage session this afternoon.

Coach Dorais' defensive huddle innovation has convinced Elward that the Boilermakers will find themselves bumping up against continually changing styles of defense as Detroit endeavors to confuse the running attack on blocking assignments.

The Boilermaker coach expects to find Detroit shifting from a five to a six or seven man line, or conversely with frequency, and expects to devote tomorrow and Friday's final tuning up sessions to carefully reviewing blocking assignments for various types of defenses.

While striving to find a means of counteracting the effectiveness of the defensive huddle, the Boilermakers did not neglect their own defense, paying particular attention to means of stopping Detroit's aerial attack.

OHIO'S INJURED RETURN.

Columbus, O., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—The Ohio State football squad worked on pass defense today and rehersed signals before engaging in a late scrimmage session, the first since the full length intra squad game last Saturday. Most of the injured players were back in uniform. Esko Sarkkinen, an end, who injured a hip on the first day of practice, was missing. Nick Rutkay, counted on for a guard, returned as did Steve Andreano, center, and Frank Clair, sophomore end.

Ed Hoffmayer, No. 1 right guard, went to the sidelines with a knee hurt which, according to Dr. Walter Duffee, team physician, must be rested for at least three days.

36 Hawkeyes Off for Game in Los Angeles

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa football squad of thirty-six players left Iowa City tonight for Los Angeles where the Hawkeyes open their season against U. C. L. A. Friday night.

The squad went from here to nearby Cedar Rapids, where it boarded the City of Los Angeles. The squad was the largest ever carried by Coach Irl Tubbs. He took along additional men for the half back posts and left tackle. Tubbs, since coming to Iowa, never has carried more than thirty-three men on any other trip.

He said the increase was necessary because of the battle being waged by some candidates for positions on the team. He has not yet named a starting lineup. Fred Smith, veteran colored end, was not taken on the trip. A wrenched knee, suffered earlier in the season, failed to respond to treatment, and it was decided to leave Smith behind for additional rest. The roster:

Right guards—Bob Allen, Charles Tollefson, and Wilbur Nead.
Right tackles—Henry Luebcke, Ham Snider, and Carl Vergamini.
Right ends—Dick Evans, Jens Norgaard, and Joe Moore.

Grange Will Address Illini Club Luncheon

Eastern Storm Washes Out Golf, Baseball, Tennis

New York, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The tail of a hurricane swept through the east today upsetting the best laid plans of tennis officials, golf promoters, and baseball managers.

At Forest Hills, where the national singles tournament was in progress—until Saturday—rain set a record for consecutive washouts by causing the fourth straight postponement of play. The courts were in such poor condition, the matches were postponed until Friday at the earliest.

The matches to be played include three semi-finals between Don Budge and Sydney Wood, Gene Mako and Jack Bromwich of Australia and Alice Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan. Only one finalist, Nancye Wynne, the Australian girl, has been chosen.

The richest golf tournament in recent years, the 108 hole Westchester, also was put over until Friday morning, when half the field of 275 will start the first 18 holes. The Fenway club course was under water in spots.

Ball players, presented in the east with a three day vacation, started to fret with another day's postponement. Only St. Louis and Boston in the east were able to play, and they got through only the first game of their double bill.

South Water Markets and Harmons Win in Softball

Witt Hanley's South Water Markets qualified for a berth in the second round playoffs of the Windy City Softball league by defeating the Salernos, 9 to 5, last night at Mills stadium. In the other league game the Harmons came from behind to beat the Senate Florals, 6 to 5. Tonight at 8:30 the Miami Club faces the Senate Florals and an hour later the Markets will meet the Arveys.

Cards to Use Rookies in Packer Game

Two rookies will make belated debuts as professional players Sunday when the Cardinals meet the Green Bay Packers in a National Football league game at Milwaukee.

They are Jack Robbins, former University of Arkansas half back, regarded as one of the finest forward passers produced in the Southwestern conference, and Milt Popovich, University of Montana's hard running half back.

Another rookie who played only a few minutes against Cleveland will start against the Packers. He is Frank Patrick, former Pittsburgh full back.

Robbins and Patrick have seen little action with the Cardinals because they did not join the club until late, having participated in college All-Star games in Chicago and Dallas, Tex. Popovich's inactivity was due to an injured ankle.

The Cardinals will finish heavy work for the Green Bay game tomorrow afternoon, and will hold a signal practice on Saturday. They will leave for Milwaukee Sunday morning.

ST. PAUL BEATEN BY CHATTANOOGA AT BATTLE CREEK

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—St. Paul, 1937 champion, was beaten by Chattanooga, 4 to 3, and eliminated from the American baseball congress' little world series this afternoon. St. Paul had been defeated once before by Omaha, Neb., which also has been eliminated. One unbeaten team, Oklahoma City, and four once defeated teams.

RAINS MAY WASH PIRATES' CRAFT INTO TITLE PORT

Cubs Must Work Miracle to Overcome Lead.

New York, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Pie Traynor and his Pittsburgh Pirates are probably the only folk in the east tonight who can't complain about the weather.

They're still three and one-half games in front in the National league's pennant swimming meet; they've had two of their toughest games—with Brooklyn—rained off the schedule this week, and as a direct result of the rain which has washed out all first division proceedings since Sunday the burden is now more than ever on the chasers, the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds.

On top of that, the rain has made it even tougher for the second place Cubs by fixing things so they'll play the Phillies in a double-header Friday—an originally scheduled open date—forcing them to make a fast hop to Chicago to open against the Cardinals the next day.

It's a Big Assignment.

Even by filling in that open date, however, the Cubs would have to be as hot as a forest fire for the rest of the season, and the Pirates would have to cool off a lot more than they have so far, to make any difference in the final standings.

As matters now stand, the weather man has established a record for wrecking a National league season. Available data show the most unplayed games in any campaign to date was twelve, wiped off the schedule by rain or ties in 1907 and again in 1913. The American league mark is twenty-four, in 1901 and 1913. So far this year the chances are the National league will lose at least fourteen games.

Cubs Must Win Eleven.

If all remaining games are played the Pirates and Reds will wind up with only 150 games completed of their scheduled 154, the Giants will have 151, and the Cubs, 152.

Under the present standings therefore, if the Pirates play .500 ball in their remaining twelve games—winning six and losing six—the Cubs would have to win eleven of their thirteen to catch up. If the Cubs should take all their thirteen starts, Pittsburgh can drop three of twelve and still finish in front.

The Cubs still are counting somewhat on the Reds and Pirates kicking each other around in the seven games they must play, which would permit Chicago to catch up at the expense of the Cardinals. That would depend to some extent on the Cards slipping, which they aren't doing these days.

DODGERS ARE VEXED

New York, Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Pittsburgh's struggling Pirates, who seem to have found a new way to win the pennant—that of being rained in—are here today, scheduled to meet their most belligerent foes, the Dodgers, in a double-header tomorrow. As Larry MacPhail, Dodger vice president, figures it, they have arrived with a chip on the shoulder.

"The Pirates certainly weren't sportsmen," MacPhail said, "by squawking when the Cubs were considering the chance to play us in a double-header next Friday. If they're going to win the pennant they ought to prove their right to the title as the league's best team."

TILDEN DEFEATS KELLY, 7 TO 0, IN SOCCER OPENER

Tilden, Chicago public high school soccer champion, opened the season yesterday with a 7 to 0 victory over Kelly in Gage park. Tilden scored all its goals in the first half. Bruno Zubko, center forward; Walter Meyer, inside right, and John Bandusky, outside right, scored for Tilden. Zubko and Meyer made three goals each and Bandusky one.

Lane beat Hyde Park, 8 to 1, at Kimball avenue and Addison street. The score at the half was 6 to 0. Fred Dreuck, with four goals; Adolph Screng, with three, and Steve Krispin, with one, scored for Lane. Grieve scored for Hyde Park.

Schurz made five goals in the final period to triumph over Von Steuben, 7 to 1, at Elston and Kedzie avenues. Crane, last season's runnerup, defeated Manly, new in the league, 3 to 0.

GREENBERG HITS NO. 54; TIGERS WIN TWO GAMES

Hank Drives In Six Runs in First Game.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Home runs by Hank Greenberg and Charley Gehringer enabled the Tigers to sweep a double-header with the Philadelphia Athletics today, 8 to 6 and 3 to 0. The second game was called at the end of five innings because of darkness.

Greenberg hit his fifty-fourth homer of the year in the first inning of the opener to stay in front of the pace set by Babe Ruth in 1927 when he established the major league record of sixty. The games today were the 142d and 143d for Detroit. Ruth hit his fifty-fourth homer in 1927 in the New York Yankees' 145th game. Greenberg batted home six of the eight Detroit runs in the opener.

Gehringer's homer, his eighteenth of the season, came in the opening inning of the second game with Chester Morgan on base. It provided Cletus Poffenberger with a winning margin in his first start since he rejoined the Tigers. He has been with Toledo of the American association.

RED SOX BEAT BROWNS.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 21.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox beat the Browns, 8 to 4, today to sweep a three game series, centering their attack on one big inning—a five run fifth. Jimmy Foxx hit his 47th home run of the season with one on base to start the rally. It was Buck Newsom's fifteenth loss against eighteen victories, and Fritz Ostermueller's twelfth victory against five defeats. Lefty Grove held the Browns hitless in the last two innings, striking out two.

P. Dean Holds Bees to 7 Hits; Cards Win, 4-0

Boston, Mass., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Joe Medwick drove in all the runs today as the St. Louis Cardinals shut out Boston's Bees, 4 to 0, in the first game of a scheduled double-header. Paul Dean, in his second start since a short term in the Texas league, allowed the Bees only seven hits, all singles. The second game was called because of high wind and rain in the first half of the third inning. Neither team had scored.

Mrs. Page Trails.

Mrs. Page found herself two down after the third, Miss Jameson's par taking the first, where the champion was on the side of a bunker, and the third with a forty foot putt for a birdie. A trap cost Betty the fourth, but Mrs. Page had similar difficulty on the fifth, but three putts and a poor chip lost the sixth and seventh for the Texan. Both birdied the eighth, Betty dropping a twenty-five footer for hers, and they halved the ninth. Betty missed a short putt at the tenth, but holed an eight footer to win the eleventh. The champion then fired birdies at the twelfth and thirteenth, took the fifteenth after her opponent drove the rough, and chipped up to within six inches for a decisive bird at the sixteenth.

Miss Berg scrambled through the first nine, finding herself two down after five holes. She missed a chance for a win at the sixth, missing a five foot putt after Miss Shorb had holed an eight footer for a half, following a visit to a bunker. A bunker cost Patty the seventh, she missed a seven foot putt for a win at the eighth, and three putted the ninth. Patty then doffed the rain trousers with which she had started the match and fired two birds and two pars, enough to win her three holes and leave her only one down.

The match was square after the 525 yard fifteenth, where Miss Shorb trapped her third shot. Patty three putted the sixteenth after she appeared to have it won, and took the lead for the first time at the seventeenth when Miss Shorb spanked an iron into the rough. The Minnesotan clung to that margin by halving the eighteenth in par five.

MONARCH BEERS TAKE LEAD IN CLASSIC LEAGUE

By winning all three games from the Prager Beers last night at the Garden Recreation, the Monarch Beers went into first place in the Classic league. The Baby Ruth Candies, who were tied with the Monarchs, lost two games to the Powerhouse Candy Bars and they are now in a tie for second place with the Pabst Blue Ribbon Beers, who won two games from the Thompson Restaurants. The Ambrosia Beers won two games from the Schlitz Beers.

Von Schacht Disqualified in Match with Pete Schu

Friedrich Von Schacht was disqualified in his match with Pete Schu last night at the Rainbo Fronton. The time was thirty-five minutes and ten seconds. Von Schacht failed to heed the repeated warnings of Referee Earl Mollohan that he was using a strangle hold.

PORT GIRL LOSES RACE; PROBABLY HOST OF FRIENDS

Lets Them Down Hard as Poetic Wins.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Port Girl, from Paul Kelley's racing stable, might as well have touched a torch to the bank rolls of the 7,500 fans who visited the Hawthorne course yesterday afternoon.

The daughter of Portmanteau-Top Girl was made the 2 to 5 favorite to win the Regent claiming purse for 2 year olds. Everybody bet on Port Girl, then calmly waited for her to make a show of her rivals.

Came the horrible agony. Jocky T. P. Martin got Port Girl away in fourth place. He rushed her up into third place in a jiffy. Then in another jiffy he dropped her back into fourth place. And that's where she finished, beaten by seven and a half lengths by the winner, Poetic, a Louisville colt. Kitty Carroll was second and Jockeb third.

Tough on "Experts."

About $12,000 of the $24,000 wagered on the race thus was tossed over the transom and scattered to the winds by Port Girl. She was one of the shortest priced favorites to lose in Chicago all this season.

Port Girl was supposed to fancy the sort of heavy track that prevailed. However, she was in an ugly, non-running mood. Poetic, daughter of the famous old mud runner In Memoriam, which gained his first racing fame over the same track more than ten years ago, liked the going.

Except for Fair Haste, which won the first race, and Formax, the winner in the third, the favorites behaved in stubborn fashion all afternoon. Wild Love trimmed stoutly backed Dark Seeker in the second, while Count Cary, the choice in the fourth, did not even finish in the money. Lauerman won it at a $17.20 payoff.

What a Pal Fails.

Then in the Ravenswood claiming purse at six and a half furlongs, the best number on the program, the favorite What a Pal also failed to share in any part of the purse. Jocky Bobby Conley, who was riding his third winner of the afternoon, sent Eva R. out into an early lead. He kept her there long enough to score a victory in a stirring head finish from Hook It and Star Bess.

Conley's two other winners had been scored on Wild Love in the second and on Formax in the third. He was called before the stewards following his victory on Wild Love. Jocky Abe Selenker, who came in yesterday morning from Latonia, lodged a claim of foul against Conley. Selenker was in the saddle on Rhett, which had finished second. He claimed that Conley had impeded Rhett when Rhett was moving toward the front.

Conley was well in front with Wild Love when the incident happened. The claim of foul was not allowed.

Chicago - Southwest Rates Reduced.

The first test the new Civil Aeronautics act on stabilization of airline passenger fares was foreseen yesterday. United Air Lines Transport corporation announced it would protest rate reductions being planned by Northwest Airlines, Inc.

United Air Lines asked the Civil Aeronautics authority whether it could protest reductions effective Oct. 1 between several points on the Northwest system. The two lines compete between Chicago and cities of the Pacific northwest. That part of United's lines accounts for a relatively small part of its total business, however.

If the CAA does not accept United's protest, the line will meet the Northwest's reduction on round trip fares between competitive points, company officials said.

Two Others Cut Rates.

Two other airlines yesterday made bids for more passenger trafic. American Airlines and the Braniff Airways announced lowered rates for trips to the southwest from Chicago, effective Sept. 25. The reductions range from 2 to nearly 10 per cent on round trips.

	American Airlines		Braniff
	Old.	New.	Old.	New.
St. Louis	$ 25.10	$ 23.30	$.....	$.....
Tulsa	62.90	57.42	.....	.....
Okla. City	74.60	67.50	73.70	67.50
Dallas-Ft. Wrth.	93.50	84.32	93.50	84.32
El Paso	141.38	138.43	.....	.....
Tucson	174.50	170.92	.....	.....

Braniff does not serve St. Louis, Tulsa, El Paso or Tucson. Several weeks ago its round trip rate to Kansas City was reduced from $38.70 to $28.60.

Hope to Boost Trafic.

With the slice in the Chicago-Dallas rate, Braniff now offers a round trip fare to Mexico City for $210.32 instead of the previous rate of $219.50. The combined fare to Houston is thus reduced from $118.70 to $109.52 and to Brownsville, Tex., from $143.90 to $134.72. The Braniff line ends at Brownsville and the Pan-American Airways completes the trip to Mexico.

Bonham M. Fox, city trafic manager for Braniff, and L. W. King, district sales manager for American Airlines, said the reductions were made because previous lowering of fares on other routes had increased passenger business from forty to seventy per cent.

Girdler Urges Policy Change in Advertising

Cleveland, O., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—American industry's advertising has been too long under the spell of the old mousetrap adage, Tom M. Girdler, Republic Steel corporation chairman, said here today. [He referred to the quotation from Ralph Waldo Emerson, "If you . . . build a better mousetrap than your neighbor, the world will make a beaten path to your door."]

Tom M. Girdler.

Speaking before the sixteenth annual conference of the National Industrial Advertisers' association, Girdler urged industry "to close the gap between itself and the public" through careful merchandising of its products. He suggested advertising products with a public instead of technical or trade appeal.

Has Impressive Record.

"Industry," Girdler said, "has the obligation of proving to the country that it has the public welfare at heart as much if not more than the political demagogue. Industry has an impressive record of vast and solid achievement. That story in all its ramifications should be told by every industry in and out of season. It can be told simply and effectively by giving the public facts about industry in order that public opinion may be enlightened and not mislead."

Girdler said that in the last few years critics of business have fed the people a continuous diet of misinformation and misrepresentation. Hurling a challenge, he asked if industry was going to let the public absorb this diet without making an effort to bring out the truth.

Plenty to Tell Public.

"Business as a whole has plenty to tell the public about itself," he said. "Business has to sell far more than merely the product which it makes. It has also to sell its contribution to our standard of living, to employment, and to economic stability, and its contribution to the general progress of the community in which it is located."

Many industries are awakening to the importance of the problem and are carrying on the job of giving the public facts about themselves, according to Girdler. He pointed to the steel industry is an example. Steel makers are telling the public what steel is, what it does for civilization, what it means to the communities which are steel-producing centers, and how steel conducts its business, he said.

Would Teach Public.

"Steel makers are convinced that as a basic industry which sells its product to the fabricator and manufacturer, who only later pass it on to the public, we must close the gap that existed for so long between our industry and the public. We must show the public that their standard of living, their progress, and their prosperity are directly related to the activities of the steel industry.

"That sort of job is one which should be undertaken by every industry. Many are already in direct contact with the general public through various sales, advertising, and publicity activities. But too many companies have been thinking almost exclusively in terms of customers."

EUROPEAN MONEYS GAIN ON DOLLAR AS CZECH CRISIS EASES

Major European currencies rose in value yesterday in terms of the dollar. The upswing followed news that Czechoslovakia had accepted Anglo-French demands that the Sudeten area be turned over to Germany.

The British pound sterling advanced 1⅛ cents in foreign exchange dealings in New York, closing at $4.83. The French franc was up 0.00⅝ cent to 2.70⅞ cents. Holland guilders closed 0.13 cent higher at 54.16 cents. The Belgian belga rose 0.01 cent to 16.87 cents, and the Swiss franc closed at 22.69 cents, up 0.05 cent.

Gold was quoted in the London market at 144 shillings an ounce, the same as the previous day. This was equivalent to $34.70.

Engagement of $1,300,000 of gold in England for shipment to America was reported by the New York Federal Reserve bank. Arrivals late Tuesday and yesterday totaling $8,204,000 were reported yesterday by the bank. War risk insurance rates in London remained unchanged.

NEW GROUP GETS VOICE IN UTILITIES POWER HEARINGS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—The Securities and Exchange commission today issued an order permitting Harry Reid, Max McGraw and B. B. Robinson, as the general protective committee for security holders of Utilities Power and Light corporation, to intervene in reorganization plans for the latter corporation.

The SEC also reaffirmed its opinion that the committee was organized on behalf of Associated Gas & Electric company system. The Atlas corporation, proponent of a plan of reorganization, had filed objections to the petition by the committee to intervene.

The action of the commission in requiring that the commission's memorandum opinion "attacking the committee" must accompany any letters or circulars transmitted to security holders of the corporation by the committee was characterized by Clarence A. Ross, counsel for the committee, as "a abuse of discretion."

RUNNING TIME OF N. Y. CENTRAL TRAINS REDUCED

The westbound running time of the Lake Shore Limited between New York and Chicago will be cut 50 minutes under a new schedule going into effect Sunday, the New York Central announced yesterday. A ten minute cut will be made in the eastbound running time of the Commodore Vanderbilt.

Other changes that become effective Sunday include the restoration of the Chicago-Detroit train known as the Michigan, which leaves here at 8:30 a. m., arriving in Detroit at 3:15 p. m. The train was temporarily discontinued last spring.

The changes are being made in connection with the shift from daylight saving time which becomes effective Sunday. The Twentieth Century will leave an hour earlier, Chicago time, under the new schedule.

U. S. Smelting Has $2,364,086 8 Month Profit

Lower earnings were reported in statements issued yesterday by the United States Smelting and Refining company and the Singer Manufacturing company. Interim statements showing a downtrend in profits were issued by several other corporations.

United States Smelting had a profit of $2,364,086 in the eight months ended Aug. 31, equal to $2.41 per share of common stock. Profit was $4,485,894, or $6.41 a share, in the corresponding period a year earlier.

Reporting for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1937, the Singer Manufacturing company, sewing machine makers, showe a net profit of $14,302,906, equal to $15.89 a share. This compared with $15,137,713, or $16.82 in 1936. The company, which manufactures sewing machines for domestic and industrial use, does a world-wide business.

Morton Joins Singer Board.

Singer officials announced the election of John Morton to the board of directors to succeed F. A. Park.

Public Service Corporation of New Jersey reported for the twelve months ended Aug. 31 a profit of $22,434,383, compared with $25,554,695 in the preceding twelve months. August net income was $1,321,473, against $1,424,821 in August, 1937.

The H. W. Gossard company, Chicago manufacturer of corsets and brassieres, had profit of $198,698, equal to 91 cents a share, in the nine months ended Aug. 31. This compared with $239,807, or $1.10 a share, in the corresponding period last year.

STOCKS MAKE MODEST GAINS ON PEACE MOVE

Trading Turns Slow After Advance.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 21.—Stock market prices closed modestly higher today. A total of 467 issues of 730 traded ended higher, against 129 lower and 134 unchanged. Turnover was 1,025,220 shares.

The Czechoslovakian-German controversy was the dominating influence, observers said. That the list closed higher was attributed to the official announcement that the Czechoslovak government had accepted the Anglo-French plan for solution of the Sudeten question. Gains did not exceed fractions for the most part. This was believed due to the belief in Wall street that Prague's surrender did not constitute a final disposition of the central European problem.

Opening Prices Lower.

Opening prices were mostly lower on overnight news that the Czechs were unwilling to accept the London plan without reservations. First reports that the Czech government had finally accepted the plan brought a rally just before midday. In short order a wave of buying forced the ticker several minutes behind and lifted prices of leading stocks fractions to two points.

The rally was short-lived. Around noon, the market lapsed into an apathetic state and prices gave up some of the quickly won gains.

Business news, although largely obscured by international developments, was regarded as cheerful in spots and of enough influence to aid some groups.

Leading Rails Advance.

An early forecast that car loadings last week reached a high mark for the year was reflected in the hardening of leading rail stocks.

In the industrials, steel, rubber, and motor stocks found some favor. Gains of fractions to one point were registered by United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, United States Rubber, Goodrich, Goodyear, and kindred issues.

Power and light shares moved narrowly. Oils were mixed.

Aviation shares, notably Douglas, Boeing, and United Aircraft, were on the upside. Merchandising issues gave ground.

Philip Morris common gained 4¾ points on the overnight announcement of a 50 per cent dividend declaration. The preferred was quiet and unchanged.

Prices Soar in Berlin.

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Latest international developments were interpreted so favorably today that the boerse had its liveliest session in a long time, with stock prices soaring. Heavy industry shares were especially benefited. Harpener Mining recorded a 12 per cent advance, Rhenish Steel 5¼ per cent, Siemens Halse 4¾, General Electric 3, and Hamburg American, 2. Shares of lignite companies affiliated with the Czech Petschnek concern rose 4 to 5 per cent.

London Stocks Rally.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The stock market closed with a steady tone as prices rallied from their early low levels. Traders were extremely cautious in making commitments. British funds finished about ¼ lower and the trans-Atlantic section was irregular with fractional changes in both directions.

Price movements were generally lower on the Paris bourse.

Roosevelt Committee Delays Rail Study Till Pay Row Ends

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—(AP)—A committee representing railroad workers and employers decided today to postpone discussion of legislative aid for the industry until the pending wage dispute is settled.

Carl R. Gray.

Carl R. Gray, vice chairman of the Union Pacific railroad, acted as spokesman for the group of six.

The committee was asked yesterday by President Roosevelt to attempt to work out a coöperative program for regaining some of the railroad's lost trafic.

Gray Issues Statement.

Gray's statement follows:

"Owing to pendency of wage proceedings, and as the President has indicated he will appoint a fact finding committee next week, the time of the labor executives will be so fully occupied during most of October that it was decided the next meeting would be postponed to a date later to be fixed.

"There was a general discussion at today's meeting of an approach and the methods which will be followed in pursuing the study the President has asked us to undertake."

The threat of a nation-wide strike—born of the carriers' proposal to cut wages 15 per cent—hung over the conference.

Cut Ordered for Oct. 1.

After mediation efforts failed recently, the carriers decreed the wage cut for Oct. 1. Railway labor is taking a vote to decide whether to strike. The result, to be announced next Monday, will affect about 900,000 workers.

President Roosevelt told reporters yesterday, however, that he would appoint a commission to study the dispute. Under the national mediation act, the strike could not take place for sixty days after that body is selected.

The commission would have thirty days to make its findings and recommendations. Labor and management would have an additional thirty days, described by government labor experts as a "cooling off" period, to study the report.

Wheat Sinks Again as War Fright Fades

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .62⅞	$ .64¼	$1.05⅜
Corn	.48⅞	.49⅝	.65⅛
Oats	.25	.25⅝	.31
Rye	.42⅝	.43⅛	.79⅜
Soy beans	.75¼	.77	.94⅛

The apparent rapid fading of the war scare in Europe yesterday caused a further decline in wheat futures. Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net losses of 1⅛ to 1⅞ cents a bushel. Prices were at the lowest level since Sept. 13. Winnipeg was 1¾ to 1½ cent lower. Liverpool closed 1⅛ cent higher to ⅜ cent lower.

Export Demand Lacking.

There was no export demand for North American wheat. Business was reported as largely of a routine character. Washington reports indicated that government officials were disappointed over the failure of the export program to function as expected. Traders had intimations some additional method of supporting wheat prices may be announced shortly.

October wheat in Liverpool showed the most strength, influenced by small supplies of grain available for delivery on future contracts. The English market was also affected by reports that Russia would not offer additional wheat for export.

Canadian Weather Favorable.

Favorable weather conditions prevailed in the Canadian northwest in the last week. This resulted in a material increase in deliveries of wheat at country elevators. More than 6 million bushels were delivered by farmers on Thursday. More than one-third of the 330,000,000 bushels of wheat harvested in the three western Canadian provinces is reported to have left farmers' hands.

Liberal hedging sales had a depressing effect on corn futures. Closing trades were at net losses of ⅝ to 1⅛ cents a bushel with September leading. Yesterday's prices were the lowest since Sept. 8. The country sold 300,000 bushels of old corn for deferred shipment.

The Agriculture Adjustment administration was reported contemplating storing corn at terminal markets. This corn is expected to be obtained as the result of expiring government loans.

HEARST CONSOLIDATED STOCKHOLDER FILES SUIT FOR $53,000,000

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Samuel Mann, who identified himself as a stockholder in Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., had a $53,000,000 suit on file in Superior court here today. He seeks recovery in behalf of himself and other stockholders.

He also asks an accounting from the corporation and a receivership. The suit is directed against William Randolph Hearst, publisher, certain members of his family and business associates who are directors in the corporation. It alleges certain transfers of stock resulted in a loss to the stockholders of the sum sought.

Mann also charges Hearst dominated the other directors of the corporation and ran it for his own personal gain.

Remington Rand's Orders in August Top Year Ago

Domestic orders booked in August by Remington Rand, Inc., were 14 per cent larger than in July and 4.5 per cent better than in August, 1937, the company announced yesterday. Orders to step-up production have been issued to several of the corporation's plants. The General Shaver corporation, which manufactures Remington Rand electric shavers, now is working at 100 per cent of capacity and is behind on orders.

DOUGLAS DENIES SEC RESTRICTS NEW FINANCING

Holds It Aids Good Management.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—Policies of the Securities and Exchange commission are in tune with conservative management, William O. Douglas, chairman of the commission, declared tonight. He addressed delegates to the seventh international management congress.

W. O. Douglas.

Douglas denied that securities regulation has proved costly or has placed a restrictive burden on new financing. He defended the SEC policies at a dinner sponsored by the Society for the Advancement of Management as part of the conference program.

Parley in Third Day.

This was the third day of sessions devoted to varied aspects of business management. Twenty-one nations are represented at the congress. Approximately 2,000 industrial leaders and management experts are attending.

Earlier in the day the congress heard Germany's economic aims described and defended by George Seebauer, president of the German board of efficiency. It also heard Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, defend technology. Dr. Compton declared that technological unemployment is a "myth," and that technology will help solve social problems.

Douglas first outlined the functions of the SEC and then launched into a general defense of SEC practices.

Contends Policies Are "In Tune."

"These tasks of ours are varied," said Douglas. "They constitute various types of patrol of finance. They are in tune with the standards of conservative management for they reflect the simple fundamentals which should govern the relationship of a manager to an owner.

"It is the job of the SEC to re-

KIWANIS APPROVE CHANGE IN BANK LAW OF ILLINOIS

Members of Kiwanis International, attending the Illinois-Eastern Iowa district convention at the Edgewater Beach hotel, yesterday adopted a resolution supporting proposed amendments to the Illinois banking laws. It urged elimination of the double liability feature of the present laws.

Robert H. Cabell, president of Armour & Co., told the Kiwanians that hope of restoring export and import trade in the western world rests with this country. America, he said, alone has the necessary capital and business freedom to effect improved business with other nations.

LAND GRANT RAIL RATES ASSAILED; REPEAL SOUGHT

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 21.—(AP)—A recommendation for repeal of laws requiring land grant railroads to make special rates on government shipments was placed before the Great Lakes regional advisory board today.

Abolishment of the differential between rates of land grant and unobligated roads was recommended by the executive committee of the board.

"Shippers who have to use unobligated railroads are placed at a disadvantage when bidding against users of land grant roads on government contracts," Fred Renshaw, Buffalo member of the board, asserted. Land grant railroads must carry government supplies at less than standard rates, he explained.

The board today forecast a 7.3 per cent drop in car loadings in the Great Lakes area during the last quarter of 1938. Its report estimated loadings in the Buffalo-Cleveland-Detroit territory would total 336,626 cars in the next three months. Loadings in the last 1937 quarter totaled 363,034.

COTTON

Cotton markets were weaker yesterday. Hedging pressure and favorable weather for gathering the new crop were depressing influences. Closing trades were at net losses of .01 to .09 cent a pound.

An active demand was reported for cotton goods in New York. Sales thus far this week were estimated at as much as 25,000,000 yards. Prices on some lines of textiles were quoted ⅛ cent a yard higher.

Spot action closed .03 to .04 cent lower, with New Orleans and Houston, 8 cents, and Galveston, 7.95 cents a pound. Prices follow:

PRICES OF CZECH BONDS TUMBLE; OTHERS STRONG

Domestic Rail Issues Make Sharp Gains.

New York, Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Czechoslovakian bonds slumped 7 to 8½ points today. The 8s of '52 closed 8½ points lower at 75 and those due in 1951 slumped 7¼ points to 74. The same issues in the London market fell 10 to 15 points on the news that Czechoslovakia had consented to its partitioning.

The slump in the Czech liens recalled that the drop of 37½ points in the Austrian 7s of '57 the day after Germany took over Austria last March.

Rest of List Strong.

The rest of the bond list was fairly strong. Other foreign issues made gains of fractions to 3 points. Domestic railroad bonds turned sharply higher in the early trading, leading the rest of the list upward. Best prices were trimmed slightly at the close, however.

Alleghany 5s of '44 were up 3 points at 65. Others rising more than a point included Southern Railway 4s at 43, Nickel Plate 6s at 54½, and M-K-T 5s of '62 at 37½.

Allis Chalmers 4s Rise.

Allis Chalmers 4s of '52 rose 2 points to 111½. General Steel castings 5½s were up 1⅞ to 53⅜. Commonwealth Edison convertible debentures gained 1⅜ to close at 104. Unissued bonds of the same maturity gained 1⅜ to 104 on a "when issued" basis.

United States governments were strong with final gains ranging to 20-32ds of a point.

STEEL EXPORTS LITTLE AFFECTED BY WAR FRIGHT

Iron and steel exports of the United States have not been affected much by the European turmoil, the magazine Iron Age said yesterday. Several continental nations have placed sizable orders with American mills, the publication said, but in general the export trade has not boomed on the war threat.

Germany recently purchased 40,000 tons of steel scrap in the United States, Iron Age asserted. This was in addition to a larger order placed earlier. Russia has bought a large quantity of steel sheets.

Iron Age said that the European problem may be a factor in the obvious hesitancy of buyers to enter the steel market. Steel ingot production this week is at 47.5 per cent of capacity, the magazine said, but prospects for the future are dim. The gain in new business in September is disappointingly slow, and the trade is cautious, according to Iron Age.

Reaffirmation of current prices on other major steel products was expected generally, Iron Age said.

PIG IRON PRICE BOOST DECIDED IN BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 21.—(AP)—It was disclosed here today that pig iron prices will be advanced $1 a ton at all principal producing points next week. The new price level will be $17 a ton for southern No. 2 and $21 for similar grade at Buffalo, N. Y.

[The Interlake Iron corporation announced in Cleveland, O., Tuesday night that it had raised the pig iron price $1 a ton, effective Sept. 27.]

Merchant iron firms here would not comment on the pending raise. Pig iron prices were reduced $4 per ton by a southern iron maker last July 1, with competitors following suit.

Rumors of price raises have been current here since operating levels passed 75 per cent of capacity. Fourteen furnaces are in blast here, with two others expected to begin pouring iron by the end of the month.

POLAND OFFERS NEW BONDS FOR OLD DOLLAR LOAN

Offer of a settlement to holders of $13,456,300 outstanding Republic of Poland 7 per cent stabilization loan of 1927 dollar bonds, now in default, was announced yesterday by Janusz Zoltowski, financial counselor of the Polish embassy in the United States.

"The terms of the offer follow generally the pattern set forth in the first of the offers made by Poland to other American creditors early this year," Zoltowski said. "Interest payments will be reduced from 7 to 4½ per cent per annum; the maturity of the bonds assenting to the offer will be extended to 1968, and interest will be payable in dollars, pounds sterling, Swiss francs, Dutch florins, Swedish kroner or in French francs at the option of the bondholder as provided in the original loan agreement.

"Poland is undertaking, by means of a multiple currency provision, to provide that interest shall not be less than $5.50 per annum on each $100 bond."

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

War on Bang's Disease.

September 21, 1938.

PENNSYLVANIA dairy farmers, milk consumers and health authorities have set out to put Bang's disease under control. Testing and slaughtering infected animals is being carried out on the township basis. A similar area test plan has been successfully followed in the nation-wide war against tuberculosis.

Milk producers and consumers both are interested in the Bang's disease campaign because the plague causes abortion in beef and dairy cattle and undulant fever in human beings.

Officials Pleased.

Veterinarians are encouraged by the results of their area test work, according to H. M. Kalodner, head of the bureau of animal industry in Pennsylvania. He says that approximately four per cent of infection is found in area testing where the township is being used as a unit, whereas, in individual initial testing infection is approximately thirteen per cent.

Here are the general mechanics of the area plan described by Kalodner: When 85 per cent of the cattle owners in a township sign state and federal agreements for Bang's disease tests the area is placed in quarantine which prohibits the entrance into that township of any animal that is not free of the disease. The law requires the posting of placards and the advertising of the fact that the township has been placed under quarantine. Then representative veterinarians of the state and federal governments 'test all cattle in the township without expense to the owner.

Shun Police Tactics.

"The bureau of animal industry does not feel that the time is at hand to make it mandatory that all people in a township have their cattle tested for Bang's disease," added Kalodner. "We will not use police measures, but will place the herd under quarantine until the owner signs state and federal agreements for the test.

"At the present time we have 47,531 herds comprising 489,531 cattle under supervision for Bang's disease under the state-federal coöperative plan. Area work is progressing at a most rapid pace. Of the 445 townships that have signed under the area plan 178 have been completely tested and retested. We have 628 herds comprising 11,049 cattle on the waiting list to be initially tested under the individual plan."

Dr. Richard A. Kern, professor of medicine, University of Pennsylvania, says that the proper procedure in preventing undulant fever in humans is to eliminate Bang's disease in animals.

Human Toll Mounts.

"That Bang's disease is transmissible to man has been abundantly demonstrated," said Dr. Kern." Moreover, as the various guises in which the disease can appear are being recognized, the number of human cases is mounting from year to year. It is certainly a much more important public problem than typhoid fever."

Dr. Kern added that European observers have designated human Brucellosis [undulant fever] as the "disease of the future." It is this authority's opinion that it constitutes a real industrial hazard among workers in packing houses and similar places, "and will soon be of medical legal significance in this country."

STOCKHOLDERS TAKE 96 PCT. OF NEW EDISON LOAN

15 Millions Subscribed For in Last Day.

The Commonwealth Edison company announced last night that stockholders had subscribed for $37,800,000 of the new 3½ per cent debentures. This was 96 per cent of the total amount offered.

The subscription period expired at 3 p. m. Chicago time yesterday. A last minute rush by stockholders to exercise their purchase options brought in subscriptions yesterday of about $15,000,000, officials said. This represented the largest single day's subscriptions since the offering was announced.

The $1,700,000 of debentures which were not subscribed for by stockholders will be purchased at par [100] by a syndicate of 88 underwriting firms headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co.

Stock Rights Lapse.

Edison officials said that purchase rights on 300,000 shares of stock were allowed to lapse by the holders. These represented warants issued to small stockholders.

Each stockholder was issued a right to purchase $5 principal amount of debentures for each share held. Subscriptions for fractional amounts were not accepted but holders were able to sell their proportional rights or buy enough to make subscriptions. The rights were quoted at 13 cents on the last transaction recorded yesterday on the Chicago Stock Exchange. They had sold earlier in a price range of 5 to 27 cents.

It is unlikely that the underwriters taking up the unsubscribed for debentures will make a public offering. It is understood that subscriptions have already been received by some of the large underwriters which exhaust their allotments.

Plan Nears Completion.

The present issue by the Edison company is part of the comprehensive refunding and recapitalization plan that has been under way for more than two years. A similar issue of debentures was sold to stockholders last June. Subscriptions on the June issue amounted to 96 per cent of the total offering, the same as received on the latest offering.

The Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, subsidiary of the Edison company, is scheduled to offer $80,000,000 of refunding bonds next month. This will mark the final step in the refunding program of the Edison group of companies.

1939 HUDSONS USE NEW PRINCIPLE TO AID STEERING

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—Improvements being built into the Hudson Motor Car company's 1939 line of automobiles were described today by W. A. James, an official of the company.

James mentioned:

1. A combination of several improvements giving an "entirely new ride."

2. A new mechanical principle which causes the wheels to hold their course automatically, giving the driver complete control of his car under all conditions, even in heavy side winds.

3. First use in automobiles of a new seat cushioning material which has been used in some airplanes and streamlined passenger trains.

Production is now in progress on the 1939 Hudsons, which will be introduced to the public in three new lines, James said. The payroll of the company now totals about 8,000 persons.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL NET OPERATING INCOME IS LARGER

Increased net operating income for August was reported yesterday by the Illinois Central railroad. It totaled $1,468,680, compared with $1,198,952 in August last year. For the eight months ended Aug. 31 the road showed net operating income of $8,414,406, against $8,870,654 in the corresponding 1937 period.

Gross revenues during August were $8,610,325, a decrease of $608,864 from the $9,219,189 reported in August, 1937.

Chesapeake and Ohio yesterday reported net income of $9,399,361, or $1.17 per common share, for the eight months ended Aug. 31. This compared with net income of $21,569,683, or $2.76 per common share, in the first eight months of 1937.

The Nickel Plate's August net income, after all charges, was $79,929, compared with $320,271 in August, 1937. For eight months the road had a deficit of $1,982,182, compared with net profit of $1,851,208 for the 1937 period.

POWER OUTPUT IN WEEK SETS NEW 1938 PEAK

A new 1938 high mark in electric power production was established during the week ended Sept. 17, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. The nation's output totaled 2,214,775,000 kilowatt hours, a more than seasonal gain of 8.1 per cent over the 2,048,360,000 hours of power generated in the preceding week.

The decline from production in the corresponding week of last year was only 2.9 per cent, according to the institute. This was the smallest decline from 1937 levels of any week this year.

The electricity output of the Commonwealth Edison company group, which serves the Chicago area, also showed an increase over production in the week ended Sept. 10. The group produced 133,379,000 kilowatt hours of power against only 123,551,000 hours in the preceding week. Production also showed much less decline from a year ago than in recent weeks.

PENNSY'S FREIGHT TRAFIC IN WEEK IS BEST IN TEN MONTHS

The Pennsylvania railroad reported yesterday that its revenue freight trafic in the week ended Sept. 17 was the heaviest since the week ended Nov. 13, 1937. It loaded 92,628 cars compared with 78,688 cars in the preceding week. The road's loadings from Jan. 1 to Sept. 17 totaled 2,956,177 cars. In the corresponding 1937 period loadings were 4,255,306 cars.

Most roads which reported yesterday had increased freight trafic in the week ended Sept. 17 compared with the preceding week. Car loadings of railroads which reported yesterday follow:

HEARING ORDERED ON REVAMPING OF POSTAL COMPANY

Plan Would Wipe Out Stockholder Equity.

New York, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe today set Oct. 24 for a hearing on a plan for reorganization of Postal Telegraph & Cable corporation. The plan eliminates interests of preferred and common stockholders. It segregates the land lines of the corporation into a new company, to be known as Postal Telegraph System, Inc.

The plan is sponsored by two bondholders' committees and has received tentative agreement of International Telephone & Telegraph corporation. I. T. and T. is a holding company which owns all of the 1,017,000 outstanding common shares of the Postal company. I. T. & T. has agreed to submit the plan to its stockholders.

Owns Part of Preferred.

International Telephone also owns $2,040,000 par value of the $30,529,000 par value of preferred stock of Postal outstanding.

Postal Telegraph has been in the federal courts under section 77B of the bankruptcy act since 1935.

No provision in the plan is made by the bondholders' committees for the holders of preferred and common stock of Postal because, in the opinion of the committees, the assets are not sufficient to meet the company's indebtedness. Consequently neither class of stock, in the committees' opinion, has any equity.

Would Merge Cable Lines.

The cable lines of Postal would be merged, under the plan, with two subsidiaries of I. T. & T.—All-America Cables and All-America Sera corporation. Two other new corporations would be created as a result of these mergers.

Bondholders of Postal would receive securities of the three new corporations and in addition would receive a minimum of $40 per $1,000 bond with provision for an additional $10 per $1,000 bond contingent upon 1938 earnings.

REPORT PITTSTON SUPPORTS PLAN TO REORGANIZE

New York, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Directors of the Pittston company were reported today to have approved a tentative plan involving reorganization of the company. The company is the coal unit of the former Van Sweringen rail system, but it now has a complex corporate structure, including many diverse properties.

Counsel for the firm, White & Case, were said to be going over the plan, which is to be submitted to stockholders with a request for proxies when it reaches final form.

Officers of the company and the law firm refused to give details. It was said, however, that the plan provides that $100,000 of needed cash be advanced to Pittston by the Virginian Transportation company, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway. Pittston's indebtedness to Virginian would be extended without additional collateral at a reduced rate of interest.

ALTON WON'T PAY OCT. 1 INTEREST ON 3 PER CENT BONDS

Baltimore, O., Sept. 21.—(AP)—The Chicago and Alton Railroad company will not pay on the Oct. 1 maturity the interest on its 3 per cent refunding bonds. It is seeking to develop a plan to reduce fixed charges. These developments were made known today by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, which owns the Chicago and Alton Railroad company.

The statement said the Chicago and Alton did not wish to seek reorganization under section 77B of the bankruptcy act. It added that the company is attempting to work out a plan "in coöperation with holders of a large amount of the refunding bonds," to be filed with the interstate commerce commission by Oct. 1.

FEDERAL BUTTER BUYING REDUCED; PRICES LOWER

The government financed butter stabilization agency restricted its buying operations in the principal markets yesterday. It purchased only 437,660 pounds in Chicago, New York and other chief marketing centers.

Quotations on butter for future delivery were lower on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Butter for delivery next November closed ⅝ cent a pound lower at 24⅞ cents. Transactions in futures totaled 27 carlots.

Final quotations on future contracts in eggs were unchanged. Eggs for October delivery closed at 23⅞ cents a dozen. Transactions totaled 175 carlots.

DEERE DECLARES INTERIM DIVIDEND OF $1.35 A SHARE

National Casket Orders Payment of $1.

An interim dividend of $1.35 a share was declared yesterday on the common stock of Deere and company, manufacturer of farm implements. The payment, the first on the common stock in the current fiscal year which ends Oct. 31, will be made Oct. 20 to stockholders of record Oct. 4, directors said.

The last previous cash payment on Deere and company common shares was $1 Oct. 20, 1937. Ten days later stockholders received a 200 per cent stock dividend on the common. No dividend action was taken by directors at their meeting in January of this year.

National Casket to Pay $1.

Directors of the National Casket company ordered payment of an interim dividend of $1 Nov. 15 to common stockholders of record Oct. 31. A dividend of $1.50 a share was paid May 14, and last Nov. 15 stockholders received $2 a share.

Three dividends were declared by directors of the United Milk Products company, Cleveland, O. The usual dividends of 50 cents a share on the common and 75 cents a share on the preferred issues were declared. In addition a participating dividend of 50 cents a preferred share was ordered. All are payable Oct. 1 to holders of record Sept. 23. Similar extra payments were made in preceding quarters.

Raybestos-Manhattan.

Investors' Guide: Please give me what information you have on Raybestos-Manhattan. Is it paying dividends? How big a company is it?—H. W. C.

Answer: Reflecting the dull conditions in the automobile industry during the late winter and spring, Raybestos-Manhattan, Inc., had a loss of $302,352 in the first half of this year, compared with a profit of $1,510,642 in the corresponding 1937 period. The company, which manufactures standard and specialized rubber and asbestos products, makes about half its sales to the automotive trade.

Among Raybestos-Manhattan products are asbestos textiles, packing, and millboard, abrasive grinding wheels, brake linings and brake service station equipment, rubber transmission, conveyor, and elevator belting, rivets and rivet setting machinery, rubber packing, pads, and hose, synthetic oilproof rubber products, and various other rubber items.

Until this year the company had made an excellent depression record by operating in the black in every recent year except 1932, when loss was $457,167. Net income was $1,924,890, or $3.04 a share, in 1937; $1,691,496, or $2.66 a share, in 1936, and $1,374,423, or $2.16 a share, in 1935. The company was incorporated July 5, 1929, in New Jersey.

Capital stock consists of 634,000 no par shares. Dividends totaling 67½ cents a share have been paid so far this year, the last payment being 15 cents on Sept. 15. Last year payments amounted to $1.75.

Assets totaled $17,226,762 on June 30. Current assets were $8,418,000 and current liabilities were $953,998. There is no funded debt.

Bond Quotation.

Investors' Guide: Please give me a quotation on Embassy company, St. Louis, income bonds.—B. L. G.

Answer: They are currently quoted at 25 cents on the dollar bid, 27 cents asked.

A. M. Castle Dividends.

Answer: A. M. Castle & Co. has paid a total of $1 a share so far in 1938, the last payment being 25 cents on Aug. 10.

General Motors Transfer Office.

Test Your Facts

1. [b] Mausoleum of Artemisia. [Erected at Halicarnassus to Mausolus, king of Caria. It was begun by his widow, Artemisia, and was completed in 350 B. C., after her death. The word mausoleum is derived from the name of King Mausolus. Halicarnassus, the king's capital, was an ancient Greek city in Caria, on the southwest coast of Asia Minor.]

2. [a] 100.

3. [b] Leoncavallo. [Ruggiero Leoncavallo, Italian composer; 1858-1919. The opera was first produced in Milan, Italy, in 1892.]

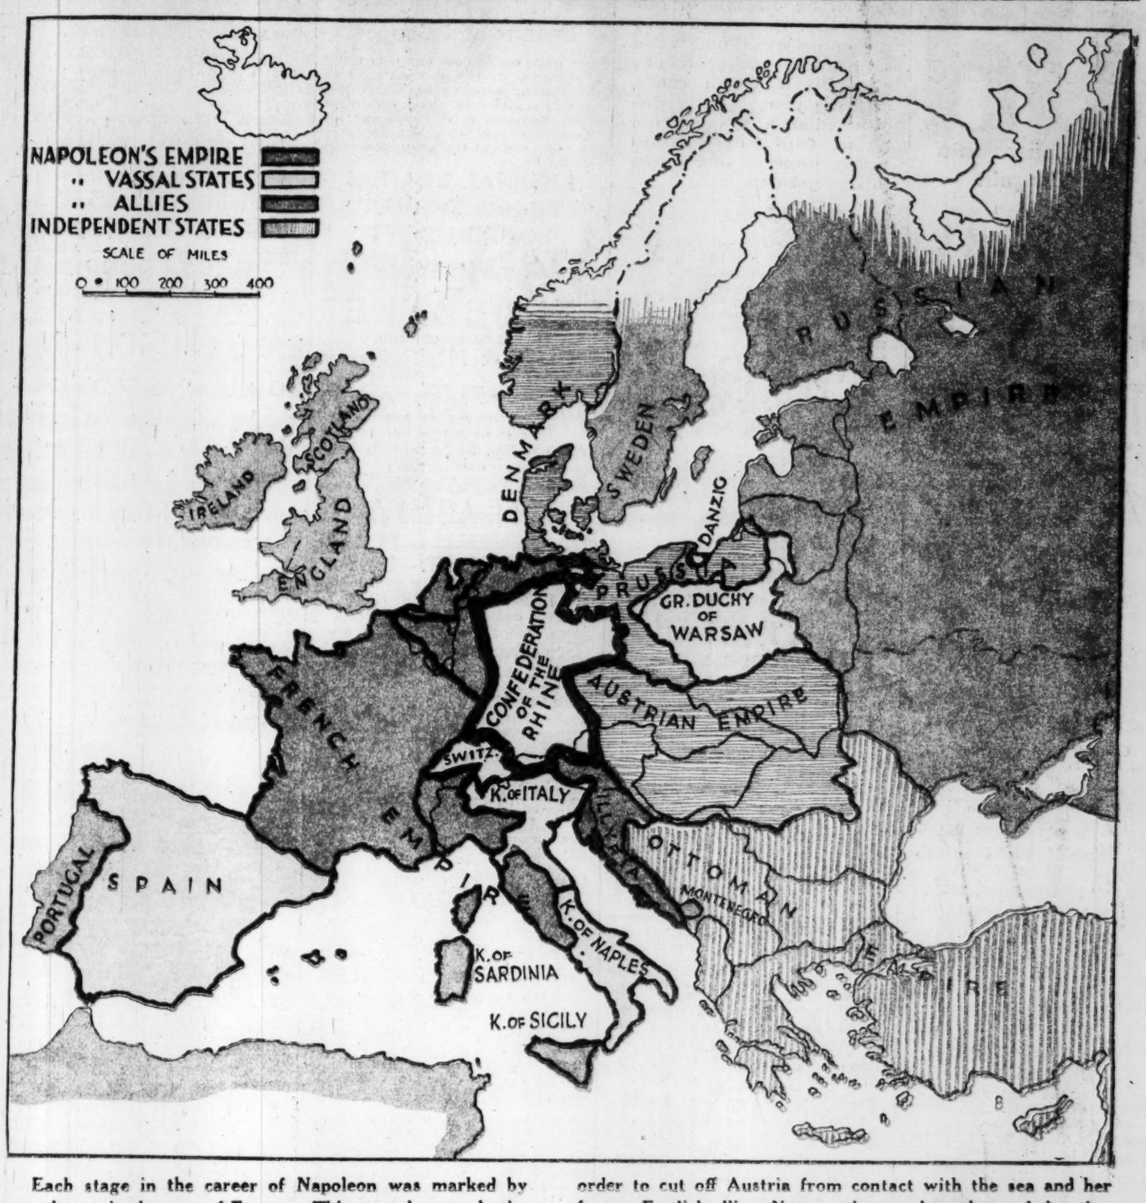
CHANGING BOUNDARY LINES OF EUROPEAN COUNTRIES OVER CENTURIES

I. AT THE TIME OF THE FIRST CRUSADES IN 1100

At the end of the eleventh century the great racial movements affecting Europe were practically at an end. The last great movement in the west was that of the Northmen, who had by 911 established the Duchy of Normandy. The Norman power was also established in south Italy. Scandinavians were also guiding the beginnings of the Russian states. Christianity had spread with great rapidity. The Magyars had accepted Latin Christianity while the Greek form had spread over the Balkan peninsula into Russia. The dominant power during this period was the kingdom of Germany. The pre-eminence of this kingdom was recognized by the revival of the name of the Roman Empire, which was limited to the kingdoms of Germany, Burgundy, and Italy. The German kingdom had no notable rival. France was broken up into feudal states. In Spain a series of small Christian states had begun. In 1071 the Seljuk Turks conquered Asia Minor and the Syrian coast.

II. IN 1810 AT HEIGHT OF THE NAPOLEONIC ERA

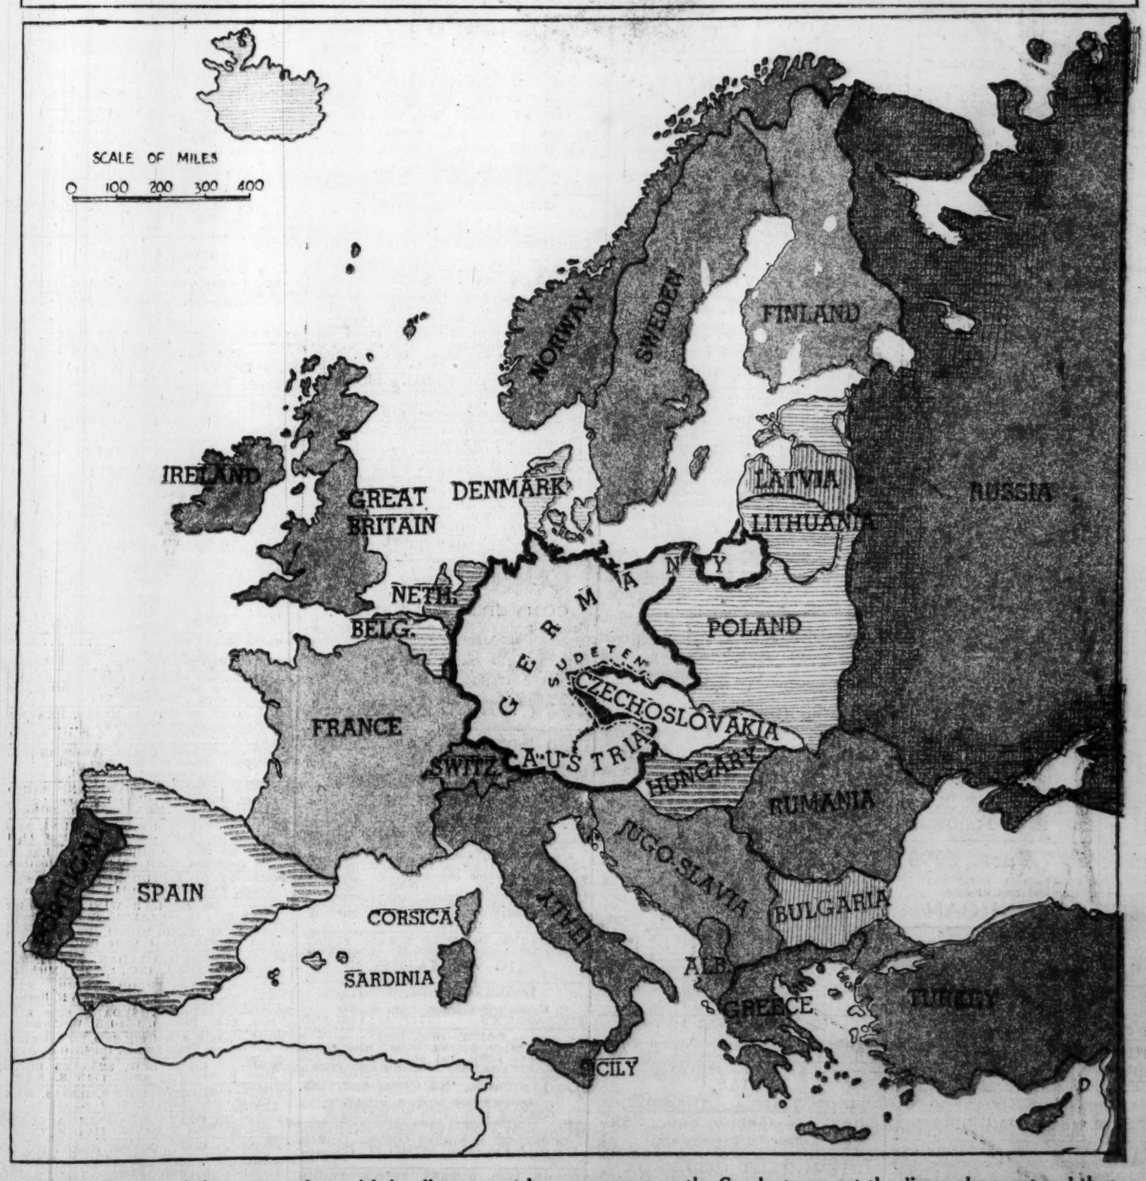


Each stage in the career of Napoleon was marked by some change in the map of Europe. This map shows only the final stage, representing the Napoleonic empire at its height when, after Austerlitz and Jena, Austria and Prussia had been brought to their knees and almost all the rest of Europe was in alliance with or dependent upon the emperor. Napoleon's acquisitions included the whole European coast on the North sea, a large part of Italy and the Adriatic coast, the latter in order to cut off Austria from contact with the sea and her former English allies. Note on the map how the confederation of the Rhine simplified the political geography of Germany. Meanwhile Russia had been expanding. During the time of Napoleon Russia was able to keep all she had annexed from Sweden, Poland, and Turkey and added Finland. In Poland, where the Grand Duchy of Warsaw was formed, there had been a growth of nationalist sentiment.

III. IN 1914 BEFORE START OF THE WORLD WAR

Europe's boundaries as they were before 1914 when the world war started. The boundaries as they stood in 1914 were the culmination of the many events which followed the congress of Berlin in 1878. The Berlin congress, under the presidency of Prince Bismarck, revised the treaty of San Stefano according to the wishes of Austria and Great Britain. The 19th century changes were mainly due to movements for national unity and independence. Greece and Belgium were established as independent countries in 1830. Italy began taking on its present form in 1859. In Germany, Prussia, after forming a commercial union of states, acquired Schleswig-Holstein, Hanover, and Hesse-Nassau. Prussia defeated Austria in 1866 and the German powers attacked France in 1870 under the leadership of Prussia. This period was also marked by the full incorporation in the Russian empire of Poland and Finland.

IV. IN 1938 AS GERMANY GRABS MORE TERRITORY



This is Europe of the present day, with its dictators and vast armed forces ready once more to remake boundaries as the spoils of war dictate. The republic of Czechoslovakia, created after the world war, holds the spotlight. The country is about to surrender its Sudeten German area to Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany. The area contains about 3,500,000 people, mostly Germans, and lies along the western mountainous edge of the country. Great Britain and France had applied pressure on the Czechs to accept the dismemberment and thus avoid another general European conflict. Previously France with Russia, had said that she would not permit such territorial seizures. Hitler already had annexed Austria without starting a war. Since the last war Europe has seen the rise of Hitler in Germany and Mussolini in Italy to places of supreme command over their people.
